Fess Sends Letter Complaining About Independent G. O. P. Members

"It means ultimately a complete coalition between the democrats and insurgents, and a consequence of the administration's policies. It also means the first break, which is the hardest, and which will be succeeded by many that will not be so difficult, but more disastrous to the administration. It also means that we are in session for all summer, if not all year."

"Senator Borah, the one person responsible for the special session," continued the Ohioan, "refused to go along with the president and supported the de-benture, against which the president had written a letter to the chairman of the committee."

"Senator Nye, another who had sought the president's promise for a special session, went against the president."

"Senator Brookhart, who had done such valiant service for the president in the campaign, early broke away from the president and became his most bitter critic on the floor of the senate."

"Senator Borah said he did not like personal controversies but he thought such action by the party whip demanded a reply. He recalled that for three years he had been an advocate of the export de-benture method of farm relief and had voted for it last year."

"I therefore voted upon it yesterday according to my long-settled convictions. I would not know how to vote otherwise. I am sure that Mr. Hoover did not assume for a moment that by my support I was changing my views upon public questions or surrendering the right to form them. Only a base class of intellectual slaves would entertain or promulgate such an idea."

"There have been questions about which I have differed often since we have both been in public life. There will undoubtedly be questions in the future upon which we shall differ."

The Idaho senator referred to the protective tariff as a benefit to manufacturing interests, and contended de-bentures would be no more of a bounty.

"Mr. Fess," he continued, "has been with impatient pride to devote all kinds of bounty to manufacturing interests but recoils with pseudo-pride from extending the same principle exactly to the producers. If the economic scheme thus indicated must come which will break across party lines, it will be because those who have been recipients of the favor of the government so long are unwilling to extend the same favor to the producers."

Senator Nye asked "who gives and establishes what is to become republicanism?"

There is possibility, too, that the artichoke will in the future be a source of commercial sugar. Levulose is sweeter than sucrose, ordinary sugar, dissolves more readily and for many uses has an advantage over sucrose. The United States bureau of standards has recently developed a process which promises to be practical for commercial purposes by which the levulose crystals can be laid down from the artichoke.

Gramm was arrested this morning by acting District Attorney W. F. Hughes, who last night announced his decision to place the coal dealer under arrest and bring him to trial.

United States Commissioner C. Rodney Gwynn fixed Gramm's bond at $2,000, which was arranged by transferring to the coal dealer the $2,000 bond posted by Michaelson for his appearance here. The bond is returnable at Jacksonville on next Monday, when a grand jury has been summoned.

The warrant under which Gramm was arrested specified that he "had unlawfully concealed and facilitated the transportation and concealment of certain merchandise, to wit: 12 bottles of intoxicating liquors which were found to have been imported into the United States at Key West from Cuba."

Mr. and Mrs. Michaelson left tonight for Washington, and Gramm left at the same time for Chicago.

Matter to Come to Head at Important Conference Here Tonight

(Continued from Page 1.) purchase of the outstanding shares of stock in the company, Taylor said Wednesday. Of the $100,000 of stock authorized in the Eyerly-Inman company, $53,000 has been subscribed to date although no stock has actually been issued pending authority from the state corporation commissioner.

Plans of the organizers of the company call for immediate construction of an airplane factory building, 90x100 feet with an auxiliary 50x50 feet in size where planes will be painted and prepared for use.

Bright Future For Industry Foreseen Taylor foresees a great future for the manufacture and sale of commercial airplanes. The Eyerly monoplane such as built locally and first flown about two months ago quite struck the eye of the men who have examined it, he explained this week in talking to local enthusiasts about the development. This monoplane can be produced locally at a very reasonable price and sold at a sufficient margin to make a suitable profit for the airplane company.

Demand for aircraft now exceeds supply from all factories and Taylor believes, a fertile field of development is assured for the airplane manufacturer who pioneers the field.

Rivalry Not Taken Advantage of, Claim Eyerly pointed out Wednesday that he was not playing Eugene's proffer against any assistance which Salem might give. He declared that business judgment made it seem wise for him to accept the proposal of the Lane county city but inasmuch as his home has been in Salem for years and since his friends are here, he was somewhat reluctant to remove his operations from this territory. On the basis of the friendly interest of Eugene and its enthusiasm over the proposal that an airplane factory be placed there, Eyerly said he was of the opinion that the factory would be taken there.

Arrangements Made For Tonight's Meeting An informal conference was held Wednesday morning with President Sisson of the Salem chamber of commerce and it was there that decision was made for tonight's meeting. Sisson expressed himself at the meeting as assured that airplane development was going to proceed rapidly in the coming years.

One of the hindrances to keeping the Eyerly company here is the fact that the new airport will not be suitable for use until late in the season, said Eyerly, while Eugene's field has been in use for years and even now is being improved by the addition of huge floodlights.

Lack of Interest Here Proves Severe Handicap Summed into one situation, the airplane development of Salem is being seriously menaced by the fact that the Eyerly-Inman company, pioneers in airplane transportation and manufacture here, has received more attention abroad than at home. With an eye toward aviation already developed here. The answer to whether or not they will move depends on Salem.

cordially invited to attend the meeting. James W. Mott, local attorney, is to give the address of the afternoon, special musical numbers also being furnished for the event. R. W. Omart, incoming president of the lodge, is to preside at the affair.

"Quick starting, snappy pickup" — says CONSER, of Medford

Driving a Pontiac coupe, Elder Conser, of Medford, has found that Associated Gasoline gives him the results that he wishes in a motor fuel.

"Quick starting, snappy pickup and 'More Miles to the Gallon' are features that are very evident in this splendid product"— he writes. "I am pleased to state that in my experience with different motor fuels I find Associated Gasoline far superior in quality."

Drive in at the red, green and cream station and fill up with this finer motor fuel. Associated Gasoline is a clean fuel, refined to insure complete combustion and to minimize carbon formation and crankcase dilution.

Associated Gasoline starts easily, responds eagerly to the throttle at all speeds and gives amazingly long mileage.

For fifteen weary months the Elsinore captain, Lewis and Clark, fought their wayward way from the Missouri through a primitive wilderness and along the Columbia River to the then-fabled waters of the West Pacific.

Romantic bits of western history such as this are revealed in the Associated Oil Company radio program, "Roads to Romance."

Listen in each Wednesday evening, 8 to 8:30 p. m., on stations KFO, San Francisco; KGO-Oakland; KFI-Los Angeles; KQW-Portland; KCMO-Seattle; KISQ-Spokane.
