A Sermon for the Week The Perfect Prayer

(Pastor South Salem Friends' Church)

Text, Luke 11:1-Lord Teach us to pray.-The disciples felt the need of learning to pray. We, too eed to learn to pray. Prayer is essential to the christian life and to the success of christian work. How can we better learn to pray than by studying the Lord's Prayer, the Perfect Prayer? Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed; vet there is little progress in thought without words. The Perfect Prayer has seven petitions, the perfect number. As there are seven days in the week, six for material needs, one for spiritual, in this prayer there is one petition for material needs, six for spiritual ends. The prayer begins with the salutation, Our Father, expressing the love and confidence of a son, yet drawing near with awe

1. Hallowed be thy name. There must have been a need for such a petition! Is God's name hallowed, treated as holy and sacred? Does it pain us when his name is blasphemed?

2. Thy kingdom come. Where Christ is recognized and crowned king, there is his kingdom, within you. This petition is a prayer for missions, for the extension of God's kingdom. 3. Try will be done. It was Jesus' meat, the motive of his life, to do the will of his Father and by the same will we are sanctified. O! God, may thy will be done! The first three petitions are spiritual, are of a wide out-reach, they have nothing selfish, nor even personal. They relate to the honor of God, the progress of his kingdom, to obedience to him. After this period of exaltation of spirit and communion with God the mind comes back to personal needs. It is an inverted climax, yet one thinks of self as a part of the great plan which his spirit has contemplated and as a part he must be ready and in condition to fit into the whole. 4. Give us this day our daily bread. The best christian life and development are not possible without these physical needs being met. We find this one petition for the material in the very center of this Perfect Prayer. Might we infer that it should be the center about which our christian activities should revolve? 5. Forgive us our debts. From God we receive everything good and we in turn owe him obedience, loyalty, love. Do we pray?

Yes, we need to learn this petition also, forgive us our debts.
6. Lead us not into temptation, let us not fall into temptation.

We need guidance in our ignorance and weakness. Temptations are very real and a terrifying danger to the true child of God.

7. Deliver us from the evil one. This is closely connected with the sixth petition as a part of the defensive christian life. The enemy is astute and wiley and would take us in his snares, but with the Father we are safe. The last three petitions are spiritual as were the first three, with God, is of the greatest importance if we are to do our part in the work of God in the world. What a wonderful prayer! Let us take it as our model and study it to follow its teachings. LORD TEACH US TO PRAY.
