NEW HIGHWAYS WILL BE BUILT

Bids to be Opened at Next Session of State Commission

Bids for the construction of approximately 41 miles of road, one bridge and two maintenance structures, will be opened by the state highway commission at a meeting to be held in Portland, October 31.

Important among the proposed improvements is 6.5 miles of surfacing on the Grande-Ronde-Tillamook county line section of the Salmon River highway. Though the state does not participate in the cost of this improvement it is required by law to advertise for and receive the bids. The construction cost is shared 60 per cent by the federal government and 40 per cent by the Salmon River highway improvement district.

The completion of the Salmon River cutoff road will reduce materially the distance between Willamette valley cities and points on the Roosevelt highway, south of Nehalem. Polk county probably will appropriate $5000 for acquiring rights of way necessary in completing this road.

Directors of the improvement district said the highway would be passable at all times of the year. Project for which bids will be considered at the October meeting of the state highway commission follows:

Clackamas county—Rhododendron-Government Camp section of the Mount Hood highway, 10.2 miles of surfacing and furnishing of materials for maintenance and betterment.

Deschutes county—Horse Ridge-Dry River section of Central Oregon highway, 8.4 miles grading.

Malheur county—Harper-Vale section of Central Oregon highway, 22 miles of surfacing and 6.5 miles of roadbed widening.

Polk county—Grande-Ronde-Tillamook county line section of Salmon River highway, 6.5 miles.

HELLO GIRLS GIVEN THOROUGH TRAINING

Several days of training are given an inexperienced telephone girl at the Salem exchange before she is allowed to say "number please," and she isn't permitted to say "thank you" until several more days have been devoted to study. It was disclosed by Miss Hazel Cook, chief operator, in a talk at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday noon.

Miss Cook outlined the careful and gradual course of training new operators undergo, and also the thorough organization which enables the staff to serve the public efficiently. Tests are made frequently to determine how many calls are being handled at various hours of the day. The local exchange handles from 34,000 to 37,000 local calls, 1100 to 1200 long distance calls filed here, and about 2000 from other points.

C. C. Aller, local manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, outlined the history of telephone development here, beginning in 1884 when the Western Union introduced the first service with only about five subscribers. There were only 387 subscribers in 1900. The present number is approximately 5700 in the city and 1100 on suburban lines. Salem has a greater development of rural telephone service than any other city of its size in the United States.

Before the new equipment, which will include the "step by step" dialing system of making calls, is put into use next year, a course of instruction will be provided for all users so that they may learn and understand this system, Mr. Aller said. An instruction set, in which the user may see just what happens when
