BULL FORCES TAKE MARKET
Decline in Brokers' Loans Regarded as Favorable Omen by Operators

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The decline in brokers' loans this week, while negligible in volume, was such a pleasant experience after the advances totalling nearly $500,000,000 during June, that the bull forces staged one of the wildest demonstrations witnessed in months on the stock market today.

More than three dozen issues, including such old-stand-bys as American Telephone, U. S. Steel, American Can, Consolidated Gas, and Union Pacific, were hurried up to record altitudes, in heavy trading, carrying total sales for the session to 4,759,130 shares, the largest turnover since May.

Operations for the advance once more centered in the utilities, about a dozen of this group reaching record levels. The Associated Press index of 20 leading utilities was sent up more than 9 points to a new high. While the rails joined by moderately in the upturn, the index of 20 leading carrier stocks rose about a point, slightly exceeding the record peak reached Monday. Some irregularity persisted in the industrials, however, steels and specials making notable advances, while motors and coppers eased.

Call money again held at 9 per cent. U. S. Steel mounted 5 1/2 points to a record level at 203 1/2. About 40 points above the year's low, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Republic and several other independents also reached new tops. Midland Steel Products preferred jumped 8 points, but lost its gain in realizing.

In the rails, Union Pacific advanced over 5 points to a peak above 352, while Chesapeake and Ohio, Alleghany Corp., and Great Northern preferred also recorded new peaks.

Commodities moved in fairly narrow price ranges, wheat mounting 1 1/2 cents and more a bushel on bullish Canadian advices and reports of damage in Kansas. Corn however, sagged fractionally on bearish weather. Cotton closed fairly firm in sympathy with Liverpool and raw sugar improved, reflecting a firm tone in the London market.

CITY REALTORS BOOS SECTION

Two-Page Spread Appears in July Edition of N. W. Bulletin

A two-page spread in the July edition of the "Pacific Northwest Real Estate Bulletin" is given over to the educational information concerning Salem and the Willamette valley. All statements are vouched for by the Salem Chamber of Commerce, and a wise idea it was to mention this fact, for what is common everyday knowledge to the average Salemite may seem exaggerated or even totally unbelievable to realtors attending the national convention here July 24, 25 and 26.

Beginning with a view from the dome of the Capitol, enumerating many, though by no means all, of the outstanding qualities which make Salem desirable as a home and manufacturing city, and closing with a list of peculiarities which come as a result of the previously mentioned qualities, the first page catalogs those things which will be of special interest to the delegates to them the cordial welcome of city and state. In a like manner the Willamette valley is pictured in words.

Great Strides in Progress Recorded
Perhaps the most interesting facts to Salem residents are the comparisons of the 1920 Salem with the 1929 Salem and the "Believe It or Not" columns.

In comparing the year 1920 in Salem with 1929 the bulletin points out the following increases: In dwellings, 67 per cent; in postal receipts, 69 per cent; in school enrollment, 81 per cent; and 51 per cent in assessed valuation of property.

Under a heading which prophesies the doubt which will be in the mind of the stranger the Salem page lists the following statements: Salem, the Capital City, has the largest American Legion Post of any city of its size in the United States. Same with the Salem Elks' Lodge with its 2,350 members.

Foreign Element Is Found Lacking Here
Most all-American cities of its size in the United States. More than 93 per cent native born. No foreign element.

Only city west of New York state with two linen mills. Salem has more paved roads in its trading district within a 10-mile radius than any city of its size in the United States.

The Willamette valley page is devoted to agricultural achievements and climatic conditions. It gives credit to the valley for the largest hop ranch, largest Lambert cherry orchard, largest Franquette walnut orchard, and the largest acreage of long-fibre flax in the United States, and calls attention to the fact that Wrigley's gum is flavored with peppermint grown here. It fails to mention that the largest prune orchard in the world is located at Dundee, only a few miles from McMinnville.

All in all, the facts here presented may in a measure prepare the visiting realtors for Salem and the Willamette valley in the hope of the Salem realtors' organization and the Pacific Northwest Real Estate association, publishers of the "Bulletin."

