Both Counts are 7 to 3; Hollywood Grabs Two From Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Seals snatched two games from Portland today, winning in the morning 7-3, and taking the afternoon affair by the same count. Jack Knight, former Portland twirler, pitched the Seals to victory in the first encounter. He blanked his former team mates for five innings. The Seals garnered 15 hits in the afternoon off Walters and Tomlin. A five run rally in the third frame gave the locals a substantial lead which was not threatened.

CORWIN HEIN MAKES FINE MARK SHOOT Salem Boy at Camp Perry Has 98 Out of Possible 100 Points

Corwin Hein, Salem national guardsman who was selected as one of the 12 best guard riflemen in the state to enter the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, has already made an enviable record for himself, despite the fact this is his first trip to the matches. Hein took 98 out of a possible 100 points in the Leech cup match, and in order to do this he had to fire almost perfect scores for seven shots each at ranges of 100, 200 and 300 yards. Hein placed high in this event, which several years ago was won by an Oregon guard member. Hein also scored 93 out of a possible 100 in what is known as the rapid fire championship match. He will leave Camp Perry for Oregon Saturday, arriving in Salem on September 20.

National guard staff members here also are elated over the high place made by the Oregon 156th Infantry team which defeated all national guard teams of the country, all regular army teams and all navy teams, only to lose the national title to a team from the marine corps.

WILLAMETTE OUTLOOK AT OPENING POOR

Nine Run Rally in Seventh Wins Game for Senators

LOCALS IN TIE WITH MT. SCOTT

Lamb Starts Fireworks With Aingle; Bigbee Goes on With Attack

The Salem Senators made an auspicious beginning in the intercity fall tournament by defeating the hard hitting Oswego team 11 to 8 Sunday on Olinger field, while Mt. Scott was beating Montavilla 3 to 2 in a tight battle in Portland. The game here was full of action, and was all Oswego's up to the "lucky seventh" when the Senators staged a rally that brought in nine runs.

Lamb started the fireworks in that frame with a single, sprinting around to third when Bigbee followed suit. Marlowe also singled, scoring Lamb. Rentfrow walked, filling the bases. Ford, who had been stingy with hits up to that time, was relieved at this point by Kaiser. Foss couldn't see any difference between the offerings of the two hitters, and he laced out another hit which scored Bigbee and Marlowe.

Run Goes For Hit Hafentfeldt varied the process by laying down a bunt which caught the visitors napping. Rentfrow scored, Foss took third, and Hafentfeldt was safe at first, the bunt going for a hit. After Edwards filled out to the pitcher, Russell hit one that got away from Smith, Oswego shortstop, permitting Foss and Hafentfeldt to score. Mack struck out, Russell meanwhile taking second on a wild pitch. Lamb, coming to bat for the second time in the inning, leaned on Kaiser's fast ball for a homer, scoring Russell ahead of him. Bigbee singled, stole second and kept going when the catcher's throw to the base went wild. He scored on the play.

Marlowe Filled Out Oswego played in tough luck in the sixth inning when Lovelace hit a ball that would have been a homer but failed to touch first base as he went around. The ball was returned there and he was called out. It was the third out, so Smith who was on first when the hit was made, was not credited with a run.

Greater Than Firpo?

By HARDIN BURNLEY

GREATER than Firpo? That's a tough question to answer, particularly at this stage of the Giant Gauchito's development. But what follows may help you decide this momentous question for yourself. Vittorio Maria Campolo, aptly dubbed the Big Horse of the Argentine, towers 6 feet 7 inches skyward, and hefts close to 230 pounds. A formidable fighting man. Following his sensational knockout of Tom Heehey in nine hectic rounds (beating Champion Gene Tunney's record by two sessions), Vittorio Maria has usurped the sports page headlines. He is undoubtedly the most discussed heavyweight in the ring today. Campolo is close to 23 years old, and is of Italian-South American parentage. Despite five years of ring service, he has fought only twelve professional bouts, with about as many again as a simon-pure, Vittorio has flattened most of his opponents, and once snuffed rain himself, when Monte Mann, the tall Nebraska legislator, knocked him over in two rounds. Far from being discouraged, and shortly after topped big Roberto Robert, who had made quite a record for himself in New York. This last victory resulted in the Argentine being called to the pugilistic big time. Campolo's first pro bout in this country was against Arthur De Kuh, another giant, at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. In this fight, Vittorio displayed a punishing right to the heart which quickly appalled much of De Kuh's enthusiasm. The bout lasted three hectic bouts when De Kuh, who had been warned several times, was disqualified for fouling. Then came his sensational set-to with the veteran Heehey. It was the most thrilling heavy-Phillies Best Cardinals ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—In a heavy hitting game here today, the Phillies won the final contest of their series with the Cardinals 9 to 3. The Phillies scored five runs on six hits in the eighth.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Pirates staged a four run rally in the seventh inning today to win a hard hitting game from Brooklyn 9 to 7. Each team scored 1 run in the first three innings. Ervin Brame went the route although he allowed 14 hits.

KIWANIS GOLF TEAM WINNERS

Rotarians Bested; Score Is 13 1/2 to 10 1/2; Lions Out in First Round

The Kiwanis club golf team emerged victorious in the interclub tournament sponsored by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions organizations. The games were played Sunday on the Illabe club course, and regulations were as strict as in more widely heralded matches. The match was played on the hole-to-hole system, one point being won by each member for winning nine holes, and an additional point for winning 18 holes. There was possibility for each member to win three points, as the course was 18 holes.

