"Ole Swimmin' Holes" of North Howell Prove Very Popular With Residents

NORTH HOWELL, September 12.—With no promise of rain or cooler weather the "ole swimmin' holes" of North Howell continue to be as popular this month as they were during July and August. If you follow the road straight east past the church and Grange hall you will come to an old covered bridge over Pudding river near the Hartwell farm. Under this bridge is a very popular and much used swimming hole, which is easily accessible.

After the day's work in the onions or threshing or berry picking one can drive across the bridge and parking the car in the shade, take the footpath to the waters edge about 50 feet away. Another popular place is on the W. H. Stevens farm and here is found a sandy bank with a good diving board and plenty of shade near the water. To reach this place drive through the barn yard and pasture of the Stevens farm and then walk for a short distance down the sandy slope to the waters edge. Many prefer this because it is sandy and there is no gravel to hurt ones feet. Pudding river meanders in and out among the farms of North Howell like a twisting snake and it affords many a place to cool off during these warm days.

At the old Parkersville mill is another hole, not so shady perhaps but easily reached and on the Escon farm is another good one. There are also good swimming places on the farms owned by E. G. Wiesner and A. T. Cline and under the splendid new bridge over Pudding river near the Cline farm. Among the good swimmers who meet at these places we find Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Waltman, George and Alan Wiesner, George Cline, S. C. Rickard, Gib and Harley Oddie, Tom Bump, Elmer Peterson, Don Vinton, Ellsworth Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jefferson, Bernice Summers, Russ Coomler and ever so many others who just go and enjoy it all whether they can swim or not.

FINKE TO BE SENT TO PRISON MONDAY

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12. (AP)—Walter J. Finke, Jr., 17, who was sentenced to life imprisonment here today by Circuit Judge John Gilbert for the killing of Herbert Beem, his rival in love, will probably be taken to the state penitentiary at Salem Monday, the sheriff's office announced.

Finke was indicted on a charge of first degree murder but District Attorney Stanley Myers said he permitted the boy to plead guilty to a charge of second degree murder because of his youth. The final court hearing was carried out quickly and quietly. Relatives of the prisoner practically made up the small audience. Finke faced the court with a stolid countenance, his only sign of emotion being the working of his jaw and the quivering of his lips as he repeated the plea. The shooting occurred last May in the corridor of a high school here. Finke attempted to commit suicide after shooting Beem but wounded himself only slightly.
