

BARLOW GRANGE SPONSORS TOUR

Flax Growers Inspect Fields and Study Methods On Wednesday

HUBBARD, June 19—A flax tour sponsored by the Barlow grange started at Barlow at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning under the leadership of George Berg of Barlow, field man for the flax industry. From Barlow the caravan proceeded to Newberg where they were joined by other flax growers. Flax fields in Marion and adjoining counties were inspected.

The object of the tour was to determine under what conditions flax can best be produced and what crop is the best as a follow up crop after flax. Attention was also given to the method of sowing known as the "two way method," a method by which the flax is put in with a grain drill but cross drilled. The Waldo Brown field near Hubbard was visited for this reason since in seeding the flax, it was drilled east and west then north and south, thereby gaining a heavier stand and a finer straw. Dinner was served at the Barlow grange hall by the ladies of the grange.
