Many Want Health Badges—County Superintendent Fulkerson was busy much of Wednesday answering phone calls from county school children who are wanting health badges to wear for the honor roll parade to be staged at the state fair grounds Saturday morning, beginning promptly at 11 o'clock. Many pupils who had their last year received them last spring have lost them. Inasmuch as the county superintendent has a list of pupils who were awarded the buttons last May, students do not need the button to march in the parade. Mrs. Fulkerson has no definite check on the number of pupils who will march, nor has she received word from the Salem schools whether or not they will have representation in the line of march.

Mrs. Haltom From Tillamook—Mrs. E. T. Haltom, wife of one of Tillamook's leading merchants, arrived in Salem Wednesday to spend a few days as the guest of Mrs. J. D. Barrett, 145 North 14th street. TULLY SPEAKS OF CONDITIONS IN CHINA

After painting a dismal picture of social and economic conditions in China, Dr. Norman K. Tully in an address at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday ventured the opinion that some hope exists for raising the Chinese out of "the abyss," and that a more understanding and sympathetic attitude in the United States will aid toward that end.

Practically speaking, there is no adequate solution other than some control of the tremendous increase in population there, he said; and that solution cannot be emigration, for if all the ships plying the seas were devoted to no other task than moving Chinese away from China, they still could not keep up with the birth rate.

Japan has an almost equal population problem, in view of its limited habitable area, said Dr. Tully, and this is likely to result in more trouble over the control of Manchuria, trouble which will be aggravated by the American policy of the "open door."

All Japanese still feel hurt at the brusqueness of the United States' exclusion act, although they admit the justice of its terms, Dr. Tully said. He was impressed by Japan's progressiveness, industry and hospitality.

Baptists Still To Use Theater For Gatherings

Although contract of the Calvary Baptist church for use of the old Grand Theatre expired September 15, more than a week ago, the church will continue to hold services in the theatre until the end of September. Permission for the use of the theatre was granted by George B. Guthrie, who owns the building.

While there has been some talk that Guthrie may use the building for other purposes, he has made no definite move as yet to that end, so far as church officials have been informed. Meanwhile the church leaders are looking about and investigating other propositions but have yet to make a definite decision toward a move.

DRUM CORPIS GIVEN SENDOFF

Large Crowd on Hand to See Crack Organization off To Louisville

Despite the press of rival attractions, Salem folk turned out in large numbers Wednesday forenoon to honor the drum and bugle corps of Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, upon its departure for Louisville, Ky., and the national contest.

The corps marched in perfect formation from the armory to the corner of State and High streets, where a special car in the Oregon Electric train was waiting to transport them to Portland.

Before boarding the train, the corps played several numbers in a manner which, from the possibly prejudiced viewpoint of the listeners, conclusively proved that Salem's corps is the most nearly perfect organization of its kind in the world. If this audience had been asked to judge the national contest, the Salem corps would have been awarded first place without bothering to make the long trip.

A special feature was a drum solo by Rudy Shultz, instructor of the local corps, in the nature of an imitation of a locomotive starting, gaining speed, reaching its maximum, then slowing down and stopping. It was greeted by a special round of applause.

The corps paraded for a short time in Portland before boarding the "Legion special" for Louisville. Other special appearances of the corps will be in Havre, Mont., Chicago and Indianapolis. Louisville will be reached Sunday morning.

Members of the local party departing Wednesday included: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lieullen, Vic McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shade, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. White, Lloyd A. Williamson, Hiram Cooper, Roy Baker, Harry Riches, Frank Jirak, R. Patterson, Tom Hill, Ralph Mason, Hugh Smith, Henry Albert, L. A. Kiecker, Chalmers George, Loyal Henderson, M. E. ADVANTAGES OF POWER SHOWN

Electrically Operated Farm Built on Miniature Scale at Fair

The electrically equipped farm and house located in the new grandstand and exhibit building at the fairgrounds has attracted over 6000 persons during the first two days of the annual Oregon state fair. This exhibit is sponsored by the power companies of Oregon in cooperation with the experiment stations of Oregon State college and the Oregon committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture.

Nothing that could not be taken to any farm to do actual work is included in this exhibit, which is expected to be a permanent feature of the state fair, with changes to be made yearly to show latest developments of electricity in connection with farm and home work.

A residence, poultry house, farm machinery, milk house and dairy section with actual crops growing on the place make up the exhibit. The residence is electrically equipped throughout from the clock and fireplace heater to the food mixer, dishwashing machine and clothes washer, dryer and ironer.

Live chickens help demonstrate the advantages of the electrical incubator, brooder and green food chopper. Lights and a water heater in the laying house are designed to increase laying returns during cold, dark winter months. Dairy Section Has Special Features

A milking machine and stanchion equipment with a water fountain for animals is featured in the dairy section. The milk house is equipped with a separator, hot water tank, a chest type refrigerator that will hold cream 90 hours and still grade number one sweet, and a dairy equipment sterilizer proven to make a complete kill of bacteria at 170 degrees F. in ten minutes.

pasture crop, celery, lettuce and spinach are included to show the benefits of irrigation consisting of a centrifugal pump with flume. A set of photographs of electric pump irrigation of garden crops shows the actual results of this type irrigation as used on experiment stations in Oregon. A hay hoist, two feed mills, and a tool grinder or sharpener make up the other farm machinery shown on the model farm.

Englewood Is Accorded High Rating

Englewood school of Salem made the highest rating of all four or more room schools in a standard test given to third grade pupils throughout the county last spring, according to final report on the tests just submitted to County Superintendent Mary L. Fulkerson. Several other Salem schools made pretty good showings.

In the one-room division, McLaughlin led all the rest, and Wacanda and Harmony tied for second. In the two and three room schools, Rickey took the lead, with Auburn running second.

The ratings were made on a standard reading test with time element designed to learn how much students were getting from the thought contest, and although this is the first time that such a test has been given in the county schools, Mrs. Fulkerson expressed herself as pleased with the results, and especially so in view of the fact that they indicate that mechanical oral reading is dying a slow but sure death in the school room here. Results will be compared and more thoroughly sifted so the county educators will have a basis on which to remedy defects in the reading courses.

Individual high scores were made as follows:
Norman Krebel, of Auburn, with a B score of 88 points, made the highest rating of any pupil in the county and also high in the two and three room division. Albert Evans of Keizer was second in the two and three room division, with 85 points.

In the one-room division, George Phillips of Detroit and Evelyn Aspinwall of Wacanda tied for first with 76 points. In the schools with more than three rooms, Glen Williams of Richmond made the highest rating with 85 points.

Among the Salem schools, Park stood in second place and in third place in the county. Grant placed fifth, Gartfield sixth, Richmond seventh, Washington ninth, McKinley 11th, Lincoln 14th and Highland 18th.