CHEMEKETANS TO TAKE MOVIE FILM
Motion pictures of activities at the Chemeketan camp on Marion lake next week will be taken by Catherine Gaylord of Silverton. Dr. C. A. Downs will assist with the photography which will be taken with a late type camera belonging to Dr. D. E. Hill.

Film records of all trips of the Chemeketan club, Salem hiking group, have been kept by Dr. Hill who is not going. Miss Gaylord is manager of the Kennell-Ellis studio in Silverton and has had much experience with motion photography.

Alpine stocks made in Salem will be carried by the party climbing Mt. Jefferson. Young seasoned ash handles and special tool steel points tempered to withstand the expounding on ice and rocks were assembled by Joe Schindler, local blacksmith, for the hikers. Fifteen of the stocks will be taken for hikers who do not have their own, or Alpine ice axes.

Miriam Vicary, Lorraine Laidar, Eleanor Moen, Marguerite Shaw, Rosemary Sawyer, Mary Hartler, Jean Marshall, Miriam Jewett, Hilda Pounder, Jean Oeder, and Betty Baker.

This week 22 g. school girls are in camp, and week after next there will be a group of high school girls. It has been reported that only ten have signed up for the senior high outing.

Others in charge of supervising the work include Miss Helen Ralph, in charge of swimming; Miss Esther Lisle, recreation; Miss Eloise White and Mrs. George Rhoten, camp advisors.

Plane Will Bring Advertising Here
Incident to the advertising program for the Sunset Trail program at Eugene July 25, 26 and 27, a big monoplane owned by the Robt. A. W. Hill and in Salem, Monday, July 22. This plane will be on a mission of distributing souvenir albums in which photograph visitors may place photographs of the event, as well as general advertising matter.

Torn Hatch Found Cause Of Forced Landing When Angeleno is Investigated

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—Lying in a hospital bed, Loren W. Mendell, chief pilot of the record-shattering Angeleno, today revealed that it probably was a hatch torn from the cabin of the plane which caused the tail to flutter.

"I don't exactly know what caused the tail to go to pieces, but just before we had the trouble, the hatch flew off the top of the cabin."

"It flew back and I felt it strike something on the ship that may have started the flutter by bending a wire or breaking one of the controls."

"Then, as we tried to make contact, we hit the propeller blast of the refueling ship. That probably accentuated the damage to the tail."

Observers noticed that a piece of wood resembling the hatch was hanging from the tail when the plane landed.

"I had no trouble landing," Mendell continued. "It was as easy as though I had just gone up and was coming down, but the tail was so heavy that I had to hold back on the stick with both hands to bring the ship down on an even keel."

"Say, what are you keeping me in this bed for? I want to get out and do things and have a good time. I'm not tired at all. My legs are a little weak, and that surprises me for I didn't think they would be."

Mendell looked healthy and invigorated, but Reinhart had a tired appearance about his face, as he was not hesitant to admit his fatigue.

"We're all right," Reinhart said, as he glanced from his bed across to that of his partner, "but we wouldn't like to see anyone else try this thing. It takes a lot of strength." Mendell and Reinhart both are well built men.

"I'm pretty tired, I'll admit," Reinhart added. "I don't want to do anything for about a week but sleep."

"I think about that refueling. That the propeller blast did some damage to that tail. The motor was perfect. I never saw a motor that ran prettier anywhere or any place."

SERVICE CLUBS' PICNIC SUCCESS

Three Salem Organizations Enjoy Annual Outing at Hager's Grove

The three service clubs of Salem, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and their families and guests, including the members of the Zontas, ladies' service organization, forgot their aims of civic reform for a few hours' frolic Friday evening at Hager's Grove southeast of Salem. The perfect evening coming at the close of a warm day tempted a very large crowd, so that the advance estimate of 300 in attendance was increased by 25 or more. Chief Johnny Jones, assisted by "Fat" Boy" Charley Maxwell had an abundance of vials which included everything from chicken to watermelon. Long tables spread under the oak trees provided for the serving of the 300 at once.

