The Oregon-Washington league winds up the first half of its season today, with each game carrying a special significance. If Longview beats Montavilla, the Forest Rangers win the first half championship; likewise if Kelso loses to Mt. Scott. If Longview loses and Kelso wins, they are tied, and their next game, the following Sunday.

Here in Salem the championship in reverse is, in a way, at stake, although Longview is also involved in the struggle for cellar honors. Which is saying nothing against any of the three teams, Salem and Albany, at least, right to now are as strong as the leaders. If Longview loses, Salem will escape the cellar even though it loses also.

Albany To Bring Strong Team Here
 Albany has the edge on today's game here, in view of its recently recruited strength and the tight pitching Harris has been doing since he quit wearing himself out with midweek games.

The Senators are in excellent form, however. Three games last week and an extra contest this forenoon are expected to improve their collective batting eye.

The lineup will be the same as last Sunday, with Russell on the mound. His effective work against Mt. Scott last Sunday and against Albany Thursday indicate that his delivery is steadily becoming harder to solve. Since he is still a youngster, pitching on Thursday isn't expected to diminish his effectiveness today.

DOLF FAR AHEAD OF YOUTHFUL OPPONENT

Yankees and Athletics Break Even in Second Doubleheader

MAGNAUGHTON IS FAR BEHIND

Portland Veteran Leads by Ten Up With But 13 Left to Play

SEATTLE, Wash., June 22.—(AP)—Frank Dolf of the Alderwood Country club of Portland, western amateur champion and ex-Oregon state titleholder, won his first Pacific Northwest golf championship today with an overwhelming 17 to 7 over Malcolm MacNaughton, 19-year-old golf star from the Lake Oswego Country club.

The new champion's margin of victory was 11 up and 10 to play, the most one-sided final match in the recent history of Pacific Northwest golf. This was the fifth time Dolf has played in the regional meet, and although he has won numerous other titles in recent years, including the western amateur twice, he has been unable to break through in the tournament here.

Two years ago he was runner-up to Rudie Wilhelm at Victoria, but that was the farthest he was able to get until today.

SEATTLE, June 22.—(AP)—Frank Dolf of Portland led his youthful opponent, Malcolm MacNaughton of the same city, ten up and only 13 holes to play in their 36 hole final match today for the Pacific Northwest Golf association championship. In the women's finals Mrs. Vera Hutchings of Vancouver, B. C., was leading Mrs. S. C. Sweeney one up at the fourth hole.

MacNaughton was able to win only two holes—the sixth and the eight—on the morning round, while Dolf captured eight. On the inward nine, Dolf playing his usual steady game, won the tenth with a birdie four, the 14th in par, the sixteenth with a birdie four and the seventeenth in par to make him seven up.

He dropped one of the holes, however, at the eighteenth when he missed a four foot putt for a half.

The Portland youngster, who had played golf only three and a half years, steadied down a bit on the last nine, but bucked up against two birdies.

Their cards for the last nine were as follows: in par 554 443 534 37.

Dolf 454 443 435 36.
 MacNaughton 554 453 544 39.

After making the turn one down to Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Hutchings squared their match at the eleventh with a par 5 while the defending champion was taking a seven. Mrs. Sweeney came right back to take the next hole and the lead again with a par four. She won the fifteenth with a par 3 but lost the seventeenth in five and Mrs. Sweeney went to lunch with a one hole lead in their 36 hole match.

