Salem Arts League Intimately Meets French Art

Mrs. William Burghardt brought treasures of art to members of the Salem Arts League Tuesday night at its regular meeting in the auditorium room of the city library. From months of study and travel in France Mrs. Burghardt acquired through study and discernment an excellent collection of French art pictures and a few others closely connected with or in direct contrast to the French. These she showed with the assistance of Dr. F. G. Franklin, by means of lantern slides Tuesday night.

Beginning with Mona Lisa, a copy which Dr. H. Kohler brought back with him from his recent European trip, a well colored arrangement of the best of French art from the famous old masters to the latest impressionistic moderns were presented to an intent audience, one of the largest of recent meetings. Pictures from private collections, from the Metropolitan, the Louvre, the Tate gallery, and the Luxembourg were presented, some in colors and others in line only.

The division, according to artists, was an interesting feature of the lecture. They appeared in this order—Rossetti, Augustus John, Whistler, Corot, one of the first impressionists, Courbet, and his wonderful portrait work, Edouard Manet, father of the impressionists, who advanced the use of strong lights to emphasize high point; Berthe Morisot; Renoir; Claude Monet, with his lovely landscapes and full color, who did not receive any recognition while living and not until 40 years after his death. It was from one of his landscapes which was a bit extreme for those days and which he himself had given the name of an "impression", that the word "impressionism" is supposed to have originated, according to Mrs. Burghardt. People started speaking of his art in a joking manner as "impressions" and in time the name became dignified because of the rare popularity and appreciation Monet's work came to have.

Three Spanish artists were shown for the close connection they hold with the modern French. These were Degas, Pissarro, and Picasso. Other French shown in order were Cezanne, Van Gogh, Matisse, Gauguin, and Andre Derain. Derain's "The Pine Tree," a print of which was shown by Mrs. Burghardt, was purchased by Miss Sally Lewis in one of her many trips to Europe and brought back to Portland and presented to the Portland gallery. One may see it there any time.

Following Derain was Seurat, styled a neo-impressionist; Vlaminck; Utrillo; Modigliani; and in conclusion the lovely decorative watercolors of Marie Laurencin were shown.

Mrs. Burghardt emphasized the lack of appreciation which most of these artists faced during their lifetime, and the comparatively short lives that most of them lived because of the hardships which they had to endure for the sake of their love for art.

The Metropolitan museum in New York City is developing a section, according to Mrs. Burghardt, which will receive the work of promising artists without the proof of time and the critical public as is demanded by such museums as the Louvre. This may mean a few mistakes on the part of the museum, said Mrs. Burghardt, but it will also prevent so much suffering because of lack of recognition on the part of the artists. At one time not more than a few years ago, a Cezanne could have been purchased for practically nothing but now they are worth thousands, but the recognition came too late to do Cezanne any good.

In addition to works of art, Mrs. Burghardt showed some very beautiful views from about Paris, Versailles, Chartres and other local French spots of which she hears much but which she seldom has the chance to see reproduced and discussed so interestingly as was done Tuesday night.

Following the art talk, Mrs. Ora McIntyre read some interesting original verse of her own, one humorous and the others two serious interpretations of nature and life.

At the business meeting which preceded the program hour it was announced that since the beginning of the fall meetings the following folk had joined the Arts League—Mrs. J. E. Hooper, Mrs. C. A. Sprague, Mrs. Earl Gilbert, Mrs. Virginia Bacon, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. McCormick, Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs. Roy Hewitt, Mrs. R. J. Hendricks, Mrs. J. A. Jelderks, Mrs. C. C. Aller and Mrs. Ida Andrews.

The treasurer's report showed a highly satisfactory condition, and it is now hoped that a new picture may be purchased by the league some time soon.

Miss Ruth Braut reported that plans were under way for a lecture on the pictures that are now on exhibition on the walls of the Y. M. C. A. social rooms.

New District President

Mrs. Seymour Jones, elected president of district three of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the district organization meeting held in Salem at the Woman's clubhouse, Wednesday.

Mrs. Seymour Jones Is New Federation District President

Salem has the honor of the new president for the third district of the Women's Federation of Clubs of Oregon which district was organized in Salem Wednesday at the Woman's clubhouse. This district comprises Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Marion, Multnomah, Polk, Tillamook, Yamhill and Washington counties.

Other officers elected were Mrs. John P. Ballantyne of Silverton, first vice president; Mrs. L. W. Hude, Astoria, second vice president; Mrs. Robert H. Warren, Watts, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Hayter, Dallas, recording secretary; directors elected are Mrs. J. L. Scoria, St. Helens, Mrs. C. E. Johnston, St. Helens, and Mrs. C. W. Hayhurst, Portland.

Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar took charge of the organization meeting and Mrs. F. A. Elliott acted secretary pro tem.

