NEW ATTEMPT MADE TO SAVE PARIS CONFAB

Calculations Are Started By Experts Preparatory to More Negotiations

Divergent Opinions Between German and Allied Delegates Yet Held

PARIS, May 27.—(AP)—Technicians worked through the night on computations that the experts on the reparations conference tomorrow may use them to give new life to the negotiations.

Owen D. Young and his staff today gave new vigor to the committee, which was considered moribund at the end of last week, by examining with other experts a new possibility of a way out of the deadlock between the Germans and the allies.

The operation most favored takes the form of new calculations as to what the annuities originally proposed by Mr. Young would yield if they began at other dates than April 1, 1929, which was the basis for the original calculations.

The creditor experts still insist that payments under the Dawes plan ought to continue at least until the end of this year.

PROSPECTIVE STORE NOT TO BE ALLOWED

Planning and Zoning Commission Votes to Reject Application

Unfavorable recommendation was voted by the city planning and zoning commission Monday night on the application of T. W. Campbell for a change of zone which would permit him to operate a store on North 24th street near the state hospital grounds.

The commission authorized appointment of a committee to re-draft the ordinance designed to permit high street property owners to install an ornamental lighting system.

The commission will send a notice to persons who have stored wood on the block bounded by 13th, 13th, York and Washington streets, that this use of the property is contrary to the zoning ordinance.

Prices of Wheat Sag Below Dollar Mark; Stocks Tumble As Credit Outlook Tightens

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—A bad smash in Chicago wheat futures, which carried the May option below $1 a bushel for the first time in 15 years, coupled with the growing pessimism over the credit outlook, were held responsible for another violent decline in securities prices today on the New York stock exchange.

Seventy-five stocks dropped $5 a share, or more, a few of the high price specialties falling $12 to $32 while the general level of bond prices sank to the lowest point in years.

Measured by the Associated Press indices of 50 leading industrial and 20 leading rails, the reaction was not quite as severe as last Wednesday's but it brought the industrial average down to a new 1929 low.

Federal Supreme Court Decision Is To Affect Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—(AP)—B. Smith, an official of the Greater Oregon association, and a member of the legislative committee which drafted the Oregon Excise tax, said tonight the United States supreme court decision in the Massachusetts excise tax case affects tax legislation in Washington, California and Oregon.

The supreme court ruled today that states were prohibited from requiring corporations and others to pay annual excise or franchise taxes for the privilege of doing business.

Smith, who with others, is sponsoring the invoking of the referendum of the legislative act, said the point involved in the case is whether the revenue from tax exempt securities can be included and taxed under the excise law as part of the net profits of a bank.

Prices Open Far Below Year's Peak Prices
Much of the early selling originated in the middle west and probably represented liquidation by speculators to protect margins in grain, but as the session progressed and prices drifted steadily lower with no signs of a rally, hundreds of impaired marginal accounts were sold out and a powerful short interest built up.

At their closing prices today, many of the popular industrials and rails were selling $25 to $75 a share below the year's high levels, while a few high priced specialties were down $100 to $200 a share under the year's peaks.

SENATE MAKES VAIN ATTEMPT TO TRACE LEAK

Rules Committee Defied By Newspaper Correspondent at Hearing

Paul Mallon Says He Won't Tell Source of Much Talked Roll Call

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The senate rules committee sought vainly today to find the source of the information of the published roll call purporting to show the vote on confirmation of Irvine Lenroot as a federal judge and then called a meeting for tomorrow to consider the many proposals for open sessions during consideration of executive nominations by the senate.

Paul Mallon, a reporter for the United Press, who was one of the newspapermen publishing the purported Lenroot roll call, declined under questioning to disclose the source of his information on which the roll call was based.

Chairman Moses called an executive session after the brief examination of Mallon. There was no indication that the committee would call other newspapermen or that any action was in contemplation against Mallon for his refusal to answer some of the committee's questions.

Put under oath, Mallon replied "I must respectfully decline to answer" after being asked on what information he had based his purported roll call.

NEWSPAPERS OUTWITTED BY FAMOUS FLYER AND BRIDE; WEDDING ARRANGED AS SUDDEN SURPRISE TO WAITING PUBLIC

INGLEWOOD, N. J., May 27.—(AP)—Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight Morrow, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh were married at the bride's home this afternoon.

