No Changes Anticipated In Methodist Posts Here As Yearly Meeting Nears

Mill Street Church May be Admitted to Oregon Conference, which Convenes in Portland Tuesday for 6 Day Session

With the annual Methodist conference which convenes in Portland September 24, the big event in church circles for next week, all seems quiet on church row, so far as the Methodist ministers are concerned, and hardly a ripple has been occasioned here so far as changes in the local ministry go.

While none of the old ministers are expected to be supplanted, one new minister will make his debut here in the next two weeks if the conference votes to accept the Mill Street Methodist church, which heretofore has been supplied from the Swedish conference. There seems to be little doubt here but that the change petitioned for by the Mill street group and already acceded to by the Swedish conference, will go through. Such changes will be decided upon and announced Tuesday, the first day of the conference.

Salem ministers who will attend the conference are: Rev. Fred C. Taylor, pastor of the First Methodist church and senior member of the group here; Rev. S. Darlow Johnson, who is ending his second year as pastor of Leslie Memorial church in South Salem; Rev. Harry E. Gardner, who came to the Jason Lee church a year ago this fall; Rev. P. J. Sehnert of the Center street Methodist church; and Rev. Meredith Groves, whose first year is up at the Ford Memorial Methodist Episcopal church in West Salem. Groves has also filled the Summit charge. Mrs. Alta M. Gentry, who has been acting pastor of the Mill street church since Rev. Patrik Dahlin left last June, will attend for one day.

Dr. Thomas H. Temple, superintendent for the Salem district who is ending his first year in that capacity, and Rev. Albert S. Hisey, superintendent of the eastern district of the church, will both be in attendance from Salem, as will also members from the Kimball School of Theology. President Carl Gregg Doney of Willamette and Dr. Robert M. Gatke and Professor Ernest M. Richards, also members of the Willamette faculty, are all members of the Oregon conference and plan to be in attendance for short periods.

Rev. E. S. Hammond of Kimball School of Theology will give an address at the Memorial service to be held Wednesday night, and Thursday night, Rev. Fred C. Taylor who has been here four and a half years, will preside over the meeting of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals. Clarence True Wilson, nationally known figure, will give the principal address at the session over which Taylor is to preside.

Bishop Titus Lowe of the Oregon Methodist area will deliver the opening conference address Tuesday evening. Wednesday afternoon will be given over largely to business.

Lay delegates from the Salem churches will be in attendance the latter part of the session. They are: W. T. Rigdon and O. W. Emmons for the First church; A. C. Bohrnstedt for Leslie Memorial; and C. M. Roberts, Jason Lee. Gordon Black is alternate for Jason Lee.

Mr. Taylor said Friday night that Rev. C. M. Keefer of the Kimball school faculty would supply his pulpit a week from Sunday, and that in the evening the Men's council, of which U. G. Holt is president, will have charge.

Success Marks Groves' First Year at Church

Services at the Ford Memorial church Sunday mark the close of the first year of Meredith A. Groves' pastorate at the West Salem community church, and during that time the church has at least partially kept pace with the rapidly growing community.

Some of the achievements of the year are briefly listed as follows: Indebtedness of the church has been lessened $350; improvements costing $125 have been made; a community vacation bible school was held in the early summer as the first of its kind held in West Salem. A live Women's Foreign Missionary society was organized and also a Young Married People's Epworth League chapter.

The church has enjoyed a net increase of 50 per cent in the year, with 30 persons uniting with the church in that time. Some of the new membership was realized through a revival meeting held last winter, but most of them came in during the regular services. A choir is being organized under leadership of Mrs. Jewell Brinkley, and will furnish music as a special feature of each Sunday evening service.

"In every department of the church there is a real optimism which speaks well for a healthy and more rapid growth next year," says the pastor.

Salvation Army Plans For Intensive Campaign In 11 Western States

The Salem corps of the Salvation Army will do its part in the intensive evangelistic campaign which is to be launched this fall throughout the 11 Pacific coast states and Hawaii, which comprise the western army area. Commissioner Adam Gifford, territorial commander for the west, will lead the campaign.

The religious movement will be inaugurated at every Salvation Army center with a special program "Two Days With God" Sunday and Monday, October 6 and 7. Details for carrying out the army's aggressive fall and winter campaign are under discussion at a series of councils now being held here by Commissioner Gifford and attended by every divisional commander in the territory with the exception of the army leader in Hawaii, who by reason of distance is unable to attend.

