

Jones Sinks 12-Foot Putt to Tie for National Honors

TIRED STAR IS ALMOST GONER

12,000 Spectators Witness Great Finish to 72 Holes of Play

WINGED FOOT CLUB, Mamaroneck, N. Y., June 29.—(AP)—Out on the high perched home green this afternoon, the greatest golfer of them all, Bobby Jones, somewhat tired and worn by a bruising battle with par and a record gallery, knelt to study the difficult line of a 12 foot putt on which hung his last hope of staying in the hunt for the open golf championship of the United States.

While fully 12,000 spectators jostled, shoved and milled for a peek at the last episode of a dramatic struggle, Jones stepped up briskly, struck the ball and sent it curving beautifully into the cup for the fourth, enabling him to tie with Al Espinosa, after the Atlantic amateur had come perilously close to disastrous elimination.

72 Holes Not Enough Today's hectic events added weight to the conviction that 72 holes no longer are sufficient to decide the American open championship. This is the fifth playoff for the crown required in seven years. What is more, today it is the fourth of these five in which Robert T. Jones, Jr., the Atlanta lawyer, has been a participant.

Jones won his first open title in 1923 in a playoff with Bobby Cruickshank. He lost a spectacular playoff with Willie MacFarlane in 1925 at Worcester, won the championship in 1926 without any extra competition and lost his third playoff to Farrell last year. In 1927, Tommy Armour, who tried gallantly to get into the front line today, beat Harry Cooper at Oakland in a playoff, so that tomorrow's battle is the third encore in a row.

Jones Favorite, 7 to 5 It is an entirely new experience, on the other hand for the swarthy, brilliant Espinosa. As a result, Jones established himself the favorite tonight with odds of 7 to 5, but he will find Espinosa ready to give him a tussle all the way. Battle is Wild One Jones, two times champion now in his fourth playoff and Espinosa, professional of the Sportsman's Golf and Country club of Chicago, now sharing the lead in the heights he has ever experienced, tied for the regulation 72 holes at 294 strokes each after one of the wildest battles in the history of the tournament. Jones, finished as poorly as he started brilliantly, scored 70-72-77-75.

Tomorrow they will play off for the title at 36 holes, 18 in the morning starting at 10 a. m. and 18 in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. Thus, for the second successive year, Jones, with the crown apparently perched firmly on his head, permitted it to slip off in the final round for other hands to grab and dispute with him.

Last year the famous Atlanta amateur in a similarly commanding position as leader going into the last 18 holes frittered away seven strokes on five straight holes, wound up in a tie with Johnny Farrell, also at 294, and then lost the play off by a stroke at Olympia fields.

Today with a three stroke margin over his nearest rival, Gen. Sarazen, and four shots ahead of Espinosa, after 54 holes of competition, Jones astonished a gallery of 12,000, the greatest and also probably the most uncontrollable in open championship history, by taking seven on two holes, the eighth and fifteenth then three costly putts on the sixteenth green from only 18 feet.

Espinosa Battles Espinosa, in the thick of the fight all the way, a co-leader with Sarazen after 36 holes, rallied spectacularly himself on the last few holes to post his 294 and take the lead, after an atrocious eight on the twelfth hole apparently had put him out of the running. But Jones met a flock of fresh trouble himself, where he seemed to have the title stowed safely away.

After Espinosa had finished with a blazing 4-3-4 for his final round of 75 and grand total of 294 Jones came to the last two holes needing par four on each to tie. He played the 17th perfectly, then smashed a long drive down through the dense masses of humidity fringing the 18th fairway. His iron, slightly pulled, was hole high, but off the green, a foot from the edge of a trap and when he chipped a dozen feet short of the cup, his chances looked slim. A slight slope to the green required careful calculation, but Bobby had the finishing punch and delivered it, where farther back it looked as if he was himself on the ropes and about to be knocked out of the tournament.

GEORGE LOTT IS UP IN TENNIS HEIGHTS

Tilden and Chicagoan Keep in Race for British Single Honors

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29.—(AP)—With George Lott of Chicago winning in straight sets today, the United States has two of its representatives among the eight surviving contenders for the English tennis championship in men's singles.

Bill Tilden and the youthful Lott, who played brilliantly in eliminating Jan Kozeluh by scores of 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, constitute a double barreled American threat in the quarter-finals with one in each half of the draw. France has three of its men in the charmed circle of eight—Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra and Pierre Landry—while a young Englishman, H. W. Austin, a titled Hungarian, Baron Von Kehring, and a red headed Dutchman, Hans Timmer, complete the list.

