MORE CHARGES FLUNG IN PAINT SMEARING ROW

Eugene Authorities Complain Of Vigilance of Salem Police Force

Youths Wouldn't Do Job But Were Arrested Trying, Is Statement

The preponderance of evidence in the "great paint daubing mystery" involving Salem and Eugene high schools, points to the conclusion that ten youths from Eugene did succeed in smearing some yellow paint on the high school building here Friday night of last week, notwithstanding a denial purporting to emanate from H. R. Gould, city superintendent of the Eugene schools.

Records in the police station here reveal that J. B. McClain of Eugene was arrested that night on a charge of having four persons riding in the driver's seat of his car. The police found ten gallons of crude oil in the machine. McClain forfeited $5 bail. He was not arrested as the Eugene report states, for the attempt to paint up high school property here. The designs of this group were upon the grandstand at Olinger field, it was reported.

Little Damage Done Due to Police Vigilance

These four boys told the police that there were six more of their comrades in the city, attempting to daub Eugene high colors on the high school building. Officer Charlton of the night police force drove these six youths away from the building after they had succeeded in painting the letter "E" in two places. The paint was seen there the following day by school officials and students, and was removed by the janitors.

The damage done by Salem youths at the Eugene high school building, where red and black paint was daubed Wednesday night, has been repaired by Eugene school authorities, and the matter settled to the satisfaction of all parties. It was stated by Principal Fred D. Wolf of Salem.

Just what will be done about the Salem boys who were responsible for this depredation, Principal Wolf has not decided. None of those identified as having part in it, are now enrolled in the high school, although some of them were at the beginning of the school year.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Reports from Salem that the high school building there was daubed with the letters "E. H. S." several days ago preceding the painting of the Eugene high school building Wednesday night with red "S" and "Salem".

Divorces Asked By Two Women In Court Here

Two new divorce cases were filed in circuit court Friday. Geneva Jane Breckenridge asks release from the marital bond uniting her to Charles C. Breckenridge. Her complaint relates that they were married March 28, 1927, she has suffered from the cruel treatment of the defendant who swore and cursed her and left the family home. She seeks restoration of her maiden name of Geneva Jane Hillpot.

Agnes E. Pearson sues Shuri R. Pearson for divorce. They were married in Marion county December 23, 1920. Her complaint charges non-support and desertion and asks that she be permitted to resume her former name of Agnes E. Miller.

Helen L. White who is suing LuVern O. White for divorce asks $150 attorney fees, $100 suit money and $25 monthly support for herself and their minor child.

Community Spirit Carries Health Demonstration on Toward Successful Goal

Editor's Note: The Statesman today presents the fifth in a series of daily articles designed to acquaint the people of Marion county in a comprehensive sense with the program and accomplishments of the Marion county child health demonstration and with the demonstration in which the health demonstration was carried forward when the demonstration withdraws at the end of this year.

Not so many months ago, three Silverton dentists worked together on a set of teeth for a woman in whom the Silverton center of the child health demonstration was interested! Hardly possible, you say, in this everyone for himself age. But the incident is a fact and is illustrative of the community spirit which has from the first characterized the child health demonstration in this county.

Betting on Game Must Stop Avers School Director

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Rising to his feet before a group of the Washington-Grant high school football game at Malheur stadium here today, Horace Mecklen, chairman of the school board, publicly denounced a group of spectators who declared were gambling on the outcome of the game in the presence of high school students.

"There are between 30 and 40 of you present," he roared in a voice that was audible in the most distant corners of the bowl, addressing his remarks to a group of men among whom he was seated.

"I'm going to see that policemen are stationed at all gates on the day of the next game and we'll see whether or not we can keep you away from this field."

Mecklen said the wagering of $15, $25 and $50 is common in the stadium and that sometimes the bets are much higher.

LOCAL CANNERIES STILL VERY BUSY

Active Season Expected to Continue for Number Of Weeks

Canning on a considerable scale is yet going on in Salem, and will be for some time. The season of 1930 will likely be larger and will surely be longer. Though one cannery that was operated this year may or may not run next year. That is the West Salem cannery which has been under lease the past season to Reid, Murdoch and Co., which concern has taken over the big Kings plant on North Front street by purchase.

