The witness remarked that he knew of one man who declared he "knew every congressman by his first name and could go around and slap them on their backs."

"What class do you put yourself in?" asked Caraway.

"In the second," Austin replied. "Then you're a second class lobbyist," returned the Arkansas senator while the crowded committee room laughed.

Examination of Some Expenditures Made

Under questioning of Senator Walsh, democrat, of Montana, Austin named his salary as $8,000 annually. He said two clerks comprised the headquarters of the association and that $5,000 was given to S. H. Love, of Salt Lake City, the president. He said $70,000 was spent annually and listed major expenditures for the first nine months of this year as follows:

Salaries $12,000; office rental, $5,942; for a publication "facts about sugar," $8,000; for "agricultural supplement," also a publication, $2,688; to domestic sugar producers association $19,000; to "western irrigation," at Los Angeles, California, publication, $459; $14,700 for traveling expenses of officers; and $750 printing pamphlets.

Austin said that during the consideration of the tariff bill there were as many as ten or 12 officers of the association in Washington at one time. He said they gave testimony before the committees and also called upon senators and representatives from their states to present their views.

Gas Company to Establish Its Office in City

Sales and service headquarters of the Pacific Rock gas company will be established in Salem within the next few days, it was announced Wednesday by Reed McBride, agent for the company in six western Oregon counties. Mrs. Alma E. Lauderdale will have charge of the local office.

This company handles a patented liquid gas for domestic use, and also stoves specially designed for utilizing this gas. The process was demonstrated at the state fair here recently.

35 DRY RAIDS ARE MADE BY OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The arrests made by prohibition agents along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts were the result of a gigantic liquor smuggling ring operating from the French possessions on the eastern shore of Canada.

The smugglers went to large expense to purchase new boats to run rum into the United States but the alertness of the department of commerce in uncovering their unlicensed radio station resulted in their exposure.

The steamer Shawnee was fired upon about a month ago by the coast guard in an attempt to capture this member of the smuggling fleet, Assistant Secretary Lowman said tonight. He added that from the inspection of the smuggling the coast guard had been able through the commerce department deciphering the smugglers' code messages to prevent the rum fleet from landing much of their cargo.

EXCUSE OFFERED AT TRIAL OF FALL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Testimony that Edward L. Doheny had consented to bid on the Pearl Harbor-Elk Hills contract only after "the horrors" of a war might bring to the Pacific coast had been sketched to him was placed before the jury trying Albert B. Fall for bribery late today by Captain John K. Robinson, who held the rank of rear-admiral while chief of engineers of the navy.

Examined by defense counsel, he said he had pleaded with Doheny to undertake the work as a matter of patriotism after the oil man had said he was not interested. Robinson testified he had been placed in charge of the oil reserves and negotiations by Edwin Denby, then secretary of the navy.

Lions Club Will Be Addressed by Six Men Friday

Six speakers are scheduled to address the Salem Lions club at its Friday luncheon, each one giving his ideas on "What a Service Club Can Do for a City." The speakers are President Dewey of the Monmouth Lions club, President Lindquist of the Independence den, President Rowe of the Stayton den, President Staley of the Salem Rotary club, Dean Hewitt representing the Salem Kiwanis club and C. E. Wilson, representing the Salem chamber of commerce.

A delegation from the Salem Lions club attended the Stayton den's meeting Wednesday noon. In the group were Merrill Ohling, deputy district governor; Harry W. Scott, Frank Doolittle, Leland

Dr. C. H. Herd Contradicts His Previous Statements in Pantages Case

(Continued from Page 1.) A—To the theatre exit door on the second floor. Q—What did he do? A—He stopped at the open door. Q—Did you see him make a motion? A—No sir, not any. Q—How far away were you? A—About 50 feet. Testimony of state witnesses alleged Pantages seated Miss Pringle in the theatre before taking her to the scene of the alleged attack and then returned, motioned to her and took her to his little office room.

Friendliness With Pantages is Denied

Herd testified that he gave Pantages a "high sign" when he saw him emerge from his main office. Q—You gave him a high sign? A—Yes, I have done it for nine years. Q—You have been giving him a high sign nine years? A—Yes, with all Pantages employees. Q—Then you were very friendly with Pantages, were you not? A—No sir, I am not. (The answer was emphatic.) Q—You mean to say that for nine years you have been giving him this high sign and yet you are not friendly? A—Yes sir, we were not.

ADDRESS GIVEN BY MACDONALD

American Federation of Labor Cheers Leader of British State

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald today was introduced as the prime minister of Great Britain to 1,500 cheering delegates to the convention of the American Federation of labor but he told them "I am still the old workman I was born."

"The workman is distinguished by his mentality and the point of view he had," he said in the first address after his arrival from the United States yesterday. "In Great Britain I am a party man, here today, my friends, I do not represent a party, I represent a whole nation. I have come across the Atlantic as he who for the moment is charged to represent the opinion, the unity, the personality of the house of commons."

In his convention address Mr. MacDonald said an appeal to labor was the proper form in seeking world peace, and in a second address during the day before the Man's Canadian club he said that while he was not ashamed of being a Britisher and a Scotsman he felt "there is a broader nationhood in which we all belong."

The addresses were prominent on the prime minister's program for the day during which he was called to receive an honorary degree from the University of Toronto and to attend a reception by the Ontario government before he and his daughter, Ishbel, and their official party leave on a special train at midnight for Ottawa. At Ottawa Mr. MacDonald will discuss with Premier MacKenzie King the part of Canada in the peace moves considered by the prime minister and President Hoover.

In introducing the prime minister, President William Green of the federation, said that labor's sympathies were with Mr. MacDonald's efforts to "mobilize the agencies of peace."

"We knew him in the old days, as the chief of the labor party," said Mr. Green. "We know him today as the spokesman of Great Britain."
