

FARM BOARD IS TO HOLD MEET

Stabilization of Wheat Situation Declared One Goal of Group

asked to appear before the board were not made public. It was said, however, that the list includes officials of 11 state farmer elevator associations in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oklahoma and Texas. Farmer-owned commission agencies at Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Enid, Oklahoma, and Hutchinson, Kansas, also will be represented.

Benefits of Meeting Are Anticipated

The board feels its statement said, "that such a meeting will provide a valuable opportunity whereby officials of these farmer associations may come more closely in touch with the work of the board itself and with the possibility of assisting in the marketing of wheat which could be rendered under the agricultural marketing act."

By turning to the wheat situation, the board has undertaken the solution of one phase of the farm relief problem which was often cited by those who had a hand in obtaining the enactment of a farm relief bill.

The Chicago meeting, however, will find the board still without its member intended to speak for the wheat industry. President Hoover has a number of men under consideration for this post but as yet has not been able to decide upon one.

ROBIN CONTINUES UPON ITS FLIGHT

Louis firms and the makers of the Challenger motor with which the plane is powered.

The craft swung in wide circles above Lambert-St. Louis field throughout the day, at a measured speed of about sixty miles an hour, and continued over its air path tonight.

Upon passing its 275th hour the "St. Louis Robin" had traveled more than 16,000 miles, consumed more than 2,300 gallons of gasoline, over 105 gallons of oil, and the propeller had revolved more than 20,000,000 times. It had made 49 contacts with its refueling plane for all purposes.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 24—(AP)—Having run up more than a full week of flying on its barograph the endurance plane Billion Dollar City tonight was zooming toward an undetermined goal, that of surpassing whatever record the St. Louis Robin is destined to set. One hundred and 72 hours of flying were completed by the Houston craft at 5:49:54 p. m.

A light refueling was completed at 4 p. m., and the nightly load of gas, oil and food was taken on before darkness fell.

The hour of 6:22:54 p. m., marked the passing of the mark set by the Kely-Robbins plane at Fort Worth several weeks ago and the Cleveland endurance mark fell at 7:50:54.

Glenn L. Loomis and Joe Glass, pilots of the plane were in good physical condition and their ship was working with precision.

CREATIVE SELLING HELD LATE TREND

mind that he is selling service, not land or structures, and to this end his preparation should be thorough. Herren told the realtors. The adequate preparation should include knowledge of the real estate listed, to be gained through a careful survey of property and as much knowledge as possible to learn about the prospect himself. Were this end of the business more carefully studied, the public would soon discard its notion of realtors as persons working only for a juicy commission, Herren said.

Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Oregon and chairman of the house ways and means committee, gave the principal address at the morning session, with brief talks given by Governor Patterson, Mayor T. A. Livesley and J. F. Ulrich, president of the host board. George A. Spencer of Seattle, president of the northwest body, handled the gavel for the morning session.

CAN NOW DO ANY WORK

Denison, Texas.—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and the Pills for Constipation. I can certainly praise your medicines for what they have done for me and I wish you success in the future. I can do any kind of work now and when women ask me what has helped me I recommend your medicines. I will answer any letters I receive asking about them."

Convention Being Brief Jots on The Realtors Convention

Who says realtors can talk only in terms of houses and lots and cash? Listen to this bit of advice in one of the opening-day speeches: "Don't throw your mouth into high gear until your brains start working."

A. John Berge, sales counselor with the national real estate association, who is here to assist in conducting the conference on salesmanship, spends as many spare moments as he can riding locomotives—on the line. Anyway, that's one of his hobbies. Confidently to the scores of realtors. Incidentally, to relieve the monotony of the four-day trip from the east, he and William Herren, also on the national body, sat for four or five hours Tuesday afternoon in the cab of the biggest locomotive in the world.

"America" and "God Save the King" shared equal honors in the opening program Wednesday morning, the latter being sung by the audience in deference to the realty members from British Columbia. The Union Jack, too, displayed prominently with the Stars and Stripes, betokened the presence of the province realtors, who are members of the northwest association.

You couldn't tell by looking at the program—and by the way, it's a neat one—that the ladies were anything but wives. And that despite the fact that several dozen of the women are realtors in their own right. In fact, in Portland the women realtors have a board of their own, and that board is well represented here. Mrs. T. Keller, president of the Portland women, had planned to be in attendance, but illness had a say-so and she couldn't come. This started out to say not a single realty woman—nor a married one—has a place on the convention program proper.

A garden party and dance Wednesday, a theatre party this morning, inspection of the linen mills this afternoon, organ recital tonight; a no-host luncheon, bridge and the annual banquet Friday fill the ladies' entertainment program. The rest of the time they sit and listen to the men talk. They were mighty good listeners Wednesday, but nobody knows grams and the expenditure there-in involved.