The big meal was only part of the program. Diversion was provided for all who attended. They could take their choice in sports on land or water. Young folk sought the water and a long list of contests was pulled off with youngsters diving, swimming, and doing water stunts. The big before dinner event was the baseball game between Lions and Kiwanis which resulted 8 to 5 in favor of one side. Bill Busick pitched for the Kiwanis and Frank Neer for the Lions, which probably accounts for the big number of scores in the few innings played before the tug of war event was called. The Lions gave their opponents no chance in the tug of war as they had a downhill pull on a strong rope.

Barnyard golf entertained a lot of men. George Vick and Billy McGilchrist, Jr., spent the whole evening practicing for their championship event, till it was too dark to call it so it had to be deferred till next year. This will be sad news for Rotarians who were expecting free smokes off the loser at the next meeting. Dan Fry and Andy Lee showed up a bunch of the young bloods at this horse-shoe game.

Running races, hopping races, and all manner of races were pulled off for the youngsters until the big store of candy bars and cracker-jack laid in for prizes was exhausted. Doc Russell won a box of popcorn on the 50 yard dash, and Harry Miller was easy winner in the fat man's race.

The women were not neglected, and nail driving, contests, ball throwing events, etc., tested feminine skill.

Dad McGilchrist ran off a pig-calling contest, in which Mark McCallister qualified to go, against any champion from the Iowa pig belt.

The only untoward event occurred early in the afternoon when

WATER PLANT VETS FIND PLACES GONE
Four employes of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company in Salem who have been connected with this company and its predecessors for many years, have left the company's employ in the last few days. It has been announced.

These men are S. C. Knightlinger, outside superintendent who has been employed at the local plant more than 20 years; William Bennett, engineer; his assistant, Charles Epley, and U. S. Gesner, inspector.

It was explained that termination of these men's services was due to the installation of improvements which made it possible to reduce overhead expense. At the same time, a possibility was seen that pensions would be forthcoming for Knightlinger and Epley.

HADNOT GIRL WILL BE BURIED MONDAY
The funeral of little Dorothy Hadnot, eight year old Salem girl, who was drowned in the Columbia river at Portland July 4, will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock at Rigdon's chapel.

The child's body was found Friday morning a short distance below Columbia Beach where she was drowned completing a six day search. Dorothy and her sister Rosalie were visiting friends and wading in the river when the smaller girl got in above her depth.

She is survived by her father, David Hadnot of Salem, a sister and brother, Rosalie and David, Jr., and by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nailing of Portland.

Kiddies Form Government Of Own Patterned After Salem Civic Organization

City government by junior chautauqua enthusiasts is being organized in the work in the morning put on under the direction of Miss Lucille Duffy who was the director of the junior organization in Salem's last year. Studies by the kiddies include the health rules of the city, its traffic ordinances and other interesting features of municipal government.

Max Houser has been chosen mayor of the group of 50 kiddies taking part in the exercises each day. Members of the health board are June Director, Oval Cooley, and Jack Pollard.

The law and order committee is composed of Jean Wiley, Anita Wagner and Charlie Collier. The service committee has Adele Lien Kaemper and Leon Cooley for its members. The juniors have named Walter Waterman as their news reporter. Wilma Godsey has an office as the town representative.

In many communities the juniors plan some project for the chautauqua which they carry to completion. Here there has been some talk of the need of an outdoor swimming pool in the community.

11 Boys Pass Badge Tests Successfully
Eleven boys passed the national playground badge tests, given at the Fourteenth Street playground Friday afternoon. A bronze button of the type awarded at all municipal playgrounds in the country will be given to the boys. Those successful in the tests are Phil Salstrom, Doug Myers, David Collier, Douglas Ger, LaVern Harris, Edward Amend, Robert Quamme, Orville Raymond, Walter Boddy, John Kelly and Lester Carter.

When you leave for your vacation have the Statesman mailed to you. Phone 500.
