Ducks Win 16th Straight Game by Beating Angels

By CURTIS

Curtis Davis, Rickreall boy who is pitching this year for the San Francisco Seals, was the Portland Ducks' first victim in the big par-ade Sunday that put the Ducks in a solo lead in the Coast league. It isn't to Davis' discredit that he was put on skids as an incident Walters Pitches Entire Tilt to the Portland team's spectacular rally, when all the other S. F. pitchers had been treated the same way. At that, only two of Portland's runs in that game were really chargeable to Davis. Some of the others resulted from hits into the overflow crowd in the their sixteenth straight today at outfield.

Reports don't state whether or not there were any double plays, but if there were, the scorer probably recorded them "Girod to Girod to Girod."

Informal reports from Coquille that Billy Sullivan hit a homer and three singles were a trifle inaccurate. He hit two three baggers, resulting in three of Eugene's runs. Speaking of gate receipts, we'll bet Tom Turner has learned something in the last week about whether a winning team pays or not. It's a cinch that a crowded park more than makes up for the difference between paying good ball players and mediocre ones.

For years we've heard that Portland was the best baseball town on the coast if given any sort of ball team to support. Now it's being proven. But Turner, or if reports are true, the boys back in Philadelphia who really control the Portland club slid along for years giving Portland mediocre ball and charging up losses at the gate against the profits from deveoping green players and selling