It is to be presumed that the West Salem cannery will be for sale or lease. It is a very complete and well equipped plant, and can be made to do a profitable business in the standard lines. The managers of the big concern who have operated it in the past season have enjoyed their work in that plant, and freely speak of it as a good one.

The managers are transferring the offices and all the operations of the Reid-Murdoch concern to the Kings plant, and they will be settled there early next week. Already much work in the way of cleaning up and making repairs has been done, and the architects are making drawings for further

50 FRENCH KILLED BY MOORISH TRIBES

PARIS, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Moorish tribesmen have swooped down from the southern slopes of the Atlas mountains on a new raid against French troops. Ditchpates from Oran, Algeria, today said that fifty soldiers of the Foreign legion and a Senegalese company had been killed in a pitched battle with raiders from the Tafillet area, one of the most active dissident regions in northwest Africa.

The battle lasted for several hours, with heavy casualties on the side of the tribesmen, who were driven off by the advance of a supporting column of the legion.

A French airplane witnessed the beginning of the fight and went for reinforcements. French military authorities tonight attempted to locate and cut off the tribesmen before they could reach the safety of their mountain strongholds.

The fighting was the second worst attack of the year. Eighty French soldiers were killed when a French column out for supplies was attacked at Alt Yacoub a few months ago.

SCARFACE AL AGAIN SEEKS HIS FREEDOM

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Al (Scarface) Capone and his bodyguard Frank Olive, Chicago gangsters, today began another legal action in the hope of winning freedom before serving out the full sentence of one year each for carrying concealed weapons.

Attorneys for Capone and Olive today presented petitions to the state superior court for the discharge from the eastern state penitentiary of the two men on writs of habeas corpus. The court granted a rule on the warden of the penitentiary, Herbert Smith, and the district attorney, John Monahan, to show cause why the writs should not be granted.

The rule was made returnable on October 28.

Italian Nationals Insult Mussolini

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A crowd of youths, many of whom were said to be Italian nationals, gathered outside the Italian legation tonight, shouting insults to Premier Mussolini and bombarding the building with stones and bricks. They smashed doors and windows. Police had to fire over the heads of the rioters to disperse them. No one was arrested.

DEFENSE STILL CONTINUES ITS COURT ATTACK

Physicians Line Up to Clear Name of Millionaire Theatre Man

Pantages' Counsel Attempts To Weaken Story Told By Miss Pringle

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Contradictions and denials were flung with startling rapidity into the trial of Alexander Pantages today as the defense and one of its witnesses fought warily the state's charges of perjury and a statutory offense.

The first stone wall attempt of the defense to clear the multimillionaire theatrical man of Eunice Pringle's accusation, that he attacked her in his private office last August 9 was completed with the last of testimony from four medical experts.

In a second move, the defense drew testimony from Jake Rosenstein, a 20 year old publicity agent employed, that he had seen Miss Pringle in Pantages' office "at least once a week and until late hours from May 1 to August 9."

Testimony Differs From That Given by Co-od

Miss Pringle, who is a dancer, claimed she had been there but three times.

The scene changed from Pantages fight to that of a man who hinted to a blackmail frameup by Miss Pringle and was arrested for perjury—Garland Biffle, law book salesman.

Confronted with the affidavit and testimony of a Stockton, Cal. attorney, L. A. Mills, that he had made a statement repudiating his own testimony, Biffle dismissed the question with the reply: "I don't recall it." Later under state hammering he admitted most of Mills' declaration but explained that it referred to the actual crime and not the frameup.

Previous Evidence Strongly Discounted

Dr. D. H. Gibbs and Dr. D. W. Dakin, bacteriological experts, testified that the shoe prints in that plant, and freely speak of it as a good one.

LAD BREAKS COLLAR BONE UPON GRIDIRON

A football skirmish with playmates at the Grant school Thursday afternoon was costly sport for 11-year-old Hiram Amick, who broke a broken collar bone in the melee. But that's not the end of the story. Amick, it seems, did not realize he was badly injured and continued on in school until the end of the day. After school he went to his mother, Mrs. W. E. Amick, and together they went to the family physician, who found the collar bone broken.

