

SOLONS SEEK TO SPEED BILL

Challenge of Senate Authority Sidetracked by Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—A movement in the house to challenge the senate's right to initiate the export debenture proposal on the ground that it constituted tariff legislation was met with a request by Republican senate leaders today that this challenge be laid aside, since they considered it might cause a prolonged delay in the enactment of a farm relief bill.

The fear was expressed by administration leaders that farm legislation would be hindered should the two branches of congress become entangled in the constitutional question involved. Only the house can initiate revenue proposals. An agreement was sought by which the difficulty could be decided by the senate and house conference committee which ultimately must reconcile differences between the farm bills passed by the two branches.

Leaders Decide To Consider Measure

House Republican leaders had shown a disposition to refuse to accept the senate measure on its being sent over for adjustment of differences, but tonight it was indicated the house will receive the bill after adopting a resolution declaring its action was not to be considered as setting a precedent.

In an effort to prevent a serious difference between the two branches of congress, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, conferred with Speaker Longworth and Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the house Republican leader.

Watson urged that the house lay aside the constitutional point and an agreement is looked for.

Robinson Defends Rights Of Senate

A prediction in the senate by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, that the house would refuse the senate bill, brought a defense of the senate's right to include the debenture section by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

The Arkansas senator maintained that there was no foundation for the connection that the debenture plan relates to the revenue raising provisions of the constitution, and declaring that "any lawyer who examines the question would assert the propriety of the senate's action."

He said house leaders were insistent that that branch of congress will not adjourn until the debenture plan has been voted upon and the whole congress has expressed its will.

Fruits, Vegetables May Be Eliminated

While negotiation were going on among the house and senate leaders the attention of the senate itself was drawn to the proposal of Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, to eliminate fruits and vegetables from the operation of the farm bill. A vote is expected on his amendment tomorrow and probably be followed by a final vote on the farm measure.

A sharp division arose over the Copeland amendment, with those supporting it contending that fruit and vegetable growers did not approve of the farm bill and declared that producers of these commodities desired the option offered in the bill to come under its provisions if they so desired.

Opposition Develops To Copeland Proposal Among those who opposed the Copeland proposal were senators Johnson and Shortridge of California, Fletcher of Florida, George of Georgia, Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Borah of Idaho. Senators advocating its adoption in addition to Senator Copeland, included Senators Dill of Washington, who said he was especially desirous of excluding apples and pears, and Reed of Pennsylvania, who asserted that the dairy products industry also wished to be exempted.

A bulk of amendments are pending after the Copeland proposal is disposed of but Senator McNary of Oregon, who has charge of the farm bill hopes to dispose of them tomorrow or at the latest by Monday night.

New Radio Broadcast Is Refused

Tentative plans to install a radio broadcasting station of low wave length in Salem, were broached here this week by M. C. McDonald and J. L. Kopecke of Eugene. They were reported to have interviewed a number of merchants with a view to obtaining advertising patronage.

On three previous occasions proposals to install broadcasting stations here have been made, but they have been abandoned when the merchants failed to flock to support the ventures.

The Salem Ad club at its Thursday meeting declined to approve the plan and passed a motion requesting the chamber of commerce not to recommend it. The objection was principally to the low wave length feature, which would limit reception to the city and its immediate vicinity.

HIGH CLASS FLOATS TO BE VIEWED HERE

Several floats from Salem in the Marion County Federated clubs parade on Friday, May 24 at 3 p. m. will do honor to the Marion county clubs. These will not compete for the prizes. The parade will be one-half mile long in order not to tire the participants.

Superintendent George Hug of the Salem schools has consented to dismiss the schools at an early hour so students may take part in this big celebration. It is possible that schools throughout the county will follow this lead. The school presenting the best "stunt" will receive a silver loving cup suitably inscribed and if won on two annual occasions will become its personal property.

State Prisoner Free for Few Hours Thursday When Escape Effected in Auto

Charles Grant Williams, who is serving two 10 year terms in the state penitentiary here for assault and robbery committed in Multnomah county, Thursday eluded a guard at the prison annex five miles southeast of Salem, and escaped in a state-owned automobile.

The escape was reported to the main institution and 16 guards, under the supervision of Henry Myers, superintendent, were sent in pursuit of the fugitive. An hour later Williams was sighted in the brush a mile west of the

at the chamber of commerce and Y. M. C. A. buildings where a cordial welcome will greet all visitors. Governor Patterson and state officials will review the parade and the governor will present the trophy to the winner. All schools in the county should take part and become acquainted thus cementing a bond of brotherhood that will build Oregon by Oregonians.

The talent contests will start promptly at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Elsinore theatre May 24. Prof. O. P. Thayer, director of music in the Salem schools, will have charge of the bands which will give a concert at the capital immediately after the parade. The merchants of Salem are cooperating in every way and all the Service clubs are giving fine support. Moving pictures of the entire proceedings will be shown in theatres throughout Oregon and in other states.

Silverton is doing excellent work for this event and Superintendent Goetz and Superintendent Hug are very much interested. A novel feature will be 12 Molalla Buckaroos riding black horses and carrying a banner to advertise their rodeo July 2-3-4.

SALEM MEN IN BAND COMING CONCERT

O. A. C., May 8.—Lawrence Andrews and Raymond Carl, Salem men, are among the 60 musicians of the Oregon State college cadet band that will give its first home concert of the school year at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Corvallis.

A special program commemorating both music week and Mother's day has been arranged by M. E. Woodcock, acting director. It will consist of a variety of classical, popular and sacred numbers and solos by individual members of the band. Admission will be free. As it is Mother's day and there will be many visitors on the campus, those attending are urged by Raymond Coopey, manager, to come early as the hall will probably be crowded. This will be the last concert of the band this year.

THEISSENS OPEN HOME TO FRIENDS

TURNER, May 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Theissen opened their home Monday evening for the friends of their houseguest, Mrs. Rachel Earl, who leaves this week to make her home in Maryland. The affair was in the nature of a farewell and a surprise, about thirty friends called during the evening.

Mrs. Theissen and Mrs. E. C. Bear furnished music and Mrs. E. S. Prather presided in the dining room serving fruit punch and wafers. All joined in wishing Mrs. Earl a pleasant journey.

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains given them any trouble, but that the records show that he was troublesome under a previous administration. Williams previously was confined in the "bull pen" for an infraction of prison rules.

Williams was suspected of being implicated in a burglary in California several years ago, but there is no record to indicate that he ever served a term in another prison. His father lives in Portland.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monosodiumsalicylate of Salicylicacid