There were 40 delegates from all the counties represented. Among the most prominent names were those of Mrs. G. J. Frankel, state federation president of Portland; Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar of Portland, general federation director; Mrs. Charles Blyeu, of Dallas, state secretary; Mrs. G. M. Glines, state chairman of department of applied education; Mrs. Glendora M. Blakely, chairman of public welfare department of the state; and Mrs. P. R. Whiteside, state chairman of public health.

The Wednesday session opened at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar presiding. Mrs. F. A. Elliott gave a short address of welcome which was responded to by Mrs. G. J. Frankel.

Mrs. Charles opened the program with an address on "Business Methods" in club work. She stressed the need for making a budget and staying with it, for keeping records carefully, and of having an audit made regularly of the club books.

Following Mrs. Blyeu, Mrs. Seymour Jones spoke on the topic of "Efficient Officers," and drove home in most convincing manner that "a lowly office can be made outstanding by the manner in which it is handled." And she also emphasized the fact that the best characteristic of an officer is "preparedness."

Mrs. G. M. Glines concluded the morning session with a discussion of "public school education" in which she spoke emphatically for a revision of the present curriculum, and called attention to the fact that "education week" is to be observed this year November 11-17.

Mrs. Glines also pointed out the fact that in the 20 years which the federation has been sponsoring a scholarship loan fund there has been made $90 loans.

During the lunch hour "no host" luncheon was enjoyed at the Elk's temple and at the Argo hotel.

Mrs. G. J. Frankel opened the afternoon session which was a round-table discussion of informal nature concerning the morning talks. After this discussion Mrs. Dunbar took the chair and the business organization was carried out.

The constitution which was adopted preceding the election of officers was one for which Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar had made the form and which is fundamentally the same constitution which all the five districts are now functioning under.

One of the features of the day's program was the music which gave a bit of quiet pleasure to all members present and which was enthusiastically received. The morning presentation was given by Clyde Cooley, cellist; in the afternoon Mrs. F. W. Starr sang.

Salem Hunt Club Will Elect Officers

There has been a change in the plans of the Salem Hunt club so that the meeting which was announced for Thursday will not be held until Tuesday. At this time there will be the annual election of officers and because of this it is urged that every member of the club be present to assist in carrying forward the business of the organization.

This will be a special meeting as well as a regular election of officers. There are to be some amendments to the by-laws presented and it is important that members be present to pass on these.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Interesting Meeting At First M. E. Church

It was announced in the Foreign Missionary society meeting of the First Methodist church Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors that the annual district meeting of the Foreign Missionary societies would be held in Albany, October 23.

The afternoon meeting Wednesday was especially attractive, because of the lovely baskets of flowers and autumn decorations which had been arranged by the tea committee, whose chairman was Mrs. E. I. Barnes.

Here in this lovely environment discussions were carried on by Miss Olive Dahl, who led the devotion and who spoke on the work of the church for peace. Dr. McCormick followed with a comparison of the old and new Jerusalem; and Mrs. C. M. Keefer spoke of the present disturbances in Jerusalem.

Miss Frances McGilver sang a solo number. This program was concluded with tea. Mrs. Paul Edwards presided at the tea table which was centered with lovely soft pink gladioli and pink tapers. At the business meeting in addition to the district meeting announcement, two new members were announced, Mrs. Nellie Rahe, Sr., and Mrs. McKinley Anderson.

Letters were read from five Bible women who are being supported by the Foreign Missionary society, four in India and one in China.

Mrs. Paul Edwards was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of vice president.

Plan Informal Tea Plan Informal Tea

An informal tea is planned by members of the women's organizations of the Jason Lee Methodist church. The tea will be held in the church parlors Friday afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

EAT FRESH FRUIT FOR HEALTH

Delicious Fruit Punch Almost Universally Enjoyable

It is hard to find a child or an adult who does not enjoy delicious fruit punch. And it would be hard to think of a food more deserving of a place in the healthful diet. A famous food scientist urges us to eat raw fruit every day.

We went to the California Fruit Growers, knowing that they are authorities on fruits. We asked them for their most popular recipe for fruit punch. The following is what they gave us:

Juice from 2 oranges, 2 cups of water, juice from 2 lemons or 1 grapefruit, sugar to taste. For variation, add 1 cup of other fruit juice, such as grape juice, loganberry juice, pineapple juice, cider, or the juice from any canned fruit. How easy such a punch is to make and how full of health and enjoyment!

Every married woman recognizes her responsibility for providing a well-balanced diet that is at the same time tasteful and appetizing. The secret of sugar as a seasoning opens the way to delicious cookery. Use a dash of sugar in cooking each vegetable and fruit. In milk drinks and desserts. In meats and meat sauces. Chocolate and coconut cookies and candies are good for dessert. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute
