

Prohibition Enforcement Again Causes Outbursts Among U. S. Congressmen

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Prohibition outbursts reverberated again today in the legislative and executive branches of the government, attention being devoted chiefly to the Hoover law enforcement commission and a shooting by dry officers.

Wets and dries of both parties clashed in senate debate to provide a high point in the recently prevalent controversy over use of weapons in enforcing the Volstead act. The closing day of the session was featured by charges of Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, that the administration was "submerging prohibition in the law enforcement inquiry."

The Virginia quoted from President Hoover's New York speech declaring prohibition was a "segment" of the task.

Senator Jones, republican, Washington, another dry, rushed to the president's defense, asserting that while he "may not have said to his law enforcement commission what I would have said, nevertheless he has twice before given his prohibition views and we must give him more time and opportunities before we can believe he has forsaken the principles he announced."

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, a wet, denounced shootings by prohibition agents and deplored the "fanatical attitude" toward dry enforcement which he contended was undoing the law.

Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, an ardent dry, replied it was time to "stop all this gush about murders and force senators to help enforce the law."

He declared "the senator from New York could make a louder speech about the 53 dry agents who have been murdered, saying most of the killings by dry agents were 'accidents and some of those who were killed ought to have been killed.'"

Senator Glass is the author of the $250,000 fund under which the president's law enforcement commission is operating. He said it was the prime purpose of that appropriation to authorize a prohibition inquiry and contended Mr. Hoover had shifted from a discussion of prohibition in the campaign to talk about general law enforcement since then.

"I am citing these facts," he declared, "to show how completely this major problem has been ignored and submerged. I will not say its purpose is to shift the responsibility for the determination of a perplexing problem, but at least, that will be the inevitable result."

The prohibition furor in the senate was stirred up by consideration of the Jones resolution to carry out President Hoover's recommendation for a congressional study of reorganizing the prohibition agencies under the department of justice.

Local Boys Take Part in Relay; 20 Men on Team

CAMP CLATSOP, June 19.—(Special)—Company B of Salem will be represented in the National Guard 20 mile relay race from Astoria to Seaside by Sills, Trick and Schomp. Teams will represent the 162nd and 186th regiments.

Each man will run a mile, 20 men being on each team. Medals will be presented to each member of the winning team. The race will be run this weekend.

Assistant Secretary Lowman in charge of prohibition enforcement, also came in for attention in the day's turmoil. He ushered from his office Louis Jacques, who recently resigned as customs border patrolman at Detroit and who was quoted in the house by Representative Clancy, republican, Michigan, as having said he was told to shut up in connection with a recent killing there by a prohibition officer.

Lowman declared "I wouldn't consult with a man like that," as he showed Jacques and a Detroit newspaperman, who accompanied him, to the door.

WOODBURN SCHOOL BOARD UNCHANGED

WOODBURN, June 19.—No changes were made in the present school board in the annual election at Woodburn Monday.

Dr. Sanderson was re-elected director for a term of three years by a vote of 70 to 67. His only opponent was L. E. Thompson. F. G. Havemann was re-elected clerk for one year. The board authorized a school meeting to furnish transportation for outside districts without high schools as provided by the new law which states the transportation costs for non-high school districts will be returned to the district through the county high school tuition fees.

There were no scores in the first inning but in the last half of the second Woodburn knocked a two-bagger, bringing in two runs. In the third they brought in three singles and Stavitz pepped up with a single in the fourth. Stavitz brought in two more in the sixth and Woodburn managed to pull in a couple between referee and umpire riots in the seventh. Both teams played good ball the next two innings without a score for either.

Batteries for Woodburn were DeGuire and Vestel, for Stayton, Asby and Bradley.

Woodburn Beats Stayton 7 to 3 In Slow Game

WOODBURN, June 19.—Woodburn defeated the Stayton baseball team in the Cascade league to a 7 to 3 score Sunday. The game was very slow and the new field at Playmore park was in very poor condition.

There were no scores in the first inning but in the last half of the second Woodburn knocked a two-bagger, bringing in two runs. In the third they brought in three singles and Stavitz pepped up with a single in the fourth. Stavitz brought in two more in the sixth and Woodburn managed to pull in a couple between referee and umpire riots in the seventh. The Army and Navy Goods Store of Salem is NOT going out of business—

We have tried to make this point clear in our recent advertisement—

It was not our store here in Salem, but merchandise that was taken over from the Aberdeen store as stated heretofore that forced us to the inevitable in making terrific sacrifice.

Nevertheless, it is the same old story over and over again—Success is not a path of roses without its thorns—on the contrary many a setback must be suffered in weathering business storms, especially such as we have encountered in this particular instance.

But it goes without saying that the public at all times is eager to respond where values offered prove to be bonafide—A policy this store has never faltered in regardless of losses sustained at times—And we note with pleasure the hundreds of new faces seen in this great bargain store in the last few days and which we feel will more than compensate in the future any deficiencies encountered in the past.
