Woodburn Kitten Now on Voyage to South America

WOODBURN, Sept. 16 — "Cecil," a small kitten belonging to the Henry Chapelle family is seeing the world aboard a trans-oceanic vessel which is carrying him to South America.

Charles Snivley, while in Woodburn during a leave from the ship on which he is radio operator, visited the Chapelle home and fell in love with the kitten and finally won the consent of the Chapelles to take Cecil to South America with him. Cecil is standing the sea voyage better than most people do and has made close friends with a police dog aboard the ship. Cecil and the dog are happy to-gether and furnish novel and interesting entertainment for everyone on board.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 6. — (AP) — American shipbuilders were called today by the senate investigating committee to tell on next Friday about the charge that they sent a representative of their interests to the unsuccessful Geneva naval limitations conference

The decision to call the shipbuilders first was seen as a determination by the committee to center the inquiry on them rather than on the individual, William B. Shearer, who says in a court suit that he was their Geneva agent. He will be called later.

Charles M. Schwab, the veteran chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, was among the first four shipbuilders summoned. The Bethlehem Steel corporation controls the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company, which was one of the three firms sued by Shearer for more than $250,-000 he alleges is due him for his Geneva work.
