Willamette Rush Week is Busy Time

There is one period in one life when time moves on wings and brings such thrilling things as to almost over-press those who are the recipients—this time is the four years of college life. And perhaps no part of that time is more exciting than that which is known as "rush week."

Willamette university is entering into the spirit of the week this year as never before. The organization of the rush week parties for each house has been adjusted to fairness and ease. Each day a luncheon, a dinner and a tea is given alternately between the three sorority houses of Willamette, the Alpha Phi Alpha starting Monday with a luncheon, the Beta Chi with tea and the Delta Phi with a dinner.

Following this week of rushing hills will be sent out and the main short time the campus will have settled down to hard work, with many pledges working to make all requirements which are necessary in order that they may enter their chosen house at the end of their probation.

The houses have all carried out special motifs for the affairs given.

The Alpha Phi Alpha house featured a 12 o'clock "Seed Luncheon" Monday. The centerpiece on the long table was a miniature race track and all the favors, place cards, and decorations were in keeping with the idea of racing. Tuesday the sorority was hosted with an Oriental dinner which featured a Japanese tea table centerpiece and the serving were dressed in coolie caps. Coffee was served in the dining room following dinner.

Wednesday the Alpha Phi Alpha was hosted for a "Pink Tea" with Mrs. Mary Johnston, house mother, receiving. Many flowers, candies, and favors were about every where and all in pink.

Thursday at the Alpha Phi house, an "Autumn" lunch was featured and today there will be a flower dinner. Saturday a given. A large arch between the "Smitten Through" tea will be dining room and the living room will be converted into a gate and here several solos will be given and "Smitten Through" will be featured.

The first tea of the season was given by the Beta Chi who featured the "Yachting" idea with every one in costume. Ships, and other evidence of the sea formed the decorative note. Mrs. Alice Dodd, house mother, poured. Tuesday this house gave an "Autumn lunch" in the attic of their house on State street. Cardinal and gold, colors of Willamette, were used in decorating and Willamette songs were featured.

Wednesday the Beta Chis were hosted for an "Oriental dinner." Plans and many choice pieces of Oriental souvenirs and wall hangings made up the decorations. Thursday was marked with a "flower" tea. Unique decorations of bright awnings on the inside of the windows and flower boxes gave the living room, where many small tables were placed, the atmosphere of a porch looking out on a garden.

Friday will be "circus day" for the lunch which the Beta Chis are planning, and Saturday will be the annual football banquet at which there will be many out of town guests in attendance.

The Delta Phi sorority house began rushing week with a "vender" dinner. Old fashioned costumes were worn by the hostesses and every thing carried out the color scheme of lavender. Mrs. Paul Edwards, house mother, sat at the head of the table. This house gave its first "Autumn" Tuesday. It was an "Autumn" affair. Mrs. Sheldon Sackett and Mrs. George Rhoten poured. Wednesday the Delta Phi were hosted for a "Pirate" lunch. Costumes and service carried out the idea of the life of pirates. Serv-

"Smocking Dainty Touch"

Statesman 15c Practical Pattern PATTERN 8310

Little round pockets, a turn-over collar that fits snugly about the neck and groups of hand pockets are the smart touches on this cunning bloomer frock styled for a small girl. Design 8310 also boasts a yoke back and front, and set-in well fitting sleeves.

One of the wash materials is used for Design 8310—linen, singham, broadcloth or percale. It may be made of one color, or with contrasting collar, cuffs and pockets. Then the smocking would be done in the contrasting color. If one has no time for smocking, gathers will do very nicely.

May be obtained only in sizes 2, 4 and 6.

Size 2 requires 2 yards of 36-inch material—1 3/4 plain and 1-4 contrasting.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions, including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

The Fashion Book is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address: Mail and orders to Statesman Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Woman's Club Will Hear Mrs. Bacon Saturday

The program for the Woman's club regular meeting Saturday afternoon at the clubhouse will be truly cultural. Mrs. Virginia Bacon, Oregon state librarian will give one of her charming book talks in which she will feature standards of criticism as applied to works of fiction. Mrs. Bacon has appeared in these book chats before several informal audiences in Salem and has quite captivated those who have heard her by her witty and clearcut expression.

