

PRINCETON AND CORNELL BEAT BRITISH STARS

American Track and Field Athletes Overwhelm English Rivals

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP).—Breaking the spell that for eight years has held them powerless to defeat their English cousins on track and field, the capable athletes of Princeton and Cornell rose in their might today and overwhelmed Oxford and Cambridge by score of nine first places to three.

Ben Hedges of Plainfield, N. J., Princeton captain-elect, romped to victory in all of the 12 events except the 100 yard dash and quarter mile and half mile runs.

These three classic clunder path events went to the Oxford and Cambridge forces but their men were outclassed in the field events and beaten even in the hurdle races where the English had hoped to make their finest showing.

But for a bad header taken by R. M. Tisdall, of Cambridge, as he leaped the final barrier five yards ahead of the field the invaders might have taken the 220 yard hurdle race, as it was John Lincoln of Princeton, who up to that moment had looked like nothing more than a good runner up, went on to win while Tisdall struggled to his feet and smiled gamely.

Giants Get Even Break Braves Win

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP).—The Giants went on a batting spree in the third inning of the second game today, to get an even break in their doubleheader with the Pirates. New York won the second game, 8 to 4, after Pittsburgh had taken the opener, 5 to 2. The Giants scored five runs off three Pirate pitchers in the third frame. Ott hit his 26th homer of the season in the sixth.

EUGENE LITERATURE DROPPED FROM AIR

Out of the air will come messages Monday of the Sunset Trail pageant being staged July 25, 26 and 27 at Eugene, for shortly before noon the big monoplane of the Hobi Airways will circle Salem and drop copies of the special Sunset Trail Pageant section of the Eugene Register.

The plane will land here at the fairgrounds airport and representatives in the party aboard the plane will be guests of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon.

In the party coming north to advertise the Sunset Trail pageant are James Hall, representing the management of the pageant; Howard Hall representing the air director; committee; Frank Pay Eddy and George Godfrey publicity directors.

A flight by the big monoplane has been planned for southern Oregon, the Eugene party aiming to go as far south as Ashland. The Coos Bay district will also be visited and special word carried to Eugene's big celebration.

Senators Will Battle Wolfer's All Stars On Local Diamond

TOUGH CONTEST PROMISED HERE

Another Crisis Looms up in League Race for Salem Ball Aggregation

ORE-WASH LEAGUE
Salem 3 0 1,000

GAMES TODAY
At Salem—Salem vs. Wolfer's All Stars, Olinger field 2:30 p.m.
At Longview—Longview vs. Montavilla.
At Portland—Mt. Scott vs. Kelso.

Probable Lineups
Salem: Quinn, c; Lamb, 2b; Bigbee, r; Sullivan, 1b; Cloninger, 1b; Hafnfeldt, 3b; Gibson, ss; Edwards, c; Barham, p.
Wolfer's: Harkins, 1b; Garbarino, ss; Burke, 2b; Repl, 3b; Schroeder, rf; B. Wilson, cf; Sussman, c; Swart, p.

Bring on the Wolves!
Fans have gotten tired of that long name, Wolfer's All Stars, so now they're going to be known as the Wolves.

Being pretty much a homeless ball club, the name is appropriate, both subjectively and objectively, as the college prods would say. They're a dangerous, snarling outfit, and they're also the boys that must depend for support on the wolves with which each baseball town is infested, who are always against the home team.

Wolves Now Worse Than Longview
Last week's game between the Senators and Longview was figured as a crucial contest, but that was on the basis that Longview was still the team that had to be beaten in order to take the second half championship.

Now it looks as though the Wolves would be the toughest, so that makes today's game the big one.

Last Sunday the Wolves won from Kelso 7 to 4, piling up 15 hits off the redoubtable Anderson and his playmate Pritchard. Meanwhile Swartz, Ike's pet southpaw, was holding the Timber Wolves to five bingles, and was awarded perfect support.

Scrappy Spirit Is Showed by Team
The Wolves are supposed to be successors to the Albany Alcos, and they have inherited that team's scrappy spirit, but there are a number of new faces in the lineup. In fact Wolfer and Spec Burke are the only Alcos now playing regularly. Repl, third baseman, played with Albany last year.

B. Wilson, center fielder, was the Wolves' hitting star last Sunday, getting three safe blows, one a double. Everybody in the batting order was hitting, however, and they will be a tough outfit for the local moundsman to stop.

Manager Frisco Edwards of the Senators wasn't certain Saturday whether Barham or Meyers would start the game. Meyers, who pitched a couple of games here two years ago, dropping out because of an injury, has returned from Pendleton and may get the call.

