

WHEAT PRICES CONTINUE LOW

Attempted Rally Meets But Little Success in Local Markets

Wheat prices still continue low despite an apparent effort to climb the hill again. Thursday's quotations were 94 cents on white and 91 cents on the red, the highest in the last two weeks with the exception of the 95 cents Wednesday. The speculators are largely controlling the market now, as there is little wheat in the hands of the farmers. The present condition is attributed by local millers to be due to the recent governmental announcements on farm relief and the proposed hundred million dollar expenditure. Speculators who are buying cheap wheat now will make a big thing should the contemplated government action come about, and until such a move is made, it is to be expected the situation will be controlled largely through the big holders.

Rains of the early part of the week make the local wheat situation look most encouraging although there is little tendency to become too optimistic over the crop.

Corn locally has remained at an even price despite big drops in the Chicago and Portland markets. The drops, however, have been quickly offset by uptrends.

Farmers who cut part of the hay stand late last week expecting to get in on the high price now prevailing, didn't play so well, with the rain's failure to play a counter hand. Few warehouse men care to purchase the rain soaked cut, with the result that there has been little buying or selling so far. Cutting will get under way on a larger order shortly, but farmers will be pretty sure of the weather this time.

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine aspirin, so look for the Bayer cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.
