KIWANIANS INVITE MANY TO MEETING

Kiwanians in the northwest district reported more than 4,500 have received a special invitation from the Salem Kiwanis club to attend the northwest district conference to be held in Salem August 18, 19 and 20.

In addition to a special invitation, everyone of the 4,500 Kiwanians in the northwest has received a copy of the Chamber of Commerce "Trail 'Em to Salem" folder. One side of the folder is a 1927 state highway map and on the other side information about Salem.

The Salem Kiwanis club issued a special edition of the "Trail 'Em to Salem" folder, using two pages for a special invitation to all Kiwanians in the northwest to come to Salem.

Ralph H. Cooley, president of the Kiwanis club, and Scott Page, general convention chairman, both state that the "Trail 'Em to Salem" folder has created unusual interest in the coming convention.

In addition to publicity already mailed to all Kiwanians in the northwest, the Kiwanis club is preparing to send to all Kiwanians a special pictorial folder of Salem.

"There is one thing sure," said Mr. Page, "and that is, we are putting Salem on the map with all the publicity we are mailing, inviting Kiwanians and families to come and visit us August 18, 19, and 20."

KOHLER IMPRESSED BY GERMAN PEOPLE

"Everything is order. The people possess an alert spirit. I am impressed with this part of Germany. Great attention is given to outdoor sport life for the people."

So writes Dr. Henry Kohler, Williamsite university professor of English literature who is abroad for the summer. Dr. Kohler wrote to some Salem friends while he was at Bonn, the home-place of Beethoven.

In England there was a myriad of things to do, the professor relates. In London he looked up many historical places associated with writers and with the great men of history. "In London and in the alluring old English towns there are surprises everywhere, aged houses that astonish me with their sturdy charm, old graveyards that are a feast for thought, ruins of walls and castles that are rich in historical interest, lovely old churches that are rich in historical interest, and cathedrals that in themselves, even when in some wayside spot off the highway, are treasure places for the visiting. The country is charming with delightful vistas at every turn."

Dr. Kohler has visited Brussels and Cologne while on his trip. He will go to Switzerland and France before his return late in September.

A new scenic highway from Cumberland Gap to Pinnacle Mountain, running through Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, has been opened to traffic.

Dr. Tully, Presbyterian Pastor, Writes Details Of Voyage Across Pacific

A letter simply descriptive of life on board ship bound for the Orient, has just been received in Salem from Dr. N. K. Tully by one member of his congregation. Dr. Tully tells at length of his trip across, as follows:

Africa Maru, July 8, 1927
Tomorrow we shall sight our first Japanese land, the northeast corner of the northern big island. We shall reach Yokohama about Wednesday noon. We caught a glimpse of the Aleutian Islands as we were away north, getting into position to ride southward on the Behring current. That is the reason why it was so shiveringly cold for many days. Today has been pleasant. When we land heat will greet us. We saw many whales and porpoises on the way over but no ships. Going back we shall ride the Japanese current, which flows at a rate of over two miles an hour. Thus we shall gain nearly 50 miles a day and get home sooner.

"The officers and crew have been very cordial. I have been impressed by the hearty laugh of the seamen. Also, by the remarkable ease of some of the officers and officers and crew took charge of our Fourth of July sports, supplied the prizes, and entered in heartily themselves.

Lectures Enjoyed
"There are 117 in our party, all university graduates and professional people except three or four students. The morning hours have been spent in listening to lectures on China and Japan, their history, art, social and political conditions. When we land the party will separate into study groups according to inclination. I shall go with the economic group, for they will enter factories, and make other observations to see how the plain people live.

In the evening we have had alternate solid instruction and diverting fun. Two plays have been presented by members of the group; the last one, the most pretentious, will come tonight.

Japan Feels Insulted
In addition, the captain of the ship, through an interpreter, has made us two pleasant speeches. One was general, polite and complimentary. The other was on the art of navigation, Commodore Perry, and the enormity of the exclusion act. He is a very fine man, and a good master of a ship. Japan is deeply hurt by that act. Moreover, America is in a very bad position. Under the old arrangement only 148 high-class workers were coming in under the supervision of the Japanese government. Now Japan having removed her oversight through our insult, 3500 or 5000 comparatively undesirable Japanese are being smuggled in. It serves us jolly well right.

There are five preachers on board, six Y. W. C. A. secretaries, numerous teachers, and a number of intellectual whatnots. I don't like a lot of their cigarette-smoking or their sake (rice whiskey) drinking. It makes me think more than ever of American prohibition. There is nothing but folly in some of these saturated asses. It needs to be remembered that we are not on American territory on this ship, so no law is broken; only essential vulgarity revealed. There is no salvage in college degrees.

Church Held At Sea
We had church last Sunday. The Methodist minister from Brookline, Mass., preached a good sermon. It made me smile in the evening to see a cigarette-smoking huzzie sing the hymn, "I Would Be Pure, for There are Those Who Care." She wasn't pure. Her breath stunk. The first Sunday out they made me preach. We had a big crowd, but so far as I could see no conduct was changed. All they did was to compliment me profusely, which I took with several grains of salt.

The first three days we had a rolling sea and considerable sickness. I enjoyed the motion. Yesterday we cut through the edge of a modest storm. Today the ocean has been as glass. The colors that come and go are superb. The Lord knew what to do when he set out to make an ocean. I am glad to have the opportunity to cross it, to see these ancient lands, and to observe their people, but am not yet persuaded that the East is better than the West and shall be glad to get home. Whether a trip like this is profitable or not depends on the one who takes it.
N. K. TULLY.

CARPENTERS PICNIC TO LURE BIG CROWD

From 750 to 1000 people are expected to attend the annual picnic of Carpenters Union No. 1065 which is to be held Sunday in Hager's grove beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning.

With 75 merchants offering prizes for sports events a large number of entries is expected for the numerous matches which will be made a feature of the day's program.

While the carpenter's union membership does not exceed 200, families of the members as well as friends and the merchants of the city, all of whom are invited to attend the picnic, are expected to make the attendance one of the largest in the history of the annual affair.

N. A. McNabb has been active on the committee of arrangements and has made provisions for the securing of the prizes from the merchants.