Battling Awaited With Interest
Much speculation has been current in the past week as to whether the Senators will continue their murderous habits at bat.

Billy Sullivan was still going strong last Sunday, getting two hits after spoiling his perfect record with a strikeout; and Hafnfeldt, with a homer and a three-bagger, also made a bid for honor.

Hafnfeldt, Cloninger and Gibson each pounded out two hits. Present batting averages are:

AB H Pct.
Russell 1 1 1.000
Sullivan 13 12 .923
Gibson 10 5 .500
Cloninger 12 4 .333
Hafnfeldt 12 4 .333
Barham 10 3 .300
Edwards 8 2 .250
Sutherland 4 1 .250
Quinn 10 2 .200
Lamb 13 2 .146
Cardinal 3 0 .000
Gill 2 0 .000

WILD BILL MELHORN IS WINNER IN FINALS

LONG BEACH, N. Y., July 20.—(AP).—"Wild Bill" Melhorn, who was not wild today, played a great round of golf when he needed it to win the metropolitan championship today with a 72 hole score of 288. A magnificent achievement over the difficult Lido course, hard by the sea and subject to the vagaries of every wind that blows from the bounding surf.

To slip in ahead of Wilfred (Wiffy) Cox, brilliant, but somewhat erratic pro from Brooklyn, Wild Bill played his final round in 68, giving him a three stroke edge. Cox had previously compiled a highly creditable 291 for the four rounds.

Cox, who shares the honors of the competition with the no longer wild Melhorn, placed himself in the forefront of the picture in the third round this morning when he covered the 18 treacherous holes of the Lido course in 67 strokes, a new course record. It developed when Metropolitan Golf association officials disqualified Arthur D. Potter who reported a score of 64 yesterday.

Henry Cuiet finishing with a great 70 clipped into third place with a score of 294 and Leo Diegel and Jim Barnes tied for fourth at 298. Bracketed at 300 were Gene Sarason, MacDonald and Sam Wood.

DEL MONTE, July 20.—(AP).—Donald K. Moe's entry for the national amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach, Sept. 2-7, has been accepted, according to a wire received here today from the United States Golf association headquarters.

Moe, University of Oregon undergraduate, recently won the western title vacated by his fellow Portlander, Frank Dolp. Moe and Dolp will be two of the outstanding Pacific coast stars in this year's national classic.

Moe entered from Alderwood club, Frances Outmet, former national amateur champion, and one of the greatest stars in American golf history has also officially entered from Woodland club, Auburn Dale, Mass. Dwight L. Armstrong, Lancaster Country club, Penn., and Wm. J. McNeill, Southport, Mass., are entered.

Bearded Bambinos Here Wednesday

Not from Eugene, but from Benton Harbor, Mich., come these tough muscled lads whose hirsute adornment belies their youth and speed. The whiskers and long hair never disturb their vision when hot grounders or steaming curves are to be handled. The House of David ball team, some members of which are pictured above, will play the Salem Senators here Wednesday afternoon.

Out at Olinger field, the kids get in free and the adult deadbeats roost on the railroad track, so that ancient pastime of waiting for a foul ball over the fence is passe.

Ted Fox, who fights Benny Pelz next Thursday night, is as brown as a life guard. That's because he winds up his daily stint by rowing a boat on the river for a couple of hours. Road work in the morning and ten rounds in the gym in the afternoon are keeping him in the best of shape.

Teddy has won his last four fights on knockouts. Keep your tummy covered, Benny.

Hollis Huntington says some of the fastest and most elusive halfbacks he ever saw, were that way because they were deathly afraid of getting hit.

That goes for fighters, too.

Now fans, listen close for the inside dope. We're going to make a practice, when we don't forget, of picking winners in important contests, and when we're wrong, at the first opportunity this column will go into mourning.

But right here and now, we disclaim any responsibility for pocketbooks flattened because someone backs our judgment.

So for a starter, we pick the Wolfer's to win today's ball game.

Mark Flanagan, Georgetown basketball and golf star, was eliminated from a Long Island tourney by a lad who caddied for him in the same meet two years ago.

Curt Comments

Ike Wolfer, Spec Burke, et al, will be in town today. Keep your eyes on a bomb proof dugout.

When we pulled that one about Burke or Wolfer umpiring yesterday, we didn't know that Spec had actually been umpiring in Coast league games this week, substituting for the one-armed umpire whose arm was injured. Local fans who saw Friday's game said Spec did a snappy job of it and didn't draw any squawks.

We've been intending to say something funny about that one armed umpire whose arm was hurt; but what is there funny to say about him?