In the first round the Kiwanis team walked away from the Lions with a score of 19 1/2 to 4 1/2. The Rotarians also made an impressive showing against the Lions by winning 16 to 8. The final match, played between the Kiwanis and Rotary teams, was taken 13 1/2 to 10 1/2 by the Kiwanians. The eight men who shot for the winning club were F. M. Hicks, Rex Sanford, I. M. Doughton, Oscar Lapham, F. E. Needham, and Dr. C. K. Yehrs.

Salem and Portland Boxing Commissions Agree to Work Together to Get A1 Fights

Boxing commissions of Salem and Portland will cooperate to the fullest extent in the future, it was agreed when the proposal was ratified by the local commission at a meeting Monday. The result will be all for the benefit of the fans, for fighters will know that unless they give the crowd its money's worth in Salem, they won't be permitted to go on in Portland; and if they "dog it" in Portland, Salem will be one place where they can't expect any consideration.

Better Talent Available No serious cases of this kind have come up in recent months, but it is expected that the agreement will have a wholesome effect. There is the other consideration also, that fighters brought in from a distance for Portland bouts, will be available for the ring shows here. Several members of the Salem boxing commission will attend the card in Portland tonight. Things are shaping up well for Thursday night's card, and Matchmaker Harry Plant expects to be able to announce his semi-final bout tonight, Ted Rogoway, popular Portland middleweight, will be one of the principals. With respect to the main event, featuring Teddy Fox and Art Akers, there is plenty of "stove league" gossip to be heard. Fans in whose minds Teddy's feat in polishing off Willie Gordon a few weeks ago looms large, have a notion that Akers, just because he is little known here, will be a "set-up." But there are plenty of others who recall the sudden blow with which Akers stopped Charles O'Leary in the first round of the semi-final on the same card. Akers Held Good Rumors also filter up from the gymnasium in the armory basement that Akers is showing even more cleverness than he had an opportunity to display on that occasion. It is recalled that Fox has never fought a lad who leads with his right, and that style may prove puzzling to the local champion. At any rate the fans are legion who concede Akers more than an outside chance for victory.

MRS. SUNDAY TO SUE LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Preparation of a suit for separate maintenance of $1250 per month in behalf of Mrs. Harriet Sunday, wife of George Sunday, eldest son of the evangelist, was announced today by Attorney Richard Cantillon, disclosing a separation which he said occurred several weeks ago.

Curt Comments

By CURTIS

"All it takes to make a football team is 11 big bruisers and a good coach." That used to be a common saying. It isn't so true today. Big bruisers aren't so all-important, though they have their uses. Anyway as football is played today, it takes more than eleven of them.

The first contingent of freshman aspirants for Spec Keene's Willamette football team looks mighty good. There are some big boys in the bunch, and they appear to be active. Starting the training season a week early is a bit rough on some of the veterans, who aren't able to shake the jobs they have held all summer.

Monday's workout was a light one, but oh, how hard the ground looked, and how warm those white sweat shirts must have been! "Coach" Buck Winslow looked about as fit as any of his pupils. Spec will probably be using him for a tackling dummy a couple of days hence.

You fans who saw the game at Olinger field Sunday have one on us, because we weren't back from our vacation yet. From reports, it must have been a hummer. Some anti-golf bug must have set the fire that burned down the Luckiamute Country club's clubhouse Monday.

We heard about a very Scotch young golferess yesterday. She played one of the local courses, starting with four balls. She lost two of them and had eight when she finished the nine holes. "I was all fed up on this place anyway," said the fat hog as they loaded him into a truck to be hauled to market.

LETTERMEN FEW AT INITIAL DAY

Five Lettermen Looked for This Week; Game Near With Corvallis

Not for several seasons have football prospects at Willamette university appeared so gloomy on the opening day of practice, as they did Monday when only two lettermen were out for the initial workout. The two who were on hand were Paul Ackerman, center with two years of experience, and Charles Gill, guard on last year's team.

Five more lettermen are slated to appear within the next two weeks, but with a game against Oregon State college looming up a week from Saturday, the situation is by no means pleasing. Garnie Cranor, star halfback who will be playing his fourth year, will not be able to come until three days before that game.

Experienced Men Lacking Aside from the two lettermen, the squad reporting Monday included only two other players who have had previous experience at Willamette; Jesse Deetz, a reserve halfback from the squad of two years ago, and Don Faber, a reserve lineman last year. The freshman contingent includes a number of promising candidates, especially linemen, Keith Jones and John Gottfried, who were Salem high's regular tackles for several seasons, were on hand. Other tackle prospects are Chet Packard, from Orville, Cal.; Bob Grant and Bob Houk, from Franklin high, Portland. John Brown, another arrival from Orville, is a likely looking center candidate. Backfield prospects include Eugene Ferguson, who played halfback at Washington high, Portland, and later at Oregon Normal; Virgil Smith from Myrtle Point, and Duvan, from St. Paul, Minn.

Jobs Retard Players McBea and Cardinal, who were among the most promising reserves last year, are scheduled to appear next Monday, when they will be able to break away from jobs with the highway department. John Versteeg, letterman tackle, is working in Salem and will probably turn out today. Other lettermen expected to put in an appearance before the end of the week are Percy Carpenter, tackle; Curtis French, halfback; and Bob Hillis, guard.

Coach Spec Keene put the squad through a light workout Monday afternoon after suits were issued, and promised two stiffer practices for today. Practice will be twice daily until the middle of next week, when classes will be started at the university.
