

YOUTH RELATES HOW DAD DIED

Decision Made Quickly to Kill Parent, Says Idaho Boy

LEWISTON, Idaho, June 26.—(AP)—Raymond Matthews, who Nez Perce county officers said had confessed to the deliberate slaying of his father, prominent Cavendish stockman, tonight told them that he "suddenly decided to kill" his parent while lying on a couch after dinner, Monday evening.

Matthews first told officers that his gun was accidentally discharged while cleaning it and that the same bullet which entered his father's skull behind his ear first went through his own body. Lee Matthews, the father, died at once, Raymond asserted, and then he turned the gun upon himself intending to take his own life.

In his statement tonight the youth said after his decision to slay his father came to him he went to a room where he kept his rifle, a .22 calibre special model, took a cartridge from a box and fired. He said he used the door as a rest and aimed at the center portion of the man's head. His father was sitting on the steps of the porch reading a paper.

Officers said that the boy might have been enraged because the stock of his rifle, with which he had been hunting squirrels all afternoon, was broken. Dr. J. N. Lytle, county physician, said that he had questioned the young man with a view to determining his sanity, but he did not announce his findings.

R. E. Durham, county prosecutor, said he would use Raymond's confession in drawing up a murder charge, probably tomorrow.

off by spraying water. The women are allowed to sit at the operation. The work is both made easier for them, and speedier.

In assembling the cans for the cases, the machines have also been speeded up from 50 to 100 to the minute, and made easier for the operators.

New weightograph scales have been installed for receiving fruit. Oh, there are many improvements since last year. More room, because a new and commodious office has been built and is now in use.

Peak is Approaching

While strawberries from this district will be packed for weeks yet, and especially those of the Etterburg type, to the eight plants in Salem handling strawberries, and more especially will the late berries come from the hill districts like those around Silver Creek Falls, the peak of the load of strawberry supplies to be packed in Salem will be reached within three or four days, if the present warm weather persists. The peak load of the soft or cold pack berries is already passing.

But loganberry packing is very near, and cherry and red and black raspberry packing. The Hunt cannery got a few boxes of camping cherries yesterday, and one grower picked a few crates of loganberries.

The whole packing volume in Salem will grow larger for several weeks than it is now—the only hiatus coming just before evergreen blackberries begin to arrive in canning volume.

HANDS OFF POLICY FOR UNITED STATES

designated by the American government as an unofficial observer at this gathering.

Representations Viewed as European Problem

The view of administration officials appears to be that in the working out of a substitute for the original Dawes reparations settlement the American government is without a sufficient immediate interest to warrant further active participation in a question which is regarded as primarily affecting the European creditors of Germany.

One step in the reparations settlement, however, does confront the administration. This is the negotiation of a new agreement with Germany under which there would be a reduction up to ten per cent of the total cost of the maintenance of the American army of occupation on the Rhine. This cost has been fixed at $250,000,000 and Germany already has paid some 25 per cent of it. Other nations which have made claims for Rhine army costs, however, have been paid between 50 and 90 percent of their claims. The only other interested which the United States has in the reparations question is that of the claims of American nationals under the awards of the mixed claims commission.
