KIWANIS BACKS LEGION CORPS

Committee Named to Assist in Raising $5000 For Louisville Trip

Without dissenting vote the Salem Kiwanis club Tuesday noon approved the chamber of commerce's support of the American legion drum corps which is to be sent south to Louisville, Kentucky at a cost of $5000 to Salem citizens. Sam Chambers, Harry Levy and Howard Hulsey were named a committee of three to represent the club in doing its part in sending the corps south.

Sam Chambers, asking club members for their support, reminded them that 11 months ago, when the drum corps returned from San Antonio, Texas, the citizens of Salem pledged their support to sending the boys back again this year.

At the noon luncheon the club members heard letters from Kiwanis leaders throughout the northwest in which appreciation of the manner in which Salem handled the meeting was uniformly expressed. T. Harry Gorman, governor of the northwest district, characterized the convention both in attendance and in the manner visitors were treated, as the best in the history of the northwest organization.

Scott Page, general chairman of the convention committee, said there would be some surplus in the treasury after all bills were paid. Doctor Henry Morris told Kiwanians that this was the first time in Kiwanis northwest history that a district convention had been self-supporting.

COURT PERFORMS PROBATE BUSINESS

Probate matters, routine in nature but important, occupied considerable of the time of County Judge Siegmund Tuesday.

How much is the proper fee for an attorney in an estate of more than $120,000 in value was a question raised by C. M. Byrd, executor of the estate of his father, W. H. Byrd, deceased. The attorney's fee agreed upon by the Marion county bar association amounts to $2582.35 but the executor and the heirs feel this is high. The matter is to be argued before Judge Siegmund Saturday morning.

The judge approved distribution of $5000 apiece to the three heirs. The executor states in his papers filed with the judge that he waives the customary fee allowed the executor which is equal to the amount sought by the attorney.

Three appraisers were named by the court for the estate of George W. Gash, deceased. Lillian M. Dewey made her final report to the court as administratrix of the estate of Franklin Hultzel, deceased.

Justine Daus asked the court to be discharged as executrix of the estate of J. F. Bezgs, deceased, on the ground that she had properly administered all the funds entrusted to her for delivery to the heirs. More than $18,000 was received from the estate.

The court discharged O. W. Erikson as guardian of Marie Knapp previously held incompetent, on the basis that she had regained her competency.

CONCRETE PILING IS USED FOR BRIDGES

The use of reinforced concrete piling for the first time in Marion county is being followed in the construction of two bridges east of the penitentiary on the road to Turner.

While the county pile driver and his crew are being used to place the piling, the costs of the operation is borne by the contractor for the work.

Under the process followed which replaces the using of wooden piling, the contractor builds forms and in these pours the concrete with suitable reinforcing being used. After a 30 day period during which the concrete hardens, the pile is raised into the air and then hammered into the bed of the stream over which the bridge is constructed. According to Roadmaster Frank Johnson the piles made of concrete will last indefinitely and seem to be as readily handled as wooden ones.

BRITISH CLAIM RIOTS QUELLED

Reports From London State Palestine Situation Under Control

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The colonial office officially stated tonight that the situation in Palestine was reported to be well in hand. All was quiet in Jerusalem and Jaffa but the county outside was still unsettled and subject to continuous organized attacks by Arabs on Jewish colonies.

The statement added that while the Trans-Jordan situation was not free from anxiety so far no actual disturbances had occurred. Officials of the colonial office stated that the death toll did not exceed 193 up to this morning, but they admitted the difficulty of checking the actual number of casualties.

As a means to ending the conflict the two strongest measures today were the manifesto by Moslem leaders calling on Arabs to cease rioting and the action of the Palestine government in closing the eastern frontier to prevent possible incursions by Trans-Jordanian Arabs.

The view of official quarters in London apart from some evident nervousness about Trans-Jordania, was that there was no danger of the Palestine trouble spreading to other Moslem countries or to the Mohammedan population of India. The official opinion was that the Palestine trouble was more local and racial although it was admitted religion was an important factor.

The Arab attitude was described as more anti-Jewish than anti-British and it was pointed out that so far as is known at present no Christians have been deliberately molested. For these reasons authoritative observers believed there was no reason for other Moslem peoples to take a hand although the Moslem world naturally sympathized with its Palestine brothers.
