

Paulino Said to Have Advantage Over Max Schmeling

TRAINING WORK APPEARS DULL

Quin Hall, Sports Writer, Unable to Put Rating on Max's Punch

By QUIN HALL (Special to The Statesman) After all has been said and the experts have folded up their dictionaries on the Milk Fund show to be held at the Yankee Stadium in New York tonight, Paulino will still have a slight edge over Schmeling.

The Basque wood chopper will come into the fight after a conditioning period up in the cow country around Hoosick Falls, N. Y. The German Dempsey will arrive in the ring after being groomed on a horse breeding farm near Lakewood, N. J.

And—on a Milk Fund card—this might give the tondor something in the way of an advantage!

The ring where Schmeling cuts around his sparring partners is pitched in the center of a race track constructed for home use.

Boxing Mates Poor Neither Schmeling or Paulino looked especially impressive in their training grid. The German had a tough time keeping sparring partners on the lot. Whether this can be charged to the caliber of the punching bags or the sharpness of the Schmeling socks remains a moot question. It's a certainty that the German's stable of punch absorbers lacked come in to him as Paulino is likely to do. That, at least, is the way it looked to us, but we've never been mistaken for a smart fight manager, and probably the Schmeling board of strategy knew what it was up to.

Punch Shock Questioned There are a lot of angles to this particular fight. Not much has been found out about the German's ability to take a heavy bombardment and weather the storm. He has a dynamic right but will this be effective against the crouching Basque, who does a fairly good job of hiding his head in his massive shoulders?

Schmeling has developed his fighting quite a bit. A lot of the boys favor him because they figure that he is coming up, while Paulino has been over some pretty rough hurdles which haven't helped him to retain his strength.

This isn't an easy spot for the expert predictors. If the affair goes into a slugfest, anything is likely to happen. Of the pair, Schmeling is probably the better boxer and an expert boxer might slash the Basque into thin ribbons. But "Max" is a little too green at the game to be classed as an expert.

FIVE HOMERS MAKE FEATURE IN GAME

LOS ANGELES, June 26. (AP)—Five home runs, three of them from the bat of outfielder "Ker" Boone, figured in the Mission Reds' 13-to-4 victory over the Hollywood Stars today.

The Reds had two big innings, the fifth and the seventh, scoring five runs in each. Boone's homers brought to five the circuit clout he has hit in the first two games of the Hollywood series, and were his 20th and 21st of the season. The other four baggers were made by Hoffman, Mulligan and Scott.

Rumler also hit for the circuit for Hollywood.

The score: Mission Reds 13, Hollywood Stars 4.

Francisco Seals a 6-4 winner over Los Angeles today. The Seals hit Peters freely, garnering 13 safeties, and all their runs in the six innings he pitched. Davis allowed the Angels nine hits, one a homer by Walter Berger, left fielder.

The score: Los Angeles 9, San Francisco 6.

Peters, Chalmers and Warren, Davis and Adamson.

SEATTLE, June 26.—(AP)—Koehler's fluke single in the 13th inning, which took a bad hop and spoiled a perfect setup for a double play, gave Sacramento a 6-to-3 victory over the Indians here today. Two of the three Sacramento scores, made in the 13th, were scored on the play.

Ducks Lose Again PORTLAND, Ore., June 26. (AP)—Oakland made it two straight from Portland today by the score of 10 to 5. Cascarella pitched better ball than the 16 hits indicate, slow fielding costing heavily in the first inning, in which the Oaks got a four run lead.

Curt Comments

By CURTIS

When George Beecher was hitting home runs and striking out between times as a member of the Salem high baseball team last spring, he blamed both fists on golf. Well, he made good on that by breaking the course record at the Salem Golf club Tuesday.

The Schmeling-Paulino fight starts at 10 p. m. eastern daylight saving. Let's see, that would be 7 o'clock here if we had daylight saving, and daylight saving means you feel yourself an hour, so the fight will start when it's 6 p. m. here. There will be the usual preliminaries, and you fans can come any time you like, but we and our megaphone will be ready to start broadcasting out of the news room window at 5 o'clock.

Well, Harry Plant is home, but he ducked right off to bed and couldn't be aroused to tell when the Fox-Pelz fight will be staged. Maybe he'll tell us all about it tomorrow.

Down at Camp Clatsop Harry demonstrated his ability at matching the scrappers as well as his culinary artistry. The last night in camp, Tuesday, he staged a fight card and it was a humdinger, according to the report the doughboys brought back. Carl Trick, who has done some fighting at the armory here, was one of the mitt swingers of the evening.

And furthermore, Harry's kitchen ranked at the top every day of the two weeks spent at Camp Clatsop. Nothing new, but Harry deserves credit for it nevertheless.

Delmer Russell pitched another one-hit ball game for the Elks Wednesday night. Big brother Kermit will have to look to his laurels, as we have gotten him before. Kermit is getting better every year, but Delmer had the younger start. He served them up nicely for two innings against Valsetz Sunday.

Wednesday morning's Statesman had a story about a deer hunter who killed a man and got five years in the penitentiary for it. The supreme court upheld the sentence. The object of the prison sentences is twofold: correction for the individual and warning to others. Serious and inexcusable as that sort of manslaughter is, we wonder if a five year sentence is justified. The slayer is not a criminal; he'll never make the same mistake again. One year ought to be enough. But don't try to tell that to the slain man's family.

