DUCK PITCHER ALLOWS 1 HIT

Wetzel Gets Single in Third To Prevent Perfect Hurler's Mark

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Leroy Mahaffey, Portland moundsman knocked at the door of coast baseball fame today by holding the Hollywood nine to a single hit in a 3 to 0 victory for the Ducks in the opener of the final series with the Stars.

Wetzel, who spoiled Mahaffey's for eight hits pitched, had a chance for a no-hit-no-run game with a single in the third.

Portland took a two run lead in the second when Harris lifted a homer into the bleachers, scoring Keesey before him. Mahaffey, besides pitching superbly, got three of the eight hits credited his team and drove in the third run of the day in the seventh with a double.

Oaks Shade Angels
OAKLAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Scoring a run in their half of the ninth, Oakland nosed out Los Angeles 4-3, today. The Oaks nicked Beryl Hanes for a run in the first frame and two more in the fourth but the Angels tied the count in the seventh after Pete Daglia had blanked them for the preceding innings. Until the seventh, the visitors were held to one hit by Daglia.

LOMSKI AND WILLIS ALLOWED TO FIGHT
SEATTLE, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Justice William Hoar late today dismissed the action brought by Prosecutor Ewing D. Colvin of King county to prohibit a six round boxing match between Leo Lomski, Aberdeen light heavyweight, and Jack Willis, scheduled for here tonight.

The justice ruled that the state had not presented sufficient evidence to show that the Austin and Ol Hop club was violating the state law by sponsoring the match. The club contended that both Lomski and Willis were members of the club and that under the state law the match was legal.

SEATTLE, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Warrants for the arrest of Leo Lomski, and Jack Willis, light heavyweights scheduled to fight a six round contest here Tuesday night and Lonnie Austin and George W. Bishop, promoters, charging the four with intention to violate the state anti-prizefight law were issued by Justice of the Peace John B. Wright here Monday at the request of the prosecuting attorney's office.

Bail was set at $1000 each. Six Seattle newspaper sport writers were subpoenaed as witnesses. The warrants were issued after

CURT COMMENTS BY CURTIS

One day last week when duty dragged us out to the state fair, we saw some experts judging cattle. One of them had four young bulls lined up and was comparing them; this one had a better shaped head, that one a straighter back; the one over there would be perfect if his stomach didn't protrude too far, and the other one had so many defects that he would not have been in the race at all except for his famous ancestors.

Wonder if a staff of football coaches couldn't line their candidates up and pick the promising ones that way. Or do they already? Physique is a big factor in all sports—in football, boxing and wrestling more than in some others.

Of course football players would be judged not so much as bulls are, but as horses are judged—they'd have to be put through their paces. We've heard of coaches at the big schools who run the squad around the track, meanwhile standing in the center and watching their action. Then they cut the squad.

It's a tough break for the boys who enter college with high ambitions athletically, to be told after a few days that they can't even stay in the box of a freshman squad, much less beat out somebody else for a job as third string guard. And after all, with so many candidates, all prominent high school athletes, and with so little time to look them over, it's a pinch the coaches sometimes do an injustice.

Take John Drager, for instance. John, playing for Salem high, was never surpassed as a tackle by anybody he bucked up against in Oregon. He did his own work and then took on a little more just to keep busy. He made a specialty of two men from the prosecuting attorney's office had bought tickets for the fight.

Under the state law only private clubs may spar or fence for exercise. Promoters of the fight declared they were not violating the law but were operating under a membership plan, legally putting their show on under the banner of the Austin and Bishop Athletic Club, Inc.

Junior Bowling League Planned Among Students

Organization of a junior bowling league, drawing its personnel from among high school students, is being planned by the youthful mineralite sphere enthusiasts. Three teams are already available and a fourth is expected to materialize, with possibly two more to swell the number to six. It has not been determined what hours will be allotted to this league, as all evenings excepting Saturday are occupied by other leagues.

The Club league will start its season tonight, the teams entered being the Lions, Associated Oil, Elks No. 2, Nelson and Hunt, Printers and Capitol theatre.

The Business Men's league will open its season Thursday night, and the Statesman league Friday night.

