

JERSEY MEN HAVE PICNIC

Silverton Jersey Breeders Discuss Standards For Registration

SILVERTON, August 27.—Silverton Jersey breeders who attended the annual Jersey Cattle club picnic at Woodburn Sunday report that they are very interested in the question discussed there.

One of the speakers expressed the desire that grade Jerseys who had pure breeding back of them for two generations be given certificates of registration. A vote on this showed that the large majority were opposed to the suggestion.

The suggestion that the registered Jersey standard be raised met with greatest approval. Methods of obtaining this end were discussed and the suggestion that all Jerseys from registered stock be made to meet a type and production test before they be given certificates of registration met with much approval from the 109 interested Jersey people who attended the meeting.

Silverton Jersey men expressed themselves in favor of such a ruling as it would greatly tend to raise the standard of registered stock. Breeders with registered cattle would not then be tempted to retain every animal which was subject to registration regardless of its value as a producer. Members of the Jersey club are urging all of the club members to keep a record of their production and to retain only such cattle as are good producers.

A number of Silverton Jersey men report that they intend to show at the state fair in September.

VISITORS MANY IN SILVERTON HOMES

SILVERTON, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Jane Nelson who has been spending the summer visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Larson, has left for her home in Kansas. Mrs. Nelson was very favorably impressed with Oregon and expressed the hope that she would be able to make another visit here in two years.

A number of Silverton women who have gone to Woodburn this week to be employed in the cannery there include Mrs. Bertha Morley, Mrs. William Jones, Miss Reta Rahn and Miss Verday Oeder.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaufman of Salem spent Sunday with Silverton friends. Mr. Kaufman is a son of William Kaufman. For a number of years they lived in Illinois, but have returned to make Oregon their home. They came west again early last spring.

O. Lewis has purchased the O. P. Grambo home on North Second street. Mr. Lewis intends to grow beans and raise chickens on the acreage connected with the house. The deal was made through the Homebuilders' Agency.

Mrs. L. W. Coughenour and son, Orin, returned Sunday evening from a few days spent at Portland where they were guests of Mrs. Coughenour's brother, Jack Moser.

The caterpillar pest has invaded the Silverton territory and great numbers of large nests are reported in trees and shrubs. As many as nine nests have been found in one tree alone. Silvertonians are urged to look over their trees and shrubs and destroy all nests.

Mrs. Marie Bunniss will return to her work at the state school for the deaf and dumb at Salem on Monday and her brother, Reuben Jensen will go to Astoria Sunday where he is a member of the high school faculty. Both Mrs. Bruness and Mr. Jensen have been spending the summer at the home of their mother, Mrs. Anna K. Jensen.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT NARROWLY AVERTED

JEFFERSON, Aug. 27.—What might have proved a serious accident last Saturday afternoon as W. F. Klampe was coming to Jefferson from Salem on the Pacific highway occurred when Mr. Higbee of Turner was coming onto the highway from the Marion-Turner road, and at the junction, cut in ahead of Mr. Klampe, hitting his car bending a fender. Mr. Higbee stopped his car and promised to pay the damages.

New Road Signs Prove Helpful

HOPEWELL, August 27.—Some new road signs were put up last Thursday at the Amity, Hopewell corner. They will be a great help to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin White of Spokane, Washington, were visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bosshardt, and Mrs. Mable White of this community last week.

Mrs. Dora Phelps, Portland, was recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Green Loop.

Mrs. Mable White and daughter Golda, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin White were in McMinnville shopping Friday.

Miss Flora Mays of Salem spent the week end with her father W. May.

Mrs. Howard Stephens and son Vernon had dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Moe, Sunday.

Lake Brook Hop Ranch Now a City With 1200 Busy and Happy People

By MRS. G. N. THOMPSEN KEIZER, August 26.—One of the liveliest places in Keizer at the present time is the Livesley hop ranch, or Lake Brook ranch.

Claude Settlemier is the superintendent of the 364 acre ranch and almost in a night it has grown to be a thriving little city of over 1200 inhabitants.

The hop picking is on. Along the main business street you will find a general store managed by Mrs. Settlemier and their son George, a barber shop, a meat market with Harry Leavy manipulating the cleaver and the knife.

Mrs. A. Anderson with her two daughters and one son supervise the cook house, the only hotel in the place.

Mrs. Barbara Beck and Dwight Adams are directors of the health and recreation department. This is Mrs. Beck's fourth year at this ranch.

Dwight Adams, formerly of Salem high, is a prominent athlete of Willamette university and is well fitted to direct the athletic work at Lake Brook. There is a play ground for the kiddies and while the parents are working the children are cared for by Barbara or Dwight.

