

Local News Briefs

Dean Submits Report—A closer association and cooperation between the dean's office and the principal's office is recommended by Miss Mabel Robertson, dean of girls at the high school, in her annual report just submitted to the office of the city school superintendent. The problem of petty pilfering at the high school would be lessened if the school should see fit to employ a matron to "police" locker rooms while school is in session, the dean suggests. Further recommendations include placing the faculty in charge of the point system, and renumbering of lockers. A review of the work of the Girl's League is contained in her report.

34 SALEMITES CLIMB MT. HOOD

Chemeketan Jaunt Attracts Many Persons From This City

Thirty-four persons will be in the party from Salem climbing Mt. Hood today under the organization of the Chemeketan club. Seven decided Friday and early Saturday to make the trip and several more were expected to leave Salem late Saturday to join the party at Timberline.

Clear skies and not much wind are predicted for today while the climbers will be going up. When the party of 52 from Salem made the climb last summer, August 4 and 5, the Willamette valley was so overcast with clouds that all the party was able to see was a rift marking the course of the river and the tops of other peaks in the Cascade range. Central and eastern Oregon was clear and made some compensation for the cloudiness to the westward.

Gene Dowling of Portland, recognized as one of the ablest guides for the mountain, will be chief guide in the climb from Timberline to the summit. R. E. Kittredge was in charge until the ascent began.

Approximately eight hours will be taken for the ascent, the party leaving Timberline at 3 o'clock this morning and crossing the top shortly after 11 o'clock. Numerous short rests are on the schedule for the climb. One rest of a half hour was taken shortly after sunrise when grape paint was put on.

The latest additions to the party were Justice O. P. Coshov, Barbara Pierce, Augusta Nodturd, Donald Johnson, Ellis Doan, Art Wagstaff and C. A. Kells. Mrs. Dowling will also make the trip. Joining the party late Saturday night were Carleton Roth, Joe Fallon and J. P. Prescott.

The party leaving from Salem included Mr. and Mrs. Kittredge, Alice Kittredge, Mary Shepard, Mike Panek, L. L. Laws, Francis Laws, Echo Baldersee, Hazel Duncan, Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Hill, Charlotte Hill, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Noble, William A. Merriott, Marjorie Merriott, George Fake, Ted Hobart, John Robins, Helen Woods, Esther Lisle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Binkhorn, William McCleod, Otto Gronke, Zelma Oehler, Bessie Smith and Milton Taylor.

Ideas Picked up at Style Show in California

"Hips—velvets—Spanish types—ecru lace—form fitting princess styles—extreme skirt-lines—these are the bases of the fall fashions," says Mrs. Dena Mack who with Mrs. Audrey Hobson also of Mack's, returned this week from a ten-day buying trip into California. While in Los Angeles, Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Hobson attended the Style Show and Fashion Review at the Biltmore hotel, July 23, 24 and 25, sponsored by the Associated Apparel Manufacturers of Los Angeles. This three day showing centered around a novelty revue entitled "The Night Club." To the fashionable night club came all types of women fashionably gowned and the music and dancing formed the entertainment of this thoroughly serious matter—thoroughly serious for among the spectators were buyers from the finer shops of the western United States. In addition to the central revue, manufacturers and wholesalers presented small fashion showings in various rooms of the hotel. Here the models were actresses, professional models and society women.

"The fall styles are more feminine than for many years; especially are the sports clothes attractive," says Mrs. Mack. "The new copper shades follow close upon the summer sunburns and are complete—there is a proper shade for every woman. Lorraine blue is new, and the old standbys of navy blue, and black and white are good."

"Everything is formfit, and even street dresses have uneven hemlines, while evening gowns are very extreme and carry bows, tiers of lace and full circular skirts. A dinner dress without a lace bertha is seldom seen."

"Dress coats are also princess and carry lots of fur; many of them have large flounces below the hipline and most of them are uneven as to hem."

"The medium sized floppy brim is good, but the best hats are extreme, brimless in front with large pleated brims in back, Spanish sailor, and the tri-come hat. Hatters' plush and cele' are the leading materials."

"Oh, we mustn't forget the sports things—they are prettier than ever before. Knit suits in beautiful fall and winter colors—simple but very feminine are the favorites. The newest and most popular are Roman-striped with the laced up neck opening. The whole show was beautiful, wonderfully lighted, and well-staged, and a prettier type of woman is modelling; no more straight boyish figures—to look well in the new fall styles you must have hips!"

Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Hobson spent five days in Los Angeles and five days in San Francisco and did much of their fall buying on the trip.

COUNTY TAX ROLL WILL BE REVISED

Deputy Assessor Jones begins work Monday entering all real estate transfers made in Marion county since March 1 on the 1929 tax roll of acreage in the county, a roll just completed by Deputy Joe Shelton of the assessor's office.

Duplicates of all real estate transactions going through the books of local abstract firms are sent to the assessor's office and these are duly entered on the tax rolls. In this manner the ownerships of property in the county are kept clear.

Last year Mr. Jones brought the property maps of Salem and its additions in the assessor's office up to date.

PRUNE DRYERS BEING PUT UP

Polk County to Have Unusually Large Crop This Season

DALLAS, Aug. 3.—(Special)—That Polk county is expecting a larger prune crop than for the past several years is evidenced by the construction of several new dryers adjacent to Dallas, and the enlargement of old ones. New dryers are being built by Henry Fern near Falls City, W. H. Elliott east of Dallas, and J. De Jong of Ballston.

The three commercial prune packing plants located in Dallas are making preparations for an estimated pack of 20,000,000 pounds of prunes. The California packing company has not operated their plant since 1927. It gives employment to 65 persons with a season of three to five months. The Polk county co-operative growers employ about 20 people on an average of three months. The J. C. Tracy packing company employs 24 people over a period of three to five months. Taken as a whole this represents a very substantial payroll to Dallas, and also gives work to many women who would not otherwise find employment here.

J. C. Tracy in addition to operating the packing plant, is also a commercial dryer of prunes and expects to handle 2500 tons of green fruit this year in his dryers. Mr. Tracy also has a large prune orchard east of Dallas.