Pictures, which are forming such a major activity of the Woman's club this year as well as it did last year, will again come in for an interesting discussion by Mrs. Roy Burton, her picture for discussion being "The Golden Stair" by Burne-Jones, a celebrity in the field of English canvases. Many other prints, possessions of the club, will be exhibited along with the one under discussion.

Special music will be given by Miss Rachel Baine, club soloist for the Business and Professional Women's club and she will be accompanied by Miss Ruth Bedford.

A tea hour will follow the program. Hostesses in charge will be Mrs. Ronald Jones, chairman, Mrs. Lewis Griffith, Mrs. C. E. Strickland, Mrs. John L. Rand, Mrs. Harry Page, Mrs. Edgar A. Pierce, Mrs. A. N. Moores, Mrs. Walter T. Stolz, Mrs. Homer Goulet, Mrs. William Walton and Mrs. Karl Becke.

Prominent Folk Are Salem Visitors

Among prominent out-of-town society folk who are in Salem especially to attend the horse show in connection with the Oregon state fair are Mrs. Hilda McCormick Cook of Seattle, Mrs. Alma S. Rosecrans of San Francisco, Mrs. W. Anderson of Santa Rosa, California, and Mrs. C. S. Marston, who is here with her two sons, Miss Alice and Miss Marjorie Marton of San Diego, California. Mr. and Mrs. Bridgford of Joy, Illinois, are also among those who are here during the week.

Most of these folk have horses entered in the night horse show. In connection with the show, animals, especially the glorious Humbergs, which are taking part in the hunting events, Mrs. Hilda McCormick Cook has thrilled the audience each night of the horse show with her superb riding and general ability as a horsewoman.

Miss Alice and Miss Marjorie Marton have won some splendid placings with their lovely mounts, especially Patty Miller and Barcarole.

Mrs. Anderson is especially interested in harness horses of which she has some beautiful specimens, and which she herself drives in most professional manner upon occasions.

RATES REDUCTION FOR PHONES ASKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26 —(AP)—Representatives of several Pacific coast cities will meet here October 2 to arrange evidence in support of a reduction in telephone rates by the Telephone and Telegraph company.

The meeting was called by Assistant City Attorney Dion Holm, in connection with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Couzens had written him, said Holm, that he expected the Pacific coast cities to aid his committee, maintaining that the evidence gathered would be of great value in its investigation of telephone rates.

Among the cities to be represented are Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Everett, Wash., Eugene, Ore., and San Francisco.

Four Pastors Are Cited for Court Contempt

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25 —(AP)—Contempt of court citations against two prominent Los Angeles pastors were filed in Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy's court today, an outgrowth of their alleged comments made upon the selection of a jury to try Mrs. Lois Pantages on a charge of second degree murder.

The Rev. Robert P. Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Rev. Gustav Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, were those named. Summoned to appear Monday before Judge Hardy to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt were filed on both ministers tonight. They declined to comment upon the citation.

Home-Making Helps

Where Are the Carvers of Yesterday?

My elderly host tiptoed over to my chair and whispered fervently, "Want to come in the kitchen and watch me carve the turkey?"

Silently and with the professional dignity of a surgeon, he picked up the carving knife and fork and deftly cut up the huge bird. It was a pleasure to watch his skill and speed, and obviously he was proud of the job. "Emily won't let me carve at table any more, says it isn't stylish," he explained, with a slightly petulant "what's-the-world-coming-to" tone. "I think it looks homey and hospitable for a host to carve at table. We always did it in my family. But Emily says it's not done any more. And I guess it's because these young husbands don't know how to carve. It's something you have to learn."

As a matter of fact, carving was once considered one of the necessary manly arts. Gentlemen once learned carving as they did fencing. Wooden models of various birds and joints were used as models. They were cut into sections for service, then fastened together with thread or glue, and pupils had to separate them with blunt instruments. Nowadays as much of the mechanics of table service as possible is performed in the kitchen. Carving is likely to be an annual entertainment at Thanksgiving or Christmas time and exclusively—and sometimes, eyewitnesses to the valiant but hopeless struggle of an inexperienced carver wish the performance had been carried on behind the scenes.

Nevertheless, one finds even among young couples an old-fashioned appreciation of the hospitable