Johnny Beck writes from Bloomington in the Three Eye league that he's getting along fine, but suffers because the nights are just as hot as the days, and that means hot. Johnny pitches at his best when the sun is sizzling, but being comfortable is something else again.

More detailed information discloses that the decision which caused the attack on Sids Sutherland at Ballard last Sunday, was one in which he called a runner out for not touching third base.

Now that's one of the queerest things about baseball. The umpire wouldn't call it if he didn't see it; he's bound to be right, but it always starts a scrap. That probably is because it's such a hard pill to swallow; the other team doesn't deserve the break. But why take it out on the poor Blind Tom?

There's talk of reviving the old Northwest league, as a farm for the Coast league. In our humble opinion, these "kings-ex" games will serve the purpose just as well. Just imagine, Portland and Hollywood have won an equal number of games this series, but Portland gets credit for four wins and Hollywood one.

Speaking of the old Northwest league, the Tigers' park at Tacoma was where we broke into baseball. We broke in nearly every day, provided that we were lucky enough to get our hands on a ball hit over the fence before the other kids grabbed it.

KILEEN FACES TOUGH FIGHTER

Harry Hazelton of Portland Likely to Give Jackie Sound Whipping

Going on the theory that the fight fans here are getting tired of seeing Jackie Kileen win all his scraps, Matchmaker Harry Plant has done his best to assure Jackie of a beating next Thursday night.

Harry Hazelton of Portland, 115 pounder who recently defeated Kileen in the ring there, has been signed up as Jackie's opponent, and the bout has been scheduled as a six round semi final.

It's probably unnecessary to explain that Kileen's real name is Wattenberger and that he changed it recently for ring purposes, mostly because his brother Terry had been using the same nom de sock.

Jackie Earning Place On Semi-Final Bill
Jackie is certainly entitled to a semi final billing after the excellent scraps he has put up here. Even though he comes from Independence and has been pitted mostly against local boys, he has remained a favorite on account of his free hitting style and gameness.

What's more, the bout in which Hazelton defeated Kileen at Portland recently was the best on that night's card.

Since the day that Matchmaker Plant announced that Ted Fox and Benny Pelz would be the headliners on next Thursday night's card, the fans have been doing an exceptional lot of speculating on the result. There is a lot of confidence here that Fox will win, although Pelz's faculty of crashing through with hard uppercuts is not discounted.

There are plenty of fans here who saw these two in their last meeting, still ready to claim that Fox was entitled to a draw.

Fox In Better Shape This Time
Be that as it may, Fox is in better shape and more likely to win this time than he was before. He has concentrated on training for this scrap, doing a lot of road work in the mornings, boxing ten rounds each afternoon, and tapering off by pulling a couple of cars out on the river.

Fox has been slightly handicapped by lack of sparring partners. He has been boxing with Jackie Woods, who is game and speedy enough but lacks the weight that would permit Fox to cut loose with his punches. For the remaining two or three workouts, however, Fox will get in more sparring with heavier lads.

The local favorite has his heart set on winning from Pelz, because if he does, he is slated to meet Eddie Thomas two weeks later. Thomas is about the best of the lightweights around Portland, and meeting him would be a step upward for Teddy.

Three golfers, including Archie Compston and Abe Mitchell, were tied for the Irish open title at the end of 72 holes.

Jim Bottomley hit seven homers in a five-game series between the Cardinals and Phillies at Philadelphia.

Hollywood Repeats Previous Performance and Takes Kings-X Game

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—(AP).—Though Portland and Hollywood again broke even on today's doubleheader, Portland for the third time in this series won the first, or counting game, 6 to 0 while the Hollies had to be content with the second, or kings-x and non-counting game.

In the first game Mahaffey and Buzz Wetzel pitched six scoreless innings in a 0 to 0 tie, but the Ducks broke the deadlock by getting to Wetzel for five runs in the seventh. Mahaffey carried on and blanked the visitors. The second game, with Portland using youngsters, was a 15 to 5 slaughter for Hollywood.

U. S. NET STARS BEAT GERMANS

America and France Slated to Battle for Possession of Trophy

By conquering Germany this afternoon on the courts of the Cotwells club in the doubles for their third and decisive match of the series, the players from the United States won the international round and the right to challenge France for the bowl.

Under a sun that did the "kiss of death" job of producing perspiration on the unsheltered brow of five thousand spectators, Johnny Van Ryn of New Jersey and Wilmer Allison of Texas administered the knockout blow to Germany's tennis hopes for 1929.

In four sparkling sets they defeated Daniel Prean and Hans von Denhauer by scores of 9-11, 6-4, 6-3. The German stars, each of whom had tasted
