FARM PROBLEM IS TALKED HERE

Catholic Convention Listens to Speech by Rev. Leipzig of Eugene

"The problem of the farmer has attracted the attention of the greatest minds of the century. Men have realized that his rise and fall will affect the rise and fall of the nation. The partial collapse of farm industry since the war has made the problem a more crucial one."

This declaration was voiced by Rev. P. P. Leipzig of Eugene, in his comprehensive talk on "Rural Cooperation" given at the Tuesday night session of the Verein. The churchman, who has come in close contact with his subject during years of pastorate in Williamette, always has been a general rule regarding the first stage in the decline of the nation's greatness and that we are helpless in the grip of this menacing law of the rise and fall of nations. Father Leipzig further stated:

Elevation of Farmer Held Great Aim

"From the inception of your organization in 1855 one of the loftiest aims of the society has been to dignify the farmer and his occupation. His merit has been a potent factor in your liberations from the very beginning of your organization since you preserved schools, hospitals, etc. You promoted everywhere the Golden Rule of Charity in rural as well as in urban places. It is not necessary for me to recall to your minds the fact of the Y. M. C. A. given special care to the need of the farmer. The Central Verein did this consciously realizing the importance of the farmer."

"This organization is merely following the footsteps of the church in the interest of the farmer. We note, especially in the last 200 years from the Pontificate of Pius V to Pius XX, a series of papal decrees affecting agriculture. The Sacred Congregation of Rota had filled a large volume of decisions and observations in 1579. Pope Clement VIII in 1579 decreed it a duty to intervene for sake of the poor, viz, the farmer. In Rome we find an International Institute of Agriculture, especially for the American farmer. This house was established by a gentleman from California."

"In the past years the Catholics reaped rich harvest of members from the Catholic countries. But a recent act of congress has robbed the church of thousands of members from the continent across the sea, and still more alarming is the fact that the recently enacted law draws more heavily for immigrants from Protestant countries. Added to this may we quote John A. Lapp, former director of Social Action dept. of the N. C. W. U. that out of 709, 836 immigrants in 1924 only seven per cent were farmers or farm laborers."

Phillips Back Soon—May Phillips, head waitress at the Blue Bird, who has been absent for her work for a month and a half with bronchial pneumonia will be back on the duty the last of July. She is well, but resting at the present time.

JUDGE RESENTS CRITICAL PAPER

Editorial Brings Contempt Proceedings Against Cleveland Press

CLEVELAND, July 16.—(AP)—Freedom of the press and the "American prerogative of criticizing public officials" were vigorously upheld by Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker today in denouncing contempt of court proceedings brought against two executives of the Cleveland press. Baker argued vehemently against rigid application of the contempt laws in the "dark days" when the public was "efficiently gagged" in asking Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther to drop his charges against Louis of her personality. But first and foremost we hold that woman is the mother, the home-maker, the guardian of the fireside where children are reared for the glory of God and to the honor of the Christian name. Anything, therefore, that destroys women's real duty and Christian prerogatives, we hereby deplore and look upon as rather retarding than advancing the cause of social progress."

"Bad books and magazines are the most dangerous scourges to morality," is the emphatic statement embodied in another resolution.

"With anxiety we take note of the iniquity power of the press and its victims as previously mentioned. We, therefore, pledge ourselves to the apostolate of good literature and appeal to our members to make from time to time a survey and endeavor to make sure that they subscribe to and read good and Catholic papers, and install in their families good and useful reading matter or even a 'home library' containing such books as may be subservient to instruction in religious things, or domestic science, or to entertainment at the hour of leisure."

Further resolutions were considered by the women's union at a late night session Tuesday, when the official business of their convention was completed. The women will close their convention this morning as guests of the men at their installation services.
