

Display Room and General Business Extension Gives More Employment

AURORA, October 28-A very good indication of the general prosperity in this section of the Willamette valley was recently pointed out by A. L. Strickland, manager of the Molalla Electric company, when he announced that during the last two years the company has doubled its number of customers.

This means that by reason of the very satisfactory general farm development taking place, the greater percentage of farms are enjoying the convenience and labor saving benefits of electric ser vice, and this is indicative of the general prosperity being enjoyed bere.

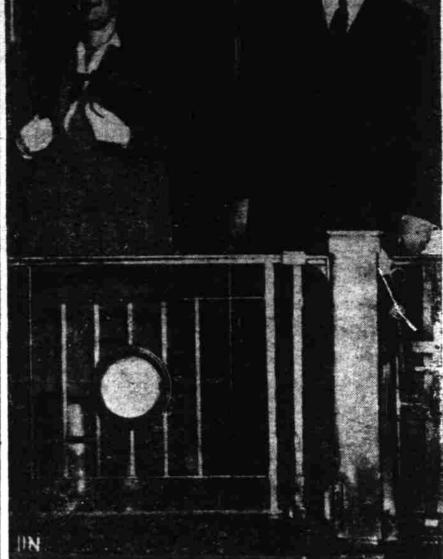

During the past two years the electric company has constructed and placed in operation approximately fifty miles of new rurat lines, and has made four different reductions in its rate for rural electric service.

Since the last reduction that was made effective September 1. the rates are very favorably comparable with other rates for similar classes of service throughout the northwest, and are lower than in several sections of this state.

The company has recently sold its merchandising accounts, with the appliance and house-wiring business to the Electric Appliance and Construction company, who have rented part of the Molalla Electric company's office and will maintain its display room and sales office there.

A larger assortment of appli-ances and lighting fixtures is being carried in stock, and the general growth of sales has created employment for several local people, the recent new additions being L. E. Ratcliffe and Miss Alice Garrett.

From a two acre tract of the Kentucky Wonder variety, he harvested seventeen tons of beans. Most of them were sold to the cannery from which he realized seventy-five dollars per ton.

When the cannery closed down on canning beans, they were taken to Portland by Mr. Fisher, where he found a ready market for them.

The cost of producing the beans was estimated at $500. The picking season commenced July 29, and continued until October 21, at 3 tables of bridge Tuesday af- which gave the pickers almost three months of continuous work.

The beans were planted on rich river bottom soil, which is especially adapted for gardening. Mr. Fisher also had quite an acreage of beets, carrots and
