First Conference of Republicans Breaks Up Without Any Result

This, as well as other republican tariff rules, were said by Snell, Tilson said, so "one would be misled that we were trying to get the membership."

No Hard Feelings Are Expressed

"There was some lively discussion of some of the items in the bill," Tilson said, "but there was no indication of bitterness of hard feelings."

Sugar, hides, boots and shoes, cattle, lumber, brick and cement were among the commodities suggested to be put to a vote, he said, while one member whom he did not name requested that the whole bill be thrown open to amendment.

Representative Dickinson of Iowa, one of the farm group leaders, indicated he was satisfied to rest his case in the hands of the ways and means committee, in view of the sentiment which he said had been manifested in favor of certain changes since the bill came out.

The Iowa member who headed a few state movement in favor of changing some of the agricultural rates, said he was uncertain whether another conference would be held of members participating in the movement.

Dickinson proposed at the meeting today that the usual course followed by the ways and means committee in meeting and reporting on the amendments they intended to bring in be followed this year. There is a feeling among some republicans on the committee and other republicans in the east, particularly from New York, that agricultural sections might be treated a little more liberally, and the indications are that the westerners will propose their amendments through the committee.

Mrs. LaVerne Lapham coached the dances. Doris Ross and Mildred Abbott supported by the orchestra were the accompanists for the production.

All-in-all H. M. S. Pinafore was one of the best productions so far in music week.

Going on at the same time with the high school opera was an excellent program at the Y. M. C. A. This was the regular Friday night program but those appearing on it made it outstanding in honor of music week. Those appearing on this program were the "Harmony Trio," Iva Claire Love, violinist, Ruth Bedford piano, Ida Mathews, cello, and an additional performer, Ronald Craven, tenor. These people, always popular with Salem audiences, were exceptionally well received in this music week program.

BUDDY ROGERS IS BIG HIT ON SCREEN

Versatile Orchestra Leader Comes to Elsinore for Presentation

With blaring trumpets and moaning saxophones, not to mention resounding drums and lamenting trombones as his media of expression, Charles (Buddy) Rogers "jazzed-tuned" his way across the audible silver screen at the Elsinore theatre Friday for his first sound appearance as a versatile orchestra leader.

"Close Harmony" is a play of back-stage life, and Rogers as the leading male character, plays a role for which he seems splendidly fitted. Doubtless his earlier training as a player in the student orchestra at Kansas University had something to do with the capable musicianship of this amazing young actor.

Nancy Carroll, who was last seen with Rogers in "Able's Irish Rose" was gorgeous as the leading woman, playing the part of a song and dance headliner in a big cinema palace where Buddy and his band were given a try out. Miss Carroll demonstrated the singing and dancing prowess that first made her famous on the New York stage she entered the "Flickers."

MOTORIST, TRYING TO PASS, COLLIDES

DALLAS, May 10.—When C. Paul Irvine put out his hand to turn into the golf links on the Corvallis-Monmouth highway he was surprised to find his car hit from the rear and hurled into the ditch by a car driven by John P. Schutt of Bremerton, Washington.

Mr. Schutt said that he saw the signal but because of faulty breaks he was unable to stop his car in time to avoid the crash. State Traffic officer Williams, who came along shortly after the accident attributed it to too much speed and faulty breaks. Mr. Irvine was driving a new Chevrolet coupe.

AIRPORT GROUP TO ASK LEAVE

Meeting Held Friday Night With Chamber of Commerce Men

Fred C. Taylor, also associated with the aviation company, said $10,000 would be needed for purchasing materials and $10,000 for machinery in addition to the $10,000 which the factory building will cost and whatever a site may cost.

Responsibility For Eugene Interest Taken

He added that he personally was responsible for the interest which Eugene business men have taken in the proposal to establish the factory there, and that Eugene was not trying to "pirate" Salem's industry.

Lee Inman, who has been associated with Eyerly for some time, explained that the cost of machinery for the factory would not be great, as nearly all of the work is hand work.

All of the air transport company representatives said they preferred to remain in Salem, because of the tentative agreement with the airport committee for an arrangement whereby Mr. Eyerly would operate the airport for the city, on condition that he be allowed to use it for his school and other activities.

Watson Townsend, chairman of the airport committee, said that group was ready to do anything in its power to assist the airplane factory program, and declared his belief that the chamber of commerce and business men of Salem should take steps to prevent it from slipping away from this city. Brader C. Small and Fred Erickson of the airport committee indicated a similar attitude.