Ward to Address Two Church Conferences

Rev. Charles E. Ward, pastor of the First Congregational church, will deliver two addresses within the next few days to conferences in other cities. Saturday afternoon he will give one of the main talks at the district Sunday school convention being held at the Congregational church in Silverton, and Monday morning he will be in Portland to address a meeting of Congregational Oregon ministers and missionary representatives to be held in the Congregational church there.

General Aid Postpones Meeting Until October

The September and October meetings will be combined at this postponed meeting, Mrs. W. C. Young, president of the General Aid, announces.

STOVER RETURNS FROM LONG JAUNT

Rev. L. W. Biddle Also Home Again After Trip to Conference in Washington

Two Salem pastors returned to Salem this week after trips away, one, Rev. H. C. Stover, who has been away for nearly two months, and the other, Rev. L. W. Biddle, who was attending the annual conference of his church, which returned him here another year.

Rev. H. C. Stover, pastor of the Knight Memorial Congregational church, is again in Salem after spending the past seven weeks on an enjoyable motor tour of the eastern and southern states, and announces that the fall program at his church will get under way with vigor immediately.

Accompanying Mr. Stover on the trip east were Mrs. Stover and Mrs. Helen Paget and Miss Alice Riggs. The party traveled 10,200 miles in the seven weeks, going east over the northern route and making the first stop of any length at York, Penn., where they visited relatives. Among New England states visited were Vermont and Massachusetts, and particularly interesting on this section of the trip was the visit to the historical Plymouth Rock. They also stopped in New York. The return route was through New Mexico, Arizona and Texas, the group arriving back in Salem Wednesday night.

Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Biddle returned Thursday evening from Spokane, Wash., where they attended the United Brethren annual conference September 12-15. They drove home by way of Seattle, finding considerable smoke from the forest fires across the entire state of Washington. The Snoqualmie Pass road when completed next year will be an easy and very scenic highway over the Cascades.

Mr. Biddle united with the Oregon conference on his transfer from California. Mrs. Biddle was enrolled as a Deaconess. They were reappointed to the Castle United Brethren church in the Englewood district fro another year.

Mrs. S. Acton Chosen President of Y. K. K. Group for New Season

Mrs. Serena Acton was elected president of the Y. K. K. bible class of the First Methodist church when the class held its first fall business and social meeting at the church parlors Tuesday evening. Mrs. Helen Monk was named vice-president and Mrs. Merle Curry, secretary. Dr. J. D. McCormick of Kimball school of Theology, is teacher of the class.

A potluck dinner and the following program featured the evening's enjoyment: songs lead by Harry Scott; saxophone solos, Lloyd Lee; readings by Mrs. Merle Curry; vocal solos by Mrs. M. F. Lang; comedy skit, "The Family Hangback," in which Dr. Boight was the leading character.

Approximately 50 persons were present for the initial meeting of the fall. Eight new members were added to the class: Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Prof. and Mrs. Forrest Gaw and Prof. and Mrs. Rahe.

Lee High Young Folk Hold Successful Event To Start Fall Season

The members of the Lee High League of Jason Lee attended an enjoyable party last Friday evening in the church parlors. The party, known as "A Trip to Bagdad," was planned by Evelyn Cummings. Paper bags of all sizes were featured in various games and stunts. The refreshments, consisting of apples and popcorn, were also in paper bags.

Those present were: Jean Andrews, Barbara Barham, Margaret Baumgatner, Ruth Baumgartner, Evelyn Cummings, Getchen Gamer, Eleanor Henderson, Gwendolyn Hubbard, Hazel Mason, Wanda Rose, Evangeline Voth, Hayes Beall, Paul Carpenter, Henry Esau, William Heseman, Harold Leeper, Lumen Ney, Adolph Poutarier, Donald Watson and the advisor, Mrs. H. B. Carpenter.

Nazarene Group Holds Services For Hop Pickers

The young people of the Nazarene church have been holding evangelistic meetings at the various hop yards the past ten days. Several services were held at the John Roberts hop yard and last Sunday afternoon services were conducted at the Werline ranch near Independence. These meetings are under the supervision of Miss Thea Sampson, president of the Young People's society.

Special songs were arranged for each meeting and the family songs furnished by the Clyde Hoffer and John Friesen families were especially enjoyed by all present as evidenced by the encores that had to be given. The pastor, Rev. L. D. Smith, has acted as evangelist, and reports that these meetings have been well attended by an interested and attentive crowd.

This is the second year that the society has been doing work of this kind. Plans for other special meeting of this character will be discussed and planned at the business meeting Friday evening. The society holds cottage prayer meetings every Friday evening when not engaged in special services.