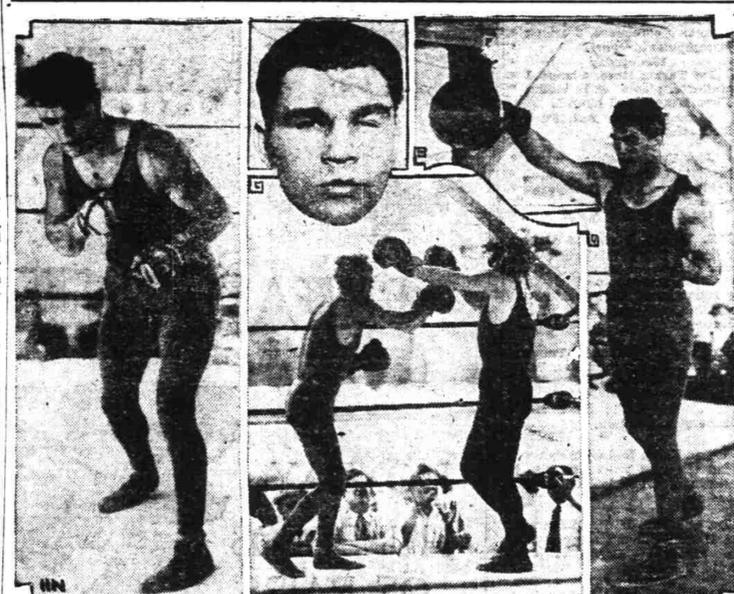

Their scores were: in par 554 443 534 37.
 Mrs. Sweeney 574 543 645 43.
 Mrs. Hutchings 556 545 635 44.

In the two biggest upsets of the tournament MacNaughton disposed of Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, 1928 champion, in the quarter finals Thursday and eliminated the veteran Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., in the semi-finals yesterday.

Apparently suffering from stage fright before the largest gallery to ever witness a golf match in Seattle, the youngster slowly slipped out of the picture under the marvellous machine-like stroke of the "slow but sure" Dolf.

Approximately 3500 persons stormed the Ingleswood course to watch the men and women finalists.

Maxie 'At Home' With All His Trappings

Portland Team Takes Advantage of Numerous Senator Bobbles

Reds Beat Seals
 SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—(AP)—In a great ten inning battle today, the league leading Mission nosed out the Seals, 3-2, to increase their margin of two games over their local rivals who hold the runner-up position. It was a pitchers' duel, with Curtis Davis, rookie right hander for the Seals, opposing Bert Cole, veteran southpaw of the Mission. The Seals scored first with a tally in the third. Davis blanked the Mission until the eighth when two counters came across. The Seals tied it in their half of the eighth. Davis allowed by eight hits but his team mates made three errors behind him. Cole was touched for 11 bingles.

Schmeling Ready To Fight Basque Thursday Evening

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—The hard work or protracted training, a new experience for both parties, all but ended today for Paul Uzcudun, the squat Basque, and Max Schmeling, young German puncher, who battle fifteen rounds next Thursday night in the heavyweight feature of the milk charity card at the Yankee stadium.

The Spaniard, training at Hoose Falls, N. Y., was reported in splendid shape after a month of daily drills. Schmeling, worked away in the lowlands of New Jersey at Lakewood, is so close to fighting trim that little more training is necessary. Paulino will stage his final workout Monday.

Three runs in the ninth, breaking a 2-2 deadlock, gave the Stars the game. Rumber went to second on Dittmar's wild throw and scored on Funk's single to center. Mickey Heath followed with a home run, his fifteenth this season, to clear the sacks.

Local Cop Found To Appear Just Like Pershing
 Nobody had noticed the resemblance between "Cherry" James, veteran Salem policeman, and General Pershing until "Cherry" blossomed out this weekend in a traffic officer's uniform with accessories including a Sam Brown belt and leather puttees. Officers Harry Smart and Charles Kuykendall also appeared in new summer uniforms, minus the military accessories.

Brother officers Sturdy expressed gratification that "Cherry" is now assigned to a prowler car instead of walking a beat, stating that otherwise they feared he would be bothered constantly by feminine admirers.

RECORDS MADE ARCHERY MEET

Three Women Overshoot National Mark at Monmouth Event

MONMOUTH, June 22.—(Special)—Several national records for flight shots were made in the state archery contest held here today. Roland Eddy, Independence high school student made a shot of 306 yards and one foot. This exceeds the record for a boy of his age.

Three women overshoot the national women's flight record of 263 yards. They were Mrs. H. H. Prouty, Portland, who shot 303 yards and two feet; Mrs. L. L. Daily, Monmouth, 285 yards. Mrs. Ed D. Thompson, Corvallis, 273 yards.

Winfield Kennedy of Lyons made the record flight for men, with 363 yards.