Mrs. Amick appeared at Grant school Friday morning considerably wrought over the matter. Her appearance was first intimation to the school principal, E. A. Miller, or teacher that the boy was injured seriously. Although Mrs. Amick said Hiram told her the teacher would not excuse him from school, Mrs. Caselle says the boy did not want to go home. Principal Miller told Mrs. Amick that children were always taken home immediately in case of serious injury.

The affair has furnished table topics in the north Salem neighborhood.

Aurora Man Is Arrested For Assault

Jack Bergbeder of Aurora was arraigned in Justice Brasler C. Small's court Friday on a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Orlando Peters, 11 years old. The complaint was signed by Fred L. Peters. He alleged that an attack upon the boy was made with a horsewhip Thursday. Bergbeder pleaded not guilty, and was held in jail, failing to provide $250 bail.

Another assault and battery charge came to the attention of the justice court when Peter Perren was brought in on the complaint of L. W. Heppner. Perren, who is 62 years old, was released upon his own recognizance, for appearance in court next Friday. He pleaded not guilty.

Perren bore marks on his face which indicated that he had also suffered in the alleged encounter. The trouble arose, discussion in court at the time of the arraignment, when Perren objected to Heppner's suspected attentions to Mrs. Perren, an aunt of Heppner's wife. Both principals were working at a prange dryer in the Liberty district.

Nice Legal Point Settled by Hand In Justice Court

WOODBURN, Oct. 18.—(Special)—A little encounter between Henry Whitney and Marshal Engle in the courtroom at the city hall, culminated the trial of M. Theobly here today, on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. The belligerents were parted after Engle had been knocked down.

Theobly was found not guilty. The case was tried before Justice Hiram Overton and a jury consisting of O. I. Davis, George Miller, Frank Hall, Homer Ojjen, L. A. Channan and Lew Woods. Assistant District Attorney Page conducted the state's case and Walter Toose represented the defendant.

SHAWNEE ESCAPES FEDERAL RAIDERS

United States Officials are Greatly Disappointed At Getaway

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The recent spectacular prohibition raids on the New Jersey coast contained a great disappointment in the opinion of Assistant Secretary Lowman because of the escape of the Canadian ship Shawnee, believed to have been one of the leading vessels in the rum smuggling fleet, operating in that section.

The assistant secretary, who directs the government's prohibition enforcement activities, announced today, however, that Captain John MacLeod, the Shawnee's commander, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on the charge of conspiracy of smuggling liquor into the United States and, if he ever sets foot on American soil, will be arrested immediately.

The Shawnee was surrounded by four coast guard patrol cutters during the raids Wednesday night, according to Lowman but escaped by speeding beyond the 12 mile limit, the boundary which marks the high seas where American authorities have no jurisdiction. The assistant secretary characterized the successful flight of the Shawnee a "disappointment as she was the great prize" in the raids.

Captain MacLeod cannot be extradited from Canada to the United States for the prohibition offense, Lowman said, as liquor law violations are not classified as extraditable crimes under the British-American rum smuggling treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The budget bureau was asked today by Representative Summers, republican, Washington, to recommend to congress a large appropriation for the national forest service to prevent a recurrence of thousands of forest fires that have caused losses estimated at more than a billion dollars in the past four months in western states.

FUNDS REQUESTED TO FIGHT BLAZES

Asserting that the present national policy of compelling the forest service to be self-supporting was twofold Summers said that future generations would be deprived of timber, water, recreation areas, wild life, watershed coverings and hydro-electric power unless steps were taken to prevent forest fires.

Summers is a member of the house appropriations sub-committee, that made a tour of national forests and preserves during last summer.

Bend High School Beats Corvallis

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A light speedy Bend football team completely outclassed the Corvallis team on Bell field here this afternoon to swamp the locals under a 37 to 6 score. Brown and Owen were stellar blackfield performers for the visitors in running over six touchdowns. The boys were saved from a whitewash when Adams, in the third quarter, heaved a pass to Baffy, who ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Robert Pickens' Arm Is Broken

Robert Pickens, 14 year old local boy, suffered a broken arm when an automobile in which he was riding with several boys near his own age, overturned on Liberty road about 10:30 o'clock Friday night. The injured boy was taken to the Salem general hospital for medical attention.