Calvary Baptist to Hold Meeting Thursday Night

Because Wednesday is Salem day at the state fair, the Calvary Baptist church has postponed its regular midweek meeting until Thursday evening. A short choir rehearsal will follow the meeting. Plans are being made for an inspirational meeting Friday evening, October 4, at 7 o'clock, when all organizations of the church will bring in reports and set goals f r the coming year's work. On Sunday, October 6, there will be a celebration of the year's work as an incorporated body.

PASTOR HIT BY SEVERE STROKE

C. M. Bryan, Former Chaplain of State Prison, now of Roseburg, Ill Here

C. M. Bryan, retired Methodist minister and member of the Oregon conference, suffered a severe paralytic stroke Friday afternoon. Bryan, who has been here since Tuesday from his home in Roseburg, was afflicted as he ascended the flight of stairs at the Perrine and Marsters real estate office.

Is In Local Hospital

He was carried to a residence and later taken to the Salem General hospital. His daughter, Miss Loiuse Bryan, is living in Salem, at the home of Charles Clark on North Church street.

Bryan was chaplain of the state prison and boys' reformatory for nearly four years under the Pierce administration, and is well known in Salem through his church work although he never actually held a pastorate in this city. He is 67 years old and has been a member of the Oregon conference for years. He recently removed to Roseburg to make his home.

Looking After Prunes

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan came here this week to visit their daughter and to attend to prune interests in the Sheridan district. He was just getting ready to leave for that section Friday afternoon when he suffered the stroke. He was reported last night as resting quite comfortably at the hospital. Just how serious his condition is had not been ascertained by the physician, according to attendants.

These bottles are of such shape and design as to be attractive to children and some very interesting stories will be told in connection with the showing of the bottles, says advance word on the lecture.

The Rev. and Mrs. Carl Mischke, will be here over this Sunday and will sing with guitar accompaniment. They are gifted singers and players and it will be a great treat to hear them again. First M. E. Service In Four Years Slated For North Howell Folk

NORTH HOWELL, Sept. 20.—Methodist church services will be held in the church at North Howell next Sunday at 11 a. m. Prof. Hertzog of Kimball college, Salem, will be here at that time and deliver this sermon.

This is the first time in four years that Methodist services have been held although the building has been used during that time by another denomination. More than 30 years ago the acre of ground on which the church building stands was deeded to the Methodist conference by the Fletcher estate and for a long time church services were held there. The half acre adjoining the church property was given to the North Howell grange by Mr. Fletcher and was to belong to that order as long as the grange continued. If grange meetings ever ceased to be held the property should revert to the Fletcher estate.

Sims to Attend Meet At Newberg Monday; Plans Sermon Series

Rev. Edgar P. Sims, pastor of the Highland Friends church, will attend a meeting of the Evangelistic board of Oregon Yearly Meeting of the Friends church in Newberg Monday, September 23. Mr. Sims is president of the board.

Beginning next Sunday, September 29, Mr. Sima will begin a series of messages on the book of Revelation. The pastor has chosen this book for his lecture series because he says "This is perhaps the most neglected, misrepresented and maligned book in the Bible and yet is the only one that records a blessing on 'he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things written therein.'"

Church of God Group Revising Constitution

Mrs. C. W. Hatch, Lyle Knox and Miss Genevieve Kuni were appointed a committee of three recently to draw up by-laws to govern the Young People's society of the Church of God. The committee made its preliminary report at a social and business meeting held last night at the home of the pastor, Rev. C. W. Hatch, 1905 Maple street.

A Sermon for the Week

HAVE FAITH IN GOD

By Rev. Charles E. Ward
(Pastor First Congregational Church)

This is a wistful age in religion. Man's powers have far outdistanced his spiritual attainments and there is a craving, often unexpressed, for that food and fellowship that enable the soul to live.

We have invented machinery, harnessed the waterfalls, dug the coal and released the gas and oil from the earth to do our errands. Our luxuries and leisure hours have increased many times in the last generation, but these have come at the cost of spiritual life. The masses have interested themselves so largely in the making of things and in their enjoyment that God has been lost from life. And life becomes empty, even for the rich, when God is lost! "For what doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world" at the price of his own soul?

The late Franklin K. Lane expressed this wistful longing for spiritual life in one of his intimate letters: "I do not think we shall change this world much for the good by any materialistic philosophy or by any shifting of economic affairs. We need a revival—a belief in something bigger than ourselves and more lasting than the world."

Jesus calls across the centuries: "Have faith in God, believe also in me." Without spiritual life there is no abundant life possible for man.