The only accident which occurred to mar the event came as Miss Opal Misteidt of Albany over-drew an arrow between the string and bow. The arrow shattered on the bow and the point entered the knuckle of her right forefinger, penetrating the bone.

 THE wagon train that came to Oregon in 1842 had an uneventful trip until it arrived at Independence Rock, a famous landmark at that time.

Here Mr. Hastings and Mr. Lovejoy, both prominent in the party, climbed to the top of this great desert rock, to carve their names among those of others who had passed at an earlier date. When they came down, they found themselves and their horses in the hands of painted and war-like Indians.

SENATORS BEAT PRISON BALL 9

Recruits From Albany Team Help Whip Penitentiary Club by 11 to 8

Capitalizing the wildness of two pitchers in the first two innings, a ball team composed of members of the Salem Senators and Albany Alcos defeated the Oregon state penitentiary tossers 11 to 8 Saturday afternoon on the prison diamond. The visitors represented the Bligh billiard parlors.

Hill, first pitcher for the prison nine, walked three batsmen and hit two, which together with Cloninger's home run and two-bagger by Cardinal and Lansing, spelled seven runs. Carney finished the inning, but in the second he also went wild and three more runs were scored. After that Carney was stingy and blanked the visitors except for one run in the fifth.

Lyle Bigbee, former league outfielder, pitched effectively for the outsiders until the fifth, when he was nicked for five hits including a homer by Witz, and five runs were scored.

Witz got another homer in the seventh off the delivery of "Bird" Edwards, who jerked Bigbee in the course of some uproarious horseplay and went in to finish the game himself.

McAfee Slated To Give Sermon Here This July

Cleland B. McAfee, moderator for the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, will preach in Salem some time in July, Dr. Norman Kendall Tully, pastor of the church here, announced Saturday. Dr. McAfee will be in Oregon the middle of July to be the principal speaker at the annual Synod to be held in Albany, and it is while attending the synod that he will occupy the local pulpit, considered a distinct honor to Salem. He is professor of systematic theology at the Chicago seminary. A church committee headed by C. Kells will arrange for supply pastors during the absence of Dr. Tully, who leaves today for a trip to the Orient.

Curt Comments

By CURTIS

Curtis Davis, lanky Rickreall boy who pitched two games for the Senators last season, has "arrived" in the Coast league. He pitched for the Seals in Saturday's ten inning victory, blanking the Missions for seven innings despite several bobbles behind him. That boy has plenty.

We went out to the penitentiary to watch a combination of Senators and Alcos play the prison team Saturday. We were going to pull that one about being let out again, but it's too old. Jim Lewis counted us both times we went through the gate.

It's dangerous business, playing ball or even sitting on the bench out there. We don't mind the boys; they're nice looking fellows and appreciate having visiting teams come in. But the way foul balls rattle off the brick walls reminded us of a firing squad.

The boys are good sports, too. For instance, if a visiting player hits a fly into the crowd back of the outfielders, you ought to see them scatter so the fielder can get it.

But if the home team hits one out there, just watch the fielders try to get through.

Somebody intimated that the home umpire was in for robbery, but that may have been prejudice.

The admiring fans presented "Frisco" with a beautiful bouquet the first time he came to bat. They like him out there—no fooling. But you should have heard the razzberries while he chased a home run.

The penitentiary has a real ball team, but it suffers from an inferiority complex, when there are so many ex-leaguers in the opposition.

To change the subject, there is a big boom on duck pins at the Winter Garden. Wayne Kantola recently piled up the impressive score of 225, setting a local record which will be hard to pass.

Sam Steinbock and Virgil Stalker will start their big match Thursday night.

Charting the March

of Value in Belcrest Memorial Park

Development is Marching Forward—Values Increasing

Many progressive, forward-looking citizens of Salem are interested in the development of this park cemetery. And they are well pleased with the march of progress, increase of value.

They were impressed with these interesting features—natural beauty, the provision for Perpetual Care (especially attractive), the easy down payment, and the budget for the remainder.

Many are taking advantage of the opportunity offered. You will not regret making an investigation before you make a choice elsewhere—and you may have to choose suddenly, hastily.

An investigation incurs no obligation. Just call 2205 on the telephone. Why delay?
