

NORRIS WAITS FOR BINGHAM TO APOLOGIZE

Resolution Seeking Censure Of Senator Is Held Up One More Day

Two Men Stand Pat Despite Efforts of Friends to Establish Peace

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An overnight truce was in effect tonight as mutual friends of Senators Bingham, of Connecticut, and Norris, of Nebraska, sought to bring about an understanding between the two which would prevent presentation of the Norris resolution proposing censure of Bingham.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, voluntarily intervened today when the Nebraska senator came into the senate chamber with his resolution asking condemnation of Bingham for his relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' association on the tariff legislation.

Neither of the principals would discuss the proposal tonight pending further conferences with friends, but the Nebraska senator with his resolution showed his intent to give the Connecticut senator an opportunity to make a statement of explanation to the senate. Norris indicated he would prefer not to present the resolution of Senator Bingham would explain.

Bingham won't retract previous statements.

Despite the day of conferences, there was no indication that Bingham would recede from his position. He would say only that out of respect for his friends in the senate he had the matter under consideration.

Senator Norris drafted the resolution as chairman of the judiciary committee. He named the lobby committee which investigated Bingham and which committee, the Connecticut senator contended in the senate was "framed against any friend of the administration."

It was understood that Norris felt Bingham should explain to the senate both his views on the use of a salaried employee of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to help him in framing the tariff bill, and also clarify his statement to the senate that Norris had "framed" the lobby committee against him.

FURTHER DROPS IN ENROLLMENT SEEN

Census reports from 10 additional school districts were received Thursday at the office of the county school superintendent. The 1929 total for these 10 districts reaches 677, 37 more than the 640 pupils recorded in the 1928 enumeration from these districts. Results of the census reports received so far have for some days shown a decrease and for other days an increase in the number of children of school age residing in the county, however Superintendent Mary L. Fuikerson has predicted that in general an increase will be recorded for this year.

The 10 districts from which reports were received Thursday and a comparison of the figures for the two years follows:

Community Can Control Own Death Rate is View Given After Close Study

Editor's Note: The Statesman today presents the sixteenth of a series of daily articles designed to acquaint the people of Marion county in a comprehensive manner with the program and accomplishments of the Marion county child health demonstration and with the proposed program in which the health program will be carried forward when the demonstration withdraws at the end of this year.

By GENEVIEVE MORGAN
Within natural limits a community can determine its own death rate. That pointed statement was made some time ago by the late Dr. Herman Biggs, of New York. Statistics and persons who refuse to be health-minded may be inclined to ridicule the assertion. But Marion county residents who know anything about the results which the child health demonstration have been accomplishing must take sides with Biggs. For of course the demonstration has made of this county a pretty thorough proving

Former Dictator Of Poland Sends Law Makers Home

WARSAW, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Marshall Joseph Pilsudski, ex-dictator of Poland, today climaxed his long standing feud with the Polish diet by lavishing the parliamentary building with 80 army officers and stopping the opening session of the national legislature.

The upshot of this strange maneuver was postponement of parliament until after the Marshall and Ignace Dasinski, speaker of the diet, have had opportunity to confer with President Moscicki.

Members of the diet were nonplussed by the happenings of the day, but could only speculate as to what might happen next. Newspapers of the capital issued extra editions describing the affair, but of them were confiscated as quickly as they appeared on the streets.

8 ARE ARRESTED FOR SEATTLE KIDNAPING

2 Former Members of City Police Force Included Among Suspects

SEATTLE, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Four men and four women, including Seattle policemen and a former Seattle police detective, were arrested here today for the kidnaping and robbery of Arthur A. McCafferty, half bond broker. Clayton McNeal, 25, the policeman arrested, confessed Police Chief J. L. Forbes said, and implicated others.

Those arrested in addition to McNeal were William E. Worsham, former city detective and a gun and taken to the industrial district on the flats where he was robbed, he said.

McNeal joined the Seattle force only a few months ago. He credited Worsham with planning the robbery, police said. Worsham was discharged from the force several years ago.

McCafterty told police he received a telephone call Wednesday evening to meet two men at a downtown street corner and to bring bail money for a friend of theirs, whom they represented as being in jail on a serious charge. McCafterty kept the appointment, he said, but brought only $11 with him, having become suspicious that a robbery was planned. He was forced into a cab at the point of a gun and taken to the industrial district on the flats where he was robbed, he said.

District Attorney Demands Millionaire Be Kept In County Jail

Effort to Gain Freedom on Bond Strongly Opposed By Prosecutor

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(AP)—District Attorney Burton Pitts announced tonight his investigators had discovered, before the close of the trial of Alexander Pantages on a statutory charge, that the vaudeville magnate prepared an airplane in San Diego, Cal., for flight from the country.