Moving pictures are shown three nights each week at the Lake Brook Elshorn. Home talent entertainment are given on the intervening nights. Every one who can sing, play any instrument, recite or do anything to entertain is enlisted in the service.

On Sunday mornings a Sunday school is held, and arrangements are being made to have a speaker for the morning services. Six Sunday school teachers were enlisted for teaching.

A reading room has been provided by Mr. Settlemier in the back of the store, where during leisure hours one may drop in and find plenty of good reading material. A newspaper "The Hop Vine Scratch" is published tri-weekly by the employees of Lake Brook. The personnel consists of an editor, manager, sports editor and several reporters.

Walter Johnson of Salem is the efficient deputy sheriff of this new town.

A postoffice is installed on the steps of the store noon and night.

Mr. Livesley and Mr. Settlemier are doing all in their power to make it pleasant and comfortable for their pickers.

"King of Kings" was the moving picture put on at Lake Brook Sunday evening.

Sports and Miss Wilma Sports from Salem.

NORTH HOWELL HAS EASTERN VISITORS

NORTH HOWELL, August 27.—Mrs. Clark Foster and little son Jimmie of Tacoma, and Mrs. Otto Graf of Seattle who have been visiting at the J. S. Coomler home, returned to their homes last Tuesday.

The ladies are sisters of Mr. Coomler.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Coomler, who have also been enjoying the hospitality of the Coomlers have returned to their home in Indianapolis. They left last Friday after a very interesting week at the beach.

Mrs. Alice K. Willis, a teacher on Taholah Island, Wash., has been calling on old friends and inspecting her property here the past week.

John Eagleson, ten year old son of Alice Sawyer Eagleson of Eddyville, who has been visiting relatives here for a week, returned to his mother's home last Sunday.

Mrs. Florence Oddie and sons, Gilbert and Harley and Miss Bernice Wiesner, who are camping near Independence in the Ed Hartley hop yards, spent Sunday at their homes here.

Owing to hop picking, evergreen blackberry picking and in general a busy time the weiner roast last Friday evening did not have a large attendance. However those who did attend enjoyed the bonfire and certainly had an abundance of weiners and marshmallows.

CALIFORNIA PEOPLE REMOVE TO TURNER

TURNER, Aug. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Ted Whitehead and two children have moved to Turner. They have occupied the J. E. Whitehead farm southwest of town for several years. The family spent the last few months with friends in California, but are glad to be in Oregon again.

Mrs. S. O. Baker and daughter Mrs. Barbara Snyder of Portland were in Turner with friends Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Baker reports that Mr. Baker has just passed his 80th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Baker kept the hotel in Turner for a number of years.

Charles Brown of St. Helens spent the weekend with his friend F. P. Rawley of The Turner Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Massey and two children of Klamath Falls were in town Friday evening meeting old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Massey were residents here a few years ago. Mr. Massey is a

Rare Volumes Treasured By Mr. and Mrs. Jones Of Fairview Scribe Finds

To a book lover all books are interesting but it is not often that one has the opportunity of seeing such rare old first edition volumes as owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Jones of Fairview.

An American Geography published in 1789, is interesting not only as an old book but in contrast with the school geographies of today it is a curious study.

Another book in the Jones' collection is an arithmetic text called "The Schoolmaster's Assistant" by Anthony Crego, published in 1824. An interesting feature of the book is the recommendation by Noah Webster which is in the preface to the text.

A dictionary published in 1836 by Walker is another member of the Jones collection. Perhaps most interesting of all however is the volume called "The Art of Angling" by R. Brooks which was published in Dublin in 1777. The old type, the binding and most of all the text of the book itself make it a rarely valuable volume.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Colby and children and Mrs. Colby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hasty, spent last Sunday at the beach. Mr. and Mrs. Hasty are here from the East on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schwab have had as their house guests Mrs. Clinger and daughter of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Riches went to Silverton Sunday afternoon to see Mrs. Riches mother Mrs. Laura Hubbs.

Rev. Confer was unable to fill his pulpit at the Christian church Sunday on account of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bear and young daughter spent the weekend in Portland with Mrs. Bear's brother Charles Gillett and family.

WOODBURN LAD RUNS INTO CAR; IS HURT

WOODBURN, Aug. 27.—The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, S. LeFebvre, aged 4, suffered minor injuries when he struck the fender of a car driven by Ray Gatt Monday afternoon.

The child was playing behind a car parked near the curb in front of his father's shoe shop and dashed out from behind it and ran into Gatt's car. The blow threw him to the pavement rather forcefully and his face was badly skinned. He is under the care of Dr. Donnelly who does not think there will be any ill effects from the accident other than a few bruises.