Oregon Frosh to Meet Centralia

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Another game has been added to the football schedule of the University of Oregon freshmen team, bringing the total number of tilts to four. This game, against Centralia Junior college, will be played here November 1. The first contest of the year will be against the University of Washington freshmen here on October 26, the same day as the Oregon-Washington varsity battle at Seattle.

The Long boys, Howell, the captain, and Grady, prime varsity player, will be at guard positions on the Auburn football team this season.

CUBS AND A'S WAIT 19 YEARS

Long Period Elapses Since Last Previous Encounter of Teams

By WALTER BROWN (AP Feature Service Writer)
CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Nineteen years ago the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics met in the world series, the American league entry winning, four games to one.

Two of the actors in that diamond drama, Eddie Collins and Connie Mack still are under the "big top." Several of them, including Frank Chance, Cub manager, are dead.

When the Cubs and Athletics clash again this fall, Collins will be an incidental figure, coaching Athletic runners, and perhaps pinch hitting occasionally.

Once since 1910 the Chicago Nationals have won the league pennant, the war year 1918. Mack, however, won the American league flag three times after 1910, breaking up his great outfit in 1914. He knew the cellar seven years before his present machine began to take form.

A procession of managers have passed through Chicago since Chance quit the Cubs in 1912. Johnny Evers, Hank O'Day, Roger Bresnahan, Joe Tinker, Fred Mitchell, Bill Killefer, Rabbit Marvulle and George Gibson.

Jack Coombs, Athletics star pitcher, won three games from the Cubs in the 1910 series, Chief Bender accounting for the other. The Chief was charged with the one loss.

Bender bested Orvie Orvall, 4-1, in the first game, and Coombs outpitched "Three Fingers" Brown in the second, 9-2. After a day of traveling, Coombs again pitched and won, 12-5, the Cubs using Ed Reulbach, McIntyre and Pfeister.

Chance used King Cole, now dead, who was then a recruit in the fourth game and he held the A's safe for eight innings, giving way for a pinch hitter with the score tied. Brown relieved him and was credited with a victory when the Cubs won in the 10th, 4-3.

Two days of rest enabled Coombs to annex his third game, 7-2.

The series was the last for the great Cub machine which had won four league pennants and two world's series titles.

Mack used only 12 players in the series. Harry Davis was at first, Eddie Collins, second, Jack Barry, shortstop and Frank Baker, third, and Amos Strunk, covey Hartzel, Briscoe Lord and Ed Murphy in the outfield.

Chance had himself at first, Zimmerman at second in place of Evers who broke his ankle the last day of the regular season, Joe Tinker, shortstop, Harry Steinfeld, third, and Jimmy Sheckard, Frank Shulte and Artie Hoffman in the outfield. Lapp for the Athletics and Archer and Kling were the Cub catchers.

Harry Krause, an Athletic recruit pitcher of that year, still is doing mound duty, playing with Los Angeles this year.

Willie Gordon is Busy as Aviator

Willie Gordon, local scrapper who suffered a fracture of the jaw in a bout with Ted Fox several weeks ago, is using his time to good advantage while waiting for the fracture to mend. He is studying aviation at the Eyerly school, and within a few days will make his first solo flight. He is also working at a local service station.

TWO ARRESTED
Frank Murphy, of Portland, and Clyde Barger, of Tacoma, Washington, were arrested early Tuesday morning on charges of being on "canned-heat" drunks.

Marchers on the Road of Progress

SINCE the dawn of time, man has longed for voice to talk to distant friends, and eyes to see things and friends remote.

Every marching rank of telephone poles means that man can now talk readily over the miles.

And in the Bell Laboratories in New York, where television was first demonstrated in 1927, it has been found how to carry the human voice and human sight around the world, although how to make this economically practical is yet to be discovered.

There is no standing still in the Bell System, either as regards the Telephone or as regards kindred sciences which, like the Telephone, will help make the world a better place to live in.

On the Sidelines

Gordon Cochrane, great Athletics' catcher who prefers to be known as Mike rather than the more familiar Mickey, stands out head and shoulders when a comparison of world's series players is made by positions.

When the former Boston university football and baseball star is nominated as the best catcher in either league there are few dissenting voices heard. Cochrane can catch, throw, hit, and if the occasion demands it, run the bases. On top of these mechanical assets he has that elusive but essentially valuable adjunct, color, and can play the saxophone well enough to get paid for his efforts.