Pitts made the statement in connection with an announcement his office would oppose any attempts defense attorneys might make to obtain Pantages' release from jail, where he has been confined since his conviction last Sunday, on bond. It also was made as an explanation of his demand that Pantages be remanded to the custody of the sheriff last Friday when the case was given to the jury, in spite of the fact the man had posted $25,000.

Jerry Geisler, Pantages' attorney, said he had decided against a request for release of the theatre man on bond tomorrow, when Pantages will appear for sentence. He said, however, a motion for a new trial would be filed, which automatically would postpone pronouncement of the sentence of from one to fifty years in San Quentin penitentiary.

ATTENDANCE MARK IS MADE AT FAIR

15,000 Attend Pacific International Exposition In Single Day

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The patter of prancing feet in the tan bark arena mingled with the voice of the auctioneer in the enormous auditorium of the Pacific International Livestock exposition today as all time one day attendance record of 15,000 was set up. Officials estimated tonight that more than 15,000 persons will have passed through the exposition turnstiles when the curtain is run down Saturday night.

Livestock sales today divided attention with the matinee horse show, but gave way at sundown to the night saddle and harness events. The morning hours saw prized fat stock exhibited at the show pass into the hands of highest bidders while in the afternoon thoroughbred Holsteins and fancy shorthorns were put on the block.

The Spokane hotel, Spokane, purchased the champion short-horn steer, a yearling donated to the Duncan Dunn scholarship fund at Washington State college, for 66 cents a pound. The animal was purchased for the hotel by Frank M. Rothrock, its donor.

Plaintiff Loses Libel Suit Quickly

Two minutes were required by the jury to return a verdict for the defendants in the $25,000 libel suit brought against the Salem Ad club by H. I. Price of Oregon City. The case opened in Judge Percy Kelly's circuit court Thursday morning and went to the jury at about 4:30 that afternoon.

The suit hinged about an article which appeared in the Adcraft News, a publication sponsored by the Salem Ad club, which was alleged to bear libelous statements toward Price. At the trial the defendants, C. W. Paulus, W. H. Paulus, E. E. Thoms, R. H. Martin and F. M. Erickson, declared that the article referred to was a warning to readers against the operation of a discount local peddler, one H. N. Price and not the H. I. Price of Oregon City.

Three women, eight farmers and one merchant comprised the jury. The defense attorneys were Custer Ross, John H. Carson and Otto K. Paulus.

Chief Commander Of Confederates Riled By G. A. R.

Head of Southern Veterans Expresses Anger at Proposal of Reunion Minus Stars and Bars; Hot Note Planned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Declaring that Edwin J. Foster, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic had "completely blown himself out of water" by a proposal that the Confederate veterans march with the Union veterans without displaying the Confederate flag, General R. A. Sneed, commander of the United Confederate veterans, said here today that he would reject the invitation.

The invitation was contained in a letter from the Bostonian to Sneed.

"So far as I know," it said, "there can be but one condition which stands in the way of our coming together and that is for you as head of your organization to pledge to us that the stars and bars, your Confederate flag, shall have no place in the parade, but that you will march under the stars and stripes."

The tall, white haired Confederate commander asserted that he would take his time in replying and that he would tell the G. A. R. chief that the south did not propose to be dictated to.

General Sneed sent a message to the national encampment of the G. A. R. at Portland, Maine, proposing a joint meeting with the Union veterans. The proposal was rejected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Reduction of the New York federal reserve discount rate from 6 to 5 per cent and an unprecedented drop of $1,096,000,000 in brokers loans, announced after the close of another session of swiftly rallying prices on the stock market today, were immediately hailed as leading financial centers as marking the passing of the world wide credit stringency. The lower discount rate had been foreshadowed by a reduction in the bank of England's discount rate, announced this morning.

This far reaching pinch in credit had been ascribed by most leading bankers abroad and many in America to the enormous absorption of credit by the bull market in Wall street which culminated in the disastrous crash of the past week.

There was almost as wild a scramble to buy stocks today, however, as there was to sell them earlier in the week. John D. Rockefeller's statement that he was buying stocks, and several favorable dividend actions, attracting the public back into the market as honey draws flies.

Bankers generally, however, believed that prices of premier stocks had been carried to ridiculously low levels in the frenzy of selling, and felt that a substantial rally was justified. Bear markets are even more inclined to get out of hand than bull markets.

SIMERAL MAY QUIT COUNCIL FOR NEW JOB

Alderman Expected to Become Superintendent Of Incinerator

Resignation at Next Meeting of City Dads is Now Anticipated

Resignation of L. J. Simeral, alderman representing the first ward, from his place on the city council, was forecast as a development likely to occur at the council's meeting next Monday night, in apparently well founded reports which were widely circulated Thursday.

