First Conference of Republicans Breaks Up Without Any Result

Considerable Difficulty Is Foreseen in Handling New Measure

WASHINGTON, May 10-(AP) -A conference of house republicans, called to map out a tentative program for consideration of the tariff bill for amendment purposes, broke up after a two hour ses-sion late today without reaching any agreement.

Republican leader Tilson announced that Chairman Snell of the rules committee had submitted a tentative rule upon which no action was taken, calling for the close of general debate May 16 and a final vote by May 23. but that it was likely a few more days would be needed before a vote could be taken.

The majority will meet again at the call of the chairman, Representative Hawley of Oregon, on 24 hours' notice, Tilson said. Special Vote Wanted

On Numerous Articles Although sugar, hides, boots and shoes, cattle, bricks and cement were mentioned by various members as items which should be put to a special vote, Tilson said the tentative rule left blank spaces for such proposed duties to be acted on in this manner and that such rates would have to be decided later.

Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, spokesman for a group of western republicans from ten states, who want the agricultural schedule thrown open for amendment, indicated that he was satisfied to rest his case in the hands of the ways and means committee in view of the sentiment which, he said, had been manifested in favor of certain changes since the bill came out. Several Conferences

May Prove Necessary Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee said it may require two or three conferences to agree upon a rule.

The tentative rule proposed would call for close of general debate on the bill next Thursday with a final vote set for May 23. Tilson said these dates were only tentative, however, and it was believed a vote would not be reached for several days beyond May 23. The rule adopted in 1922, pro-would have precedence over all others and that they could be pro-