Hawley said that the present taxation system was especially unjust to real estate, with the production of wealth there from 50 per cent now and taxes 80 per cent, as compared to production of wealth a hundred years ago of 90 per cent. Tax, the congressman stated, should be measured by ability to pay.

A past president's dinner at the Marion, where realtors are making their headquarters and an old-time dance for the entire group at the armory were held last night.

FRENCH DON'T LIKE AMERICANS, WORD

There is more bitter feeling against Americans and Englishmen among the peasant people of France, than there is against the Germans, declared Frank Miller, chairman of the state public service commission, in an address before the Salem Rotary club at its Wednesday luncheon. His topic was his recent tour around the world.

Reasons for this feeling, he said, with respect to the Americans are the United States' refusal to cancel the war debt, and the claims that America saved France from defeat in the World war. Their view is rather that France saved the United States from a German invasion and conquest.

With all of its suffering, misery and death, the World war was a good thing for Europe, Mr. Miller said, because it brought home to the old world nations, the realities of modern life.

Despite the bitterness against living Americans, the graves of American war victims in France are carefully tended and highly respected, the speaker said.

One unworthy condition which still exists as an aftermath of the war, is the presence of large bodies of Singaleses and other colored troops from French possessions, in the Rhine region of Germany.

South Liberty Street Fill is Oiled For Use

Oiling has been completed on the South Liberty street fill between Trade street and the new bridge. Sand screenings are to be placed over the oil and within a few days the street at this point will be in the best condition for travel that it will be until paving is completed next year. The North High street fill also has been graded and smoothed recently.

Fifty Million Candle Power Are Used in "Big Top" Film

Fifty million candle power of light was required to illuminate the circus "big top" at the Paramount studios in Hollywood where scenes for "Dangerous Curves," Clara Bow's all-talking comedy were being filmed. This production opens at the Elsinore theatre, Saturday for a four-day run.

Clara Bow, known to thousands as the "It" girl, appears as a circus performer and Richard Arlen is her leading man.

Four portable motor generators provided the electricity for the battery of lamps.

Seventy-five electricians manned the equipment, under the direction of Earl Miller, head of the studio electrical department.

The tent this 50,000,000 candle power of light illuminated was 260 feet long, 160 feet wide and 65 feet high. Two hundred circus performers appeared in the big show scenes.

In this picture, Miss Bow, known to thousands as the "It" girl, appears as a circus performer and Richard Arlen is her leading man.

General White Will Take Tour Inspecting Camp

Inspection of Camp Clatsop, Oregon National Guard training grounds, and several days of vacation are on the program of Brigadier General George A. White, commanding the 82nd brigade, who left here Wednesday noon for the camp.

Possible improvements before next summer will be surveyed and construction of new bath houses east of the tent area will be inspected. Two or three permanent latrines with furnaces capable of heating enough water for several companies are to be added to the two already in use by next summer.

MCDONALD APPEALS TO CIRCUIT COURT

An oddity in legal procedure came up at the courthouse Wednesday, when J. H. McDonald, properly holder along the 12th street road extension to the south Pacific highway, appealed his case for damages out of the county court into the circuit court. McDonald was awarded an amount he deemed too small, by the county court for right of way desired by the latter in its improvement of the 12th street road to the highway.

When McDonald brought court action, the county court decided the road was not of sufficient importance to cause litigation and announced that it would not carry on its program of improvement.

McDonald's appeal is said to have been taken to protect his right to appeal.

Haas Funeral Is Staged Wednesday

Funeral services for the late Nicholas J. Haas, oldest Oregon state employe with relation to length of service, were held in the local Catholic church here Wednesday. Mr. Haas died in Portland Monday following an operation.

The state department, in which Mr. Haas was employed for many years, was closed during the funeral hour.

FORGER SENTENCED

PENDLETON, Ore., July 24.—(AP)—Jack Bates, who pleaded guilty to forgery charges, today was sentenced to not more than four years in the state penitentiary.

Mr. Fisher said the law was enacted primarily as an incentive to persons against whom penalty and interest had been assessed to pay the amount of their original tax.

It was said that the Clatsop county delegation in the legislature was active in having the law passed.

"Stands up under heat"
— says CLOW of Independence

"I thought you would like to know the results that I have had in the use of your Cyclo Motor Oil and Associated Gasoline and Associated Distillate that I have been using in my Chevrolet car and John Deere Tractor," writes Mr. Clow.

"The ability of Cyclo Motor Oil to stand up under heat has proven itself to me time and time again. Your slogan, 'Endurance Beyond Belief' is quite as appropriate as your gasoline slogan, 'More Miles to the Gallon.'"

Drive in at the red, green and cream station or garage and fill up with Cyclo Motor Oil. No motor oil deposits less carbon. It has amazing stability, maximum lubrication value. Enjoy fine motor performance with this oil of "Endurance Beyond Belief."
