The Eyerly motto is: "We fly any place, any time."

Moderate rates for transportation are given between various points in the valley and out of the state.

Facts about the Eyerly Transport School

The Eyerly School of Aeronautics is the only school in Oregon giving a complete course of ground and air flying which includes instruction from the ground up. This school which was established in 1920 has grown steadily throughout the nine years of its history.

The Eyerly school has the record of carrying thousands of passengers and students without accident to a single person. It also has the record of being the first builder of successful airplanes in the state.

The Eyerly school has entirely modern equipment, and all its transport pilots and instructors are licensed. The public is invited to visit the school and see how students take a part in building the planes.

You are invited to view the old type of engines once used in airplanes as well as to see the latest type of engines being used at the present time.