LOBBY-SENATE RELATIONSHIP NOW REVEALED

Finger of Suspicion Points to Bingham in Scandal at Washington

Man Paid by Association In- sists He Represented Federal Body

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Inquiring into the relations between the Connecticut Manufacturers' association and their agent while he was assisting Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, in writing the tariff bill, the senate lobby committee today found letters from the officers of the organization expressing satisfaction over the "far-reaching" results.

Charles L. Eyanson, the assistant to the president of the association, who was "loaned" to Bingham, insisted throughout the day of severe examination that he was not representing the association, while he was with the senator although he continued to draw pay from that organization. Eyanson can't understand Specific Statement.

The witness declined to interpret a sentence in a letter he received from the president of the association while he was with Bingham, which said "the results which you have accomplished are far reaching and will bear fruit for some time to come."

The committee closely examined Eyanson about a $1,000 check he received from Senator Bingham after concluding his two months work. Yesterday Eyanson said he intended to return it to Bingham. Today he said he was not sure what he would do with it. The check was turned over for copying in the record.

After recessing the hearing until tomorrow, the committee went into executive session to discuss employment of counsel and investigators. Chairman Caraway announced that he had not in intention of seeking prosecution for any violation of law which might be involved in the Bingham-Eyanson case.

DOHENY AVERS HE GAVE FALL 'LOAN'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Calling his chief witness in the attempt to obtain acquittal of Albert B. Fall on charges of bribery, the defense today elicited from Edward L. Doheny testimony that the $100,000 he advanced Fall in 1921 was not a bribe for the Elk Hills oil lease but a loan to an old friend with whom he had faced hardships in pioneer times.

The wealthy 73-year-old oil promoter appeared after his wife had testified briefly. Smiling when he mounted the witness stand, he said as he described what he said was pointed out to him as a bribe to the Pacific coast from the Japanese navy if this government was not in position to prevent the foreign fleet from approaching the coast.

After that he gave sharp answers to the government prosecutor, Owen J. Roberts, on cross-examination. Doheny developed from Doheny that his testimony in some instances did not agree with that given him before a senate oil investigating committee six years ago.

Doheny told the story of sending the money to Fall by his son on Nov. 3, 1921, saying it was a loan to an old friend in financial difficulties and had nothing to do with his company securing a lease to the Elk Hills Naval reserve which the government alleges is the reason he gave Fall the money.

Doheny devoted most of his talk to an explanation of municipal leagues and their advantages. He stated in a letter to the chamber of commerce that he would seek to show that all cities in the state should be enrolled in this organization and lend it their support.

Mr. Schuebel has been on the Oregon City council for six years, was city attorney for nine years, and deputy district attorney of Clackamas county for eight years. He served three terms in the state legislature.

Liquor Suspects Held for Trial

At a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Lars Bergsick the six who were apprehended in liquor raids by federal officers in Polk county near Rickreall two weeks ago, were bound over to the federal grand jury on charges of violating the Volstead act. All six are now out on bail which varies from $500 to $5,500 in amount. The persons out on bond are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson of Rickreall, Roy Reed, George W. Moffet, Clyde Uhlman of Salem and Margaret Taylor of Portland.

Cult Head?

C. R. Dabney wanted to assume the role of "Christ" in the Great Eleven cult, according to Mrs. Otis Blackburn, now under arrest in Los Angeles, and when they re- fused to let him carry out his wish he went to the authorities which led to the discovery of the body of Wilma Rhoads buried be- neath the floor of her home.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The grand jury returned a secret indictment against a police executive late today after hearing the testimony of several witnesses called in connection with its investigation of an alleged police graft ring, which already had resulted in indictments of 15 persons on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

A few minutes later E. D. "Roughhouse" Brown, detective lieutenant, and one of the most prominent officers in the department admitted he had been informed that he was indicted on charges of extortion and bribery, and announced he would surrender tomorrow, prepared to post the $10,000 bond set by superior court at the grand jury's request.

Brown said he was informed of the indictment by a Japanese resident, of whom there were seventy in the city.

There is no American consul at Wuhu since the district is included in Nanking and American navy officials said they had little news of the disturbances.

Westman charged in his confession that he had made out of profits of a $500,000 bootlegging business over a period of five years for police protection. Thomas Washburn, patrolman, convicted of accepting $600 from Westman to forego raiding his establishment, recently was sentenced to from one to 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

A jury of nine men and three women were sworn in tonight to try Police Detectives W. E. Evans and Miles H. Ledbetter on charges of accepting a $750 bribe from Westman.