Beecher Has 31 for Golf Course Mark

George Beecher, who was graduated from Salem high school this spring, established himself as a golfing sensation Tuesday when he broke the course record with a score of 31 for the nine holes at the Salem Golf club.

The best that Graham Sharkey and Errol Kay, club "pros," have been able to do is 34. Beecher's mark is five under par; and the best thing about his record is that there were no lucky shots for "two" holes; every hole was made in three or four strokes.

Another course record was broken this week when Mrs. J. H. Garnjobst played 18 holes in 91, the lowest mark made by any woman player.

With complete irrigation keeping the course green at all times, play on the Salem Golf club course is not slackening because of the warm weather, although many of the enthusiasts are dodging the heat by going out early in the morning or playing in the evening. The course is still well populated at 8 p. m. daily.

"Bob" Brownell and Louis Bean were crowned as Salem's champion boys' tennis doubles team at the close of the tournament held Tuesday and Wednesday, when they won the final match from Junior Devers and Ed Ostlund, 6-2, 6-3.

In the semi-finals, Devers and Ostlund won from Billingsley and Lansford 6-1, 6-1; Brownell and Bean defeated Pierce and Needham 6-2, 8-6.

'BUNNY' AUSTIN ON WAY TO HIGH PLACE

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 26. (AP)—With an even more decisive defeat of Jacques Brugnon today than of Francis T. Hunter yesterday, young H. W. "Bunny" Austin was well on his way of being acclaimed England's leading tennis star.

Displaying an improved all-court game coupled with deadly cross-court volleying, the youthful English Davis cup net act further tangled the British championship outlook as he eliminated the veteran Frenchman in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0. As the result of his sensational victories over two of the United States and French stars in as many days the former Cambridge university student appears certain to be one of the semi-finalists.

While nearly 15,000 English fans cheered numerous British victories, the Americans continued their parade through the singles and doubles play, losing only Wilbur Coen among the men and Marjorie Morrill and Mrs. Malloy of the women invaders. The Kansas City youngster dropped his match to Christian Bousous of France, 6-1, 10-8, 7-4. Miss Morrill lost her second round match to Miss Eileen Bennett, British star, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

"Big Bill" Tilden, displaying as fine form as he has ever shown at Wimbledon, had his German opponent, D. Prens, at his mercy, as did Miss Helen Willis with her German girl opponent, Mrs. Schromburgh. Tilden won, 6-0, 6-0, 8-6, while Miss Willis ran her

DON MOE STILL IN GOLF PLAY

College Tourney Sees Many Upsets Over Difficult New Jersey Links

DEAL, N. J., June 26.—(AP)—Great names in the world of college golf meant nothing, to the traps and bunkers of the tricky Hollywood course today and some of the outstanding contenders for the intercollegiate championship fell as the field was slashed from 32 to 8.

When at last the flying sand divots cleared away, Yale and three of its men among the eight survivors, Georgetown had two and Princeton, Oregon and Minnesota one apiece.

"Charmed Circle" Left The members of the "charmed circle," in the order in which they meet in the quarter final round tomorrow morning are: J. H. Reger, Georgetown, vs. Fred Banner, Yale, vs. Don Moe, Oregon.

Maurice McCarthy Jr., Georgetown, the defending champion, vs. Tommy Aycock, Yale. Lester Bolstad, Minnesota, vs. John G. Jones of Princeton.

Victims of the principal upset which marked the day's play both morning and afternoon were Chuck Hunter of the University of Washington, who was crushed by a count of 6 and 5 in the opening round by Melville Newman of Yale; George Dunlap of Princeton, the medalist, whose conqueror by a score of 4 and 3 in the second round was a tiger team mate, Jones; and Phillips finally, long-driving Harvard youth who fell before Beger's deadly short hole game in the afternoon round.

Not even the sturdy champion, McCarthy, an experienced golfer, who hit his shots with the poise and ease of a pro, was entirely proof against the wave of form reversals and he was forced to play an extra hole before he finally defeated Newman, one up in the headline match of the second round.

Newman Has Big Day Newman was having a big day. Everything was dropping and when he did find trouble he had a way of producing the most astounding recoveries. It was in this manner that he won his morning game from Hunter and he was full of confidence in his match against the champion. The first time at the 14th, Newman got it back at the short 15th, but McCarthy's birdie at the 17th made them square.

After halving the home hole in par, Newman finally lost out at the 19th when a four-foot putt tipped the cup and refused to drop. McCarthy's par four capturing the hole and match.

APPROVE ROAD

Approval of a county road to be constructed in Ames addition to the city of Silverton was made by the board of viewers in a report filed Wednesday with the county court.

ELKS BEAT CASEYS BY 9 TO 1 MARGIN

The Elks continued on their merry winning way in the Commercial baseball league by defeating the Knights of Columbus 9 to 1 Wednesday night.

Both pitchers, Russell for the Elks and Wolfe for the Caseys, were stingy with hits, but the latter team failed to give its usual strong support and the Elks put over seven runs in the second inning and two more in the fourth. The Knights' lone run and lone hit were made in the second.
