favor of the course he indicated. Ramsey Macdonald To Be Asked To Take Charge

When Mr. Baldwin sees the king tomorrow, it is expected that he will advise his majesty to summon Ramsey Macdonald, premier of the first labor government in 1924, to form a new ministry. With 287 seats out of 615 in the house on commons, Mr. Macdonald commands the strongest single party in the house, though he is 21 votes short of a majority over all other parties.

Mr. Macdonald is fully ready to accept the task of governing. He will find it much easier than he found it five years ago. The nine months during which labor held power in 1924 gave him and his colleagues much needed experience in administrative affairs. This time the labor party leaders will not come into office as complete novices.

Mr. Macdonald has ample material in his party to fill all the cabinet posts, and in this respect he will be much less embarrassed than in the formation of his first cabinet.

TULLY PLEADS FOR BETTER EDUCATION

Education Declared Of Vast Importance of assimilation of new experiences, facts, and truths; and efficiency, the power to gear knowledge to life.

Using the illustration of lifting the world by a jack-screw with everyone helping, Dr. Tully went on to explain that the way to help in lifting the world is through education. "However," said the speaker, "if you ever have to choose between education and a good heart, choose the good heart, for the educated criminal is of more harm than the ignorant man."

Dr. Tully stated as his belief that organized education is inclined to be too cynical and mechanical and gave as his parting bit of encouragement and advice to the graduating class and women that men cannot live without faith in God.

More than 200 members of a class of 277 attended the services, the largest percentage for a number of years. A large body of the faculty attended.

moderate paper mill workers who are on the job until 11 o'clock.

Mr. Billingsley also asserted positively that the company would not ask for an increase in rates, feeling that to do so would merely reduce its patronage.

Mrs. F. A. English, another North Salem resident, interposed an objection to the 8 o'clock commencement of service on Sunday mornings, and urged the council to study the matter further before making a decision.

Other ordinances passed included one authorizing purchase of three tracts of land for the airport; one from the state for $7,200, one from Thomas W. Holman for $10,000, and one from J. R. Linn for $5,508. Another authorized the sale of $100,000 worth of sewer bonds, and two more accepted easements from Joseph M. Rocque and H. Pohle for easements in connection with the Liberty street fill.

Twelfth and State Put In New Zone

A change of zone was voted at Twelfth and State streets, from zone two to zone three special. The fire zone ordinance was amended to correct a previous error, the new amendment placing the east limit of the fire zone at Church street instead of 14th. The traffic ordinance was amended to extend the one hour parking limit to Liberty street between Ferry and Trade.

when Mrs. Richter was a young woman of 20 years. For these services she is entitled to $23,000. Evidence introduced Monday tended to show that Stelger had promised his entire estate to Mrs. Richter—then Ruby Brennan—upon his death although a will was never found under which she was to inherit any property.

Efforts to postpone the case which went on trial Monday were made by counsel for the defense who alleged that Mrs. L. E. Bridges, wife of T. W. Stelger, is ill at Eugene and unable to attend the trial. Judge Kelley overruled the motion of the counsel for the defense and set the case for the present term of court.

In the background of the case stands action against Mrs. Bridges taken in 1920 when the woman was then Mrs. Stelger. She was tried with Jason Mullin on the charge of attempting to take the life of her husband and both she

Mrs. Richter brought claim in the court of equity here in 1926 for her share in the estate, setting forth Stelger's promises to her as a basis for inheritance but the supreme court ruled against Mrs. Richter after Judge McMahan had found in her behalf.

DADS SEEK EARLY ACTION ON CINDERS

Would cost $25,000 and operation Gerlinger's invention will be much more economical, he asserted.

Because of the unfavorable differential in taxes and other costs against the local mill as compared to others in the northwest, it cannot afford to spend any more money than is necessary for cinder abatement.

Mr. Patton pointed out that the cinder ordinance had been in effect for nearly six years, and said he believed the paper company had been given ample time to remedy the condition; he also declared the costs quoted by Mr. Keyes were inflated. The action of the Spaulding Logging company in changing to electrical operation, was commended by Mr. Patton. He reported that the change would be effected within two or three weeks.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN IRELAND IS GREAT

While northern Ireland is primarily a manufacturing country and southern Ireland—the Irish Free state—an agricultural country—there are nevertheless 127,000 farms in the northern section, Brooks said. Of these farms 90,000 are under 30 acres in size and only 1370 exceed 100 acres.

The long-established system of absentee ownership is gradually being broken down, said Brooks.

No Chance Seen That Voters Will Pass on Excise Tax at Special Election

Although an extensive solicitation for signatures to the referendum petitions was carried on in Portland, and to a lesser extent in Astoria, the identity of the interests behind the movement was never announced.

The excise tax law is designed largely to tax the income of banks, but the state bankers' association announced that it considered the law just, and was opposed to the referendum. It was reported here recently that the opposition emanated largely from shipping interests.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3. — (AP)—Oregon state officials today joined California, Washington, Utah and New Mexico officials in the move to secure a rehearing of the Massachusetts excise tax case in which the United States supreme court last week handed down a decision affecting the excise law in the five states.

Telegrams were sent Massachusetts officials asking that they petition for a rehearing.

The United States supreme court decision stated that revenue from tax exempt securities of the government, state, county and municipalities cannot be levied under the excise tax.

Governor Patterson, Oregon, declared it would cost the state more than $200,000 annually. Governor Young, California, according to information received at the statehouse here, estimated the decision will cost California between one and two million dollars.