SCHUEBEL TO TALK ON CITY MANAGER

Results of the adoption in Oregon City of the managerial form of city government, will probably be discussed by C. Schuebel, city councilman of the Clackamas county seat, when he addresses the Salem chamber of commerce at next Monday's luncheon.

As president of the Oregon League of Cities, however, Mr. Schuebel will devote most of his talk to an explanation of municipal leagues and their advantages. He stated in a letter to the chamber of commerce that he would seek to show that all cities in the state should be enrolled in this organization and lend it their support.

Mr. Schuebel has been on the Oregon City council for six years, was city attorney for nine years, and deputy district attorney of Clackamas county for eight years. He served three terms in the state legislature.

Standardization Stressed At Annual Session of High School Principals in City

Standardization in the conduct of high schools of Oregon was stressed by C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction, in an address before 200 high school principals who met in annual conference here Friday.

Superintendent Howard urged the several committees to be specific in their reports which will cover a large number of educational problems.

Governor Patterson gave the address of welcome, with Harry E. Johnson, principal of the Eugene high school, responding. Mr. Johnson is president of the Oregon High School Principals' conference. R. W. Tarentar of Salem reported on uniform records,

Two More Liquor Groups Smashed In Federal Raids

42 Alleged Conspirators Indicted by United States Grand Jury After Special Agents Work on Case for Nine Months

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The workings of two huge liquor syndicates, centered at Detroit and serving New York and Chicago and intermediate points, were laid bare today by federal grand jury, which returned indictments against 42 alleged conspirators.

A group of under-cover agents who enjoyed the confidence of the rum runners for nearly nine months were instrumental in securing the indictments. They went before the grand jury and revealed how liquor has been smuggled across from Canada in imposing quantities, stored at certain points along the border, and finally sent to New York or Chicago by rail and truck.

Fifteen of the 42 men mentioned in the indictments already have been arrested and released under heavy bonds, according to John R. Watkins, district attorney. All but eight of the alleged conspirators live in Detroit, the remainder being residents of New York, Chicago, Toledo, and small towns in Ohio and New York.

CHINESE SOLDIERS IN MUTINY, REPORT

800 Men Engage in Looting But are Driven off by Loyal Troops

SHANGHAI, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Eight hundred soldiers in the city of Wuhu, fifty miles from Nanking, mutinied today and engaged in looting, but subsequently were reported to have been driven from the city by loyal Nationalist forces.

The 100 or so foreigners in the city, including six Americans, were taken aboard Japanese and British gunboats during the disturbances and were said to be safe.

POLICE EXECUTIVE SAID EXTORTIONIST

Secret Indictment Returned Against E. D. Brown of Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The grand jury returned a secret indictment against a police executive late today after hearing the testimony of several witnesses called in connection with its investigation of an alleged police graft ring, which already had resulted in indictments of 15 persons on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

DETECTIVES SEEK SEATTLE FIREBUG

SEATTLE, Oct. 18.—(AP)—With only meagre clues to work upon, the police force and detectives combing Seattle in search of the firebug who caused nine deaths in the Portland hotel tragedy yesterday, had not found the man tonight.

The death toll, increased by one today, when John Miller, 69 year old railroad worker succumbed, threatened to mount higher with three of the 12 injured, who are in hospitals, still in a critical condition.

Complete evidence to convict the fiend who set off the blast, of first degree arson and first degree murder has been gathered, the county prosecutor declared. He is believed to be the same firebug who caused a number of other recent fires in the old district of the city "below the line."

Three bodies recovered from the fire remained unidentified tonight.

Giant Dirigible Passes Second Test With Ease

CARDINGTON, England, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Britain's giant dirigible R101 made her second successful test flight today with a six-hour cruise over the Midlands, visiting Birmingham, Leicester, Derby and Nottingham before returning to her mooring mast.

As on her first trip, she was under the command of Major C. H. Scott. Fifty persons, including Lord Thomas, labor minister of air, were on board.

Lord Thomas, who has made flights in the United States on the Los Angeles and the Shenandoah, did a day's office work in the air. He went over routine matters which he said he had been "dying to get at" for some time, but for which he could never find leisure on terra firma.
