DEBATE FINALS SLATED TODAY

Over-Emphasis Upon College Education Is Question to be Argued

Final matches in the interclass debate series at the senior high school will occur today when the sophomore negative meets the senior affirmative this morning and the junior negative and the sophomore affirmative clash this afternoon.

The question used in all interclass debates asserts that too many young people are receiving college education and is declared by Norborne Berkeley, debate coach, to be an excellent question for the high school students as it has actually made students give serious consideration to one of the big educational problems of the day.

The sophomore negative team is composed of Eldon Olson and Eleanor Hendricks; the senior affirmative of Harold Pruitt and Siviter Horn; and the junior negative of Doris Ross and Richard Baker. In the contests today the juniors are generally believed to have the edge.

The senior class has failed to win a single debate, losing a 3 to 0 decision to the juniors Wednesday. This debate was not, however, so one-sided as the score would indicate and even the audience dared to boo the decision of the judges: Yvonne Corneli, Esther Lisle and Harold Thayer, all Willamette university students. Edith May Jenks presided at the debate.

Wilbur Coen Shows Real Court Skill

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—Young Wilbur Coen in defeat displayed the best tennis shown by any American player appearing on the courts in the third day of the international and court championships which saw the advance of Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter and of Helen Wills and Edith Cross into the quarter-finals in men's and women's doubles respectively.

Coen's winter sport on the French Riviera and in Italy apparently has had an exactly opposite effect to that which it generally has on other star players as he showed tremendous improvement since his appearance last year in these same championships.

The Kansas City boy's tennis in the set which he and Edouard Borotra, younger brother of the "bouncing Basque" of France, managed to take from Tilden and Hunter was of real championship calibre. Many observers here believe that Coen in a year or two may be depended upon to give a good account of himself in American Davis cup team matches.

Big Bill and his partner finally won from the youngsters by scores of 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, but only after they had been forced to play their playful policy of centering their fire upon Coen. His slashing returns passed the veterans cleanly several times and enabled the younger players to take the set.

CANBY PETITION TURNED DOWN

Marion County Pupils Not to be Allowed to go There to School

Petition of the union high school district No. 1 of Clackamas county at Canby for permission to transport Marion county pupils to the school at Canby was refused by the district boundary board, in session Wednesday morning, on the ground that the territory in question had already been allotted Woodburn. Denial of the petition was also made because records compiled at the office of the state superintendent, show the cost of transportation would be higher at the Canby school than at Woodburn.

The board also approved petitions filed by Illahee and Sunnyside districts for consolidation of the two and sent out notices authorizing these districts to call an election for that purpose, June 3. The boundary board will meet at 2 o'clock June 4, to canvass the vote of this election.

Petitions from Champcoq, St. Paul and Raybell for a change of boundaries in the recently consolidated Raybell-Champcoq district, were read and hearing on them will also occur at the meeting June 4.

Mr. Gates stressed the value of tourist travel in Oregon, and urged courtesy on the part of the officers.

It was brought out at the meeting that under a new law enacted by the 1929 legislature, all state traffic officers will operate under one head. Prior to the enactment of this law part of the traffic operations were paid by the state highway department. The entire traffic crew now operates under the secretary of state, with T. A.