The ceremony, witnessed by only a few friends and the immediate family, was performed by the Rev. William Adams Brown of Union Theological seminary, New York City.

Immediately afterward Ambassador Morrow left for Washington. The honeymoon plans of the couple were kept secret.

The complete informality of the wedding was attested by the fact that before it took place Col. Lindbergh went into the garden of the Morrow home, picked a bouquet of blue larkspur and white columbine and handed them to his fiancée to carry at the ceremony.

The colonel wore the same dark blue suit in which he had appeared on all of his visits to Englewood.

But Five Persons Witness Ceremony
Shortly after the bride and groom left the Morrow home, picked a bouquet of blue larkspur and white columbine and handed them to his fiancée to carry at the ceremony.

News of the wedding came as a complete surprise. No advance announcement of the date had been made, although there had been many newspaper guesses, most of which had favored mid-June. It was all the more surprising since very large newspaper articles on the wedding and some considerable distances away have beset the Morrow estate since the family first moved there this month and have followed them to the Maine summer camp and back.

In addition many news picture agencies have kept photographers in close proximity for weeks.

Lindbergh's Outlets Endure Army of Reporters
Apparently the "Lone Eagle" dodged all the best efforts of this army of observers for from no source during the day came anything indicating that he had arrived.

ENFORCEMENT GROUP MEETS WITH HOOVER

Commission Will Organize Today to Examine Law Status in U. S.

Long and Diligent Investigation Scheduled for Official Body

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission were gathered here tonight for the first and organization meeting to be held tomorrow in the cabinet room at the executive office.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the commission, who has been a guest at the white house since Sunday, will preside and the expectation is that each of the other ten members will be present for the first discussion of procedure during the afternoon.

The president will have the ten men and one woman as luncheon guests at the white house and is expected to meet with them later in the cabinet chamber to express his views as to the scope of the work that is to be undertaken.

Lawlessness Regarded As Serious Problem
Mr. Hoover has said he regards the problem of lawlessness in the United States as the foremost problem before his administration. Among his ideas of how it is to be met is one for reorganization of the judicial and law enforcement machinery, a gigantic task within itself and the one which will require months of investigating and study.

This particular phase of the commission's work is likely to be submerged in the popular interest, at least, by the inquiry which will be made in prohibition law enforcement and the recommendations which the commission is expected to make as a result of its study of this highly controversial question.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT TO RETIRE IN JUNE

Friends Confirm Rumor That She Will Leave Prohibition Enforcement

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, the first woman to be appointed to a high government office, soon is expected to retire as assistant attorney general in charge of the prosecution of prohibition, narcotic, internal revenue and customs law violations.

While her resignation has not yet been formally accepted, friends of Mrs. Willebrandt said today she probably would leave the justice department next month to return to private law practice. For some time she has had under consideration important offers from several large law firms.

Plans to Practice Law in East
Mrs. Willebrandt is enroute to Waco, Texas, to accept a degree from Baylor university, and the expectation is that she will formally tender her resignation after her return and take up law practice in the east, although her home is in California.

Friends of Mrs. Willebrandt, who frequently has held the spotlight of publicity both in connection with prohibition cases and politics, said she had wanted to retire at the end of the Coolidge administration, but had consented to continue in office because of the rather large number of changes in the high personnel of the department of justice which had to be made after the change of administration.

Since last March 4 general but wholly unconfirmed reports have been that Mrs. Willebrandt was not wholly satisfied with her own situation in the department.

Mrs. Willebrandt was one of the original supporters of Herbert Hoover for the presidency and was active in both the pre-convention and regular presidential campaigns.

2000 Legion Poppies Are To be Placed on Sale by Auxiliary Groups Today

Two thousand Legion poppies, made by the deft fingers of veterans who are receiving treatment in the new Legion hospital in Portland, will be placed on sale here today by the American Legion auxiliary and every man and woman, boy and girl who buys one for 19 cents will contribute just that amount to the assistance of needy men. One cent for each poppy goes to the veteran who made it but the remainder is used to supply the needs of the soldiers and their families or to provide for added hospitalization.

The Legion auxiliary wants it distinctly understood that all the funds go to the soldiers or their families, said Mrs. C. T. Moffitt, Monday in explaining the purpose of the campaign. "The local Legion auxiliary does not receive a single cent from the sale. We expect to remit the entire $200 to Portland when the sale is completed and that must be in the next two days, May 28 and 29."