In women's singles the end of the first week of the classic tournament finds Miss Helen Wills, Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, all of California, still keeping the United States in the running. England also holds three berths of the eight with Miss E. A. Goldsack, Mrs. C. G. McIlquham and Miss Joan Ridgway in the quarter-finals. The South African, Miss Bobby Heine and Miss Ruth Trassott, make up the rest of the bracket.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound it can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29.—(AP)—Portland made it three straight over Oakland today, and Curtis Fullerton pitched his fourth successive victory, the score being 7 to 4. Buzz Arlett was the only Oyak who could bat consistently. He kept up his hitting by driving in two of his team's four runs and scoring another himself, and he also relieved Dumovich when the latter was pounded out of the box in the sixth and stopped the Portland attack dead.

Batteries: Dumovich, Arlett and Lombardi; Fullerton and Woodall. SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(AP)—The heavy artillery of the San Francisco Seals moved en masse against the Los Angeles pitching staff at Recreation park today when the smoke of battle cleared, the visitors were on the short end of a 11 to 4 score.

NEW 'DEAL' ON IN LEAGUE NOW

Today's Game Marks Start of Second Half With Slate Wiped Clean

With a brand new deal all around, the second half of the Oregon-Washington league season will open today. Not only are the "games won and lost" turned back on the numbering machine to zero, but several of the clubs have undergone shake-ups.

Montavilla, which comes to Salem to play the Senators, has a new man, Haworth, at the helm, and he is reported to have made some sweeping changes in the line-up of the first half cellar champs.

Albany is out and Ike Wolfer's All-Stars will come on the scene in a game against Mt. Scott. Wolfer has a crew of fence busters signed up, according to word from Portland, and will be out to make things warm in the circuit.

Shake-Up to Effect Team These other shakeups will have some effect on the Salem team, it was indicated Saturday. Manager "Prisco" Edwards has announced what new players he would have, as negotiations with them weren't complete up to late that afternoon.

It is known, however, that several of the boys who have been playing with Albany are angling for a chance to wear Senator uniforms. The game will start at 2:30 as usual, with Russell on the mound and Edwards, who has been running things from the bench for several weeks, back behind the bat. Montavilla will have either Harkins or Traynor in the box. Both are effective pitchers, and have deserved to win more of their games, but didn't because they weren't favored with enough clubbing from their own team.

The changes that Manager Haworth is reported to have been making in the last week, may take care of that.

Quantity of baseball doesn't always make a good show, any more than the same things is true in the fight game. Funny, isn't it, that fight fans are always bellowing for a knockout that will end the show?

The same thing happened out at Olinger field last Sunday. It was a nice tight ball game with plenty of action most of the way, and will afford the ninth everybody was rooting for the swat that would end the agony. But, of course, they wanted the swat to come when the right team was at bat.

The game started on time, but it was time for dinner when it ended.

We hate to break the sad news, public, but next week you're going to miss this column. We're going on our vacation.

Saturday we told Lyle Bigbee about it. One place we're going is to Bend, where Lyle played ball last year. "Is there anybody who can remember your 'ol' we asked, "Give my regards to the sheriff," said Lyle.

Since we started this daily half dozen, a lot of the boys have been asking us to give them the inside dope on the ball game. But that won't work. Our system is always to pick the home town to lose; if they do we were right, and if they win, our surprise is the agreeable kind.

Lots of the fans were surprised that Schmeling, although he beat Uscudun to a pulp, didn't knock him down. The word beforehand was that Paulino was as wide as

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—(AP)—Walter Kinney, veteran knuckle ball artist of the Hollywood Stars ended his team's four game losing streak today by blanking the league leading Mission Reds and batting in one of the six runs scored by his team. Although the visitors garnered ten safeties they were well scattered, especially in the pinches. The Stars sewed the game up in the third inning when bunched hits gave them four runs. Road construction and the development of water supply will go forward promptly under direction of L. O. Herrold who will have charge of all development work.

Everyone who knows this historic location is an enthusiastic booster. It represents a definite modern tendency to escape living on small lots in the dooryards of neighbors, however congenial, and seeking room, fresh air, higher altitudes and more natural and beautiful surroundings.

The method of taking ample time, leaving buyers free to withdraw without cost until ample numbers to insure success had signed up and further until each had selected his tract and finally confirmed the purchase has attracted many as "going the limit" to assure safety to investors.
