Eugene Pageant Being Put Over Successfully With Assistance of Other Cities

Special to The Oregon Statesman—EUGENE, Ore., July 18.—Salem is doing its part in helping put across the Sunset Trail celebration to be held here next week by entering floats in the Industrial and Pioneer parades to be given as part of the great history depicting event, officials of the parade committee have high praise for the people of Salem for their hearty cooperation in entering into the spirit of the event, a concentrated effort to refresh in the minds of the public Oregon's background and future.

Eugene has called to the state for help to make this event as graphic as possible and every person available is entering into it in wonderful manner and a great show is promised. Especially is more than taking a prominent part and beside entering floats is expected to send several thousand townspeople here during the three days, officials say. The Sunset Trail pageant, to be staged on Hayward field July 25, 26 and 27, will be the most elaborate outdoor performance ever seen in Oregon. It is declared by those who have seen early rehearsals of the huge show. A cast of 1500 is now working nightly on this event, which will depict the development of the Oregon country from the early, almost pre-historic Maya days, on through the present to a vision of the future.

One of the outstanding features of the event will be the huge stage itself, which will be 240 feet long and 80 feet deep. It represents

S. P. to Abandon Tracks in Polk Co

DALLAS, July 18—Following hearings held in Dallas last year between officials of the Southern Pacific company and representatives of the interested communities and later a hearing before the Oregon Public Service Commission for abandonment of certain railroad trackage in Polk county, that portion from Mouth to Atrille and from Polk station to Perrydale has already been taken up and stations along these lines removed.

It was stated at the time of the hearing that this 20 miles of track would require an outlay of more than $98,000 for repairs and that they had been operated at a loss for a number of years. The communities offered no objection to the abandonment of the road as adequate substitute service was provided.

SALEM PROPERTY TRADED—DALLAS, July 18—John Fretsen who some time ago purchased a new and second hand furniture store in Dallas, has made a trade whereby he acquired some Salem property in exchange. It is understood that the new owners are interested in the Central Shoe store in Salem.