A National and American league manager were discussing Cochrane last spring. "He's the best catcher in the game," said the American leaguer, "and before he is through he may be the best catcher the game has ever known."

"They tell me he is a boxer (a player who fights the ball)," said the National league mentor, "and the only game I saw him catch, he did drop any when there was a man going down on a third strike, did he?" queried the Cochrane partisan. "No, I don't believe he did," was the admission.

And then the crowning blow. "You would like to have him, wouldn't you?" pursued the American leaguer man. "You'd trade anybody on your ball club for him, wouldn't you?" "I guess I would," seemed to settle the argument.

Cochrane will catch every game of the series between the Athletics and Cubs if he retains his health and strength. He caught all of the games of the regular season until he cracked some ribs. While he was out, the A's did not go so well although Cy Perkins, his substitute, is a good catcher on any team.

High on the rock ribbed plains of West Point hard by the Hudson river, several Army foot specialists are spending much time and thought in trying to improve the kicking technique of John Hertz. The big Minnesota fullback was a capable booter in 1927 but his kicking last year left something to be desired. There are signs of a return to form this year.

A somewhat hesitant suggestion was made that if Murrell fails to come back as a punter, Captain Keener Cagle might be called on to do the kicking. Head Coach

DAVE MASON IN UNIFORM AGAIN

Oregon Officials State Captain May Not Be Able To Play Cards

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Dave Mason, captain of the University of Oregon football team, was out in uniform today for the first time since he sprained his ankle at the start of practice but Trainer Bill Hayward expressed doubt whether the Web-foot pilot would be able to play against Stanford Saturday. Mason wore a special boot, reaching almost to the knee to protect the injured ankle today.

Misfortune has followed Mason since his first appearance on the Oregon varsity in 1927. Last year he broke his leg shortly after the Stanford game at Eugene and was out for the remainder of the season. His showing against the Cardinals was such, however, that his teammates elected him captain at the end of the season.

The injury this year was believed to have been aggravated by last year's.

The Webfoot today began to prepare a defense for the subtle plays for which Stanford is famous. Billy Reinhart, backfield coach, scouted the Stanford-Olympic club game last Saturday and has returned to Eugene with enough information for the locals to get a smattering knowledge of the Stanford attack.

Biff Jones was reminded that Cagle was a fair to middling punter at Southwestern Louisiana. "Yes, Cagle can kick," said the Big Biff, "but don't you think he does enough now?" There did not seem to be a ready answer to that question.

MacDonald Smith, the lean Scot whose golf swing is as smooth as a lyric poem, does not care where the greens keepers place the cups when he is playing in tournaments. "Go for the center of the green, regardless of the pin," says the great shot maker, "and you won't be far wrong. You should get down in two putts from there and sometimes one will do. And you never will be in trouble if you are near the middle of the green."

FRED LENHART DEFEATS HILL

San Francisco Fighter Is No Match for Spokane Lad Audience Finds

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Benny Hill, San Francisco, was no match for Fred Lenhart of Spokane in the scheduled ten round main event of the boxing card here tonight and the bout was stopped in the fourth round. Hill was floored twice in the first round and once in the fourth. The fighters are light heavyweights.

Hill took a severe beating through the four rounds the fight lasted and was unable to lay a single glove on the clever Spokane boxer.

Johnny Bray, Centralia welterweight, won a foul from Jimmy Beck, Tacoma, in the second round of a six round preliminary, while Johnny Trambitas, Portland welterweight, took a six round decision from Birley Smith, of Tacoma.

Mickey Donald, Portland, and Tack Broze, Tacoma, middleweights, fought a four round draw and Jack Lewis, Portland, lightweight stopped Manny Goldstein, Vancouver, Washington, in the third stanza of the four round curtain raiser.

Women's Gym Classes Started

Opening of women's gymnasium classes at the Y. M. C. A. will be heralded by the holding of a dinner tonight at 6:15 o'clock at the Y. dining room. All women who are interested in engaging in these classes are invited to attend. About 100 are expected at the dinner. George W. Hug, superintendent of schools, will speak on the topic "Health Education for Women." Mrs. Elizabeth Galaher, newly appointed Y. W. C. A. secretary, will be introduced. Mrs. W. H. Byrd will preside.
