SOUTH HONORS CIVIL WAR DEAD

On April 26, the thinning ranks of the gray-clad veterans who en listed as boys in the Confederate army gathered throughout the south to pay tribute to their dead, just as the "boys in blue," whom they fought, commemorate their losses on May 30. Above, a group of aging veterans gather about the grave of a comrade who lost his life in the Civil war, and inset, Gen. Albert T. Goodwyn, former commander of the army of Tennessee, who is commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

Grant

The week brought us two pupils in fourth grade, Janet and Kathryn Anderson from Astoria, and removed Elizabeth Whitlinton from first grade to the state of Montana.

Miss Ellen Currin, teacher of the 1A and 2B class, had the misfortune to lose her wrist watch on May day. Whether on Olinger field or elsewhere she does not know.

Donald Woods met with a painful accident at home last week end when a swing board struck him on the head with such force that his scalp was cut so that several stitches were necessary to begin the repair process. He has been in school all but one-half day.

After four weeks' absence, Mrs. Simms, teacher in the ungraded room, is sufficiently recovered to anticipate taking up the work next week.

The baseball team has played four games this week, one on our schedule, with Richmond which we lost. Practice games with Englewood, Highland and Garfield were played and were winners in the first two but lost to Garfield on Friday.

Miss Westhoff's pupils have utilized a table in their room to display specimens of their hand work done outside of school. It contains a variety of articles from fancy work and darning to a horse harness to a clodmasher, several airplanes and a miniature steam shovel on derrick minus steam.

Better music week made some pleasant variations in the music periods two days this week and was further observed on Friday afternoon with an assembly at which Mrs. Martin Ferrey, accompanied by Mrs. Breckenridge, sang two appropriate numbers, and a group of students from Leslie Junior high under the direction of Miss Gretchen Kreamer, sang several numbers from the opera-etta given the evening before. One violin selection by a young man student was also a part of the work presented.

Englewood

Two ball games of the schedule have been played. May 8 was Englewood vs. Highland at Highland with a score of 17 to 4 in Englewood's favor. May 9, the game was Garfield vs. Englewood at Englewood with a score of 19 to 4 in favor of Garfield. May 10, Washington will play Englewood at Englewood. Following is the lineup:

EDWARD BRIGHAM COMING TONIGHT

Noted Singer to Give Recital at First Congregational Church at 8 o'clock

Edward Brigham, basso-profundo, dramatic reader and pianist, will appear in a song and dramatic recital at the First Congregational church this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The program which Mr. Brigham has prepared for tonight includes:

"Fading, Still Fading," Portuguese Melody.

"Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight," Lowrey.

"Come Unto Me," Lindsey, "My Task," Ashford.

"The Young King," by Wilda, a recitation.

"The Holy City," Adams.

Press comments on Mr. Brigham's appearance elsewhere are most favorable and church-goers and townspeople are declared to have a real treat in store for them when they attend the program here this evening.

The Santa Fe New Mexican said following his appearance there:

Mr. Brigham has been widely advertised as a basso-profundo of extraordinary ability, and he fully justified the advertising. Not in recent years have the people of Santa Fe had the privilege of listening to a singer of Mr. Brigham's ability, culture and power. The depth and purity of his voice were little short of marvelous, the lower bass notes especially being produced with a clearness and power. The depth and purity of his voice were little short of marvelous, the lower bass notes especially being produced with a clearness and power almost beyond belief.

Plan Observance Children's Day

The Castle United Brethren church will observe Children's Day next Sunday evening, May 26. The mid-week prayer service and bible study will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock and the Sunday school council will meet at 8:30 o'clock that same night.

Is prayer a kind of "contract of exchange" with God, or is it something finer and based on greater experiences? This subject will be discussed by Rev. Martin Ferrey of the Unitarian church.

GOVERNOR REVOKES NEMATODE CONTROL

Governor Patterson Saturday issued a proclamation revoking previous orders establishing nematode control areas in parts of Washington, Yamhill and Clackamas counties. The proclamation was requested by the state board of horticulture, of which C. A. Park of Salem is president.

In lieu of the protection afforded by the control areas the board of horticulture has issued a new order providing for quarantine precautions affecting clover seed and strawberry plants. Under this order all clover seed or strawberry plants moved or offered for sale within the state of Oregon shall be accompanied by a shipping permit signed by the proper official of the state board of horticulture stating that the seed or strawberry plants contained in the shipment have been cleared in a manner approved by the board. Any shipment of clover seed or strawberry plants not accompanied by the proper shipping permit will be destroyed upon reaching its destination.

ALVAN F. WALLER, Methodist minister, was a man to whom this whole section owes a great deal.

It is said of his that he built in Oregon City, the first Protestant church west of the Rockies. He hauled the rocks for the foundation of the first church erected in Salem, and it was while working on the second church that he contracted the cold which later resulted in his death, in 1873.