Mr. Simeral, interviewed that night, said he had no idea how the reports started, as he had made no decision in the matter. He indicated that he had been considering such a step.

The forecast among persons closely in touch with municipal affairs, was that Mr. Simeral would resign in order to accept a position as superintendent of the city incinerator. Before becoming an employee of the city, it would be necessary under the charter for him to give up his seat on the council.

Simeral Named On Committee By Mayor
Early in October Alderman Simeral was appointed by Mayor Liversley as chairman of the council's incinerator committee, which was newly created to take the place of the old plumbing committee. Objection to the mayor's selection was made by the independent group in the council, for the reason that they did not carry out the recommendation made in a resolution which created the committee, and that several councilmen were deprived of an equitable share of committee assignments.

These objections did not imply any question as to the capability of the men selected and some of the independent objectors have since complimented the improvement already brought about under Mr. Simeral's supervision.

Much criticism of the manner in which the incinerator has been operated previously had come to the council's attention, the principal objection being that a huge pile of material cans had been allowed to accumulate on the incinerator grounds, the men's charge making no attempt to burn them.

Mr. Simeral investigated the handling of such material in the Portland incinerator, and then directed a successful application here, with the result that the case was turned, after which they crumble and take up much less space on the ash pile than without being put through the burner. Other improvements have also been made under his direction.

GENERAL MOTORS LOSES LARGE SUM

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Charles S. Mott, vice president of the General Motors corporation and chairman of the board of directors of the Union Industrial bank of Flint, and Grant J. Brown, president of the bank, announced this afternoon that approximately $800,000 of the bank's money had been misappropriated by several employees.

They said the amount of money misused was small in comparison with the resources of the bank and its affiliations and that Mr. Mott and the board of directors had guaranteed the amount taken. The Union Industrial bank is a part of the General Motors Union Group, Inc., with capital of $75,000,000 and total resources of over $500,000,000.

Names of employees who misappropriated the bank's money were not disclosed.

Steinmyer was arrested Wednesday evening by state traffic officers near Silverton when he sped down the highway and almost ran down the officers who were engaged in testing headlights of motorists on the road.

Black Cow is Led Away

Hallowe'en Night; Fails to Appear at Any of Schools

Hallowe'en night, the night that all kids look forward to, to be passed along with the month of October at midnight Thursday and today police and Salem folk will take stock of the damage done by the mischievous merry-makers. The busiest hour at police station was between 8:30 and 9:30 when Sergeant Jack Cutler was kept busy answering telephone calls from alarmed persons wishing protection.

It was during this hour that the loss of a black cow was reported from 2156 North Liberty. A search of each of the several schools in the city revealed nothing but shortly before midnight the cow was found roaming about the north end.

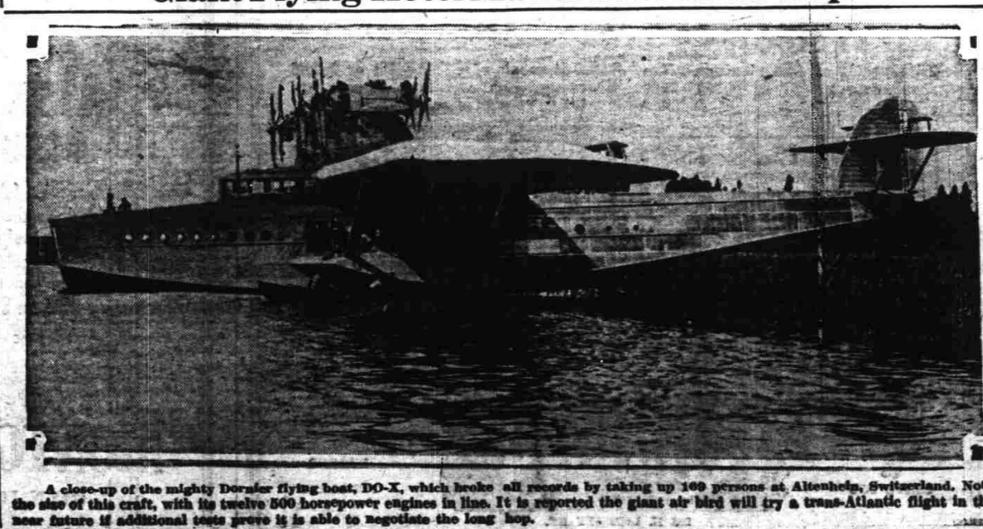

Several hundred youngsters between the ages of 10 and 13 were enjoying the mild pastime of ringing door bells and carrying frightful appearing pumpkins. These young sheet-cad persons enjoyed their fun until curfew time. The gas afternoon complained a police that it was impossible for them to keep their lanterns burning and that several of their street barricades had been removed, causing hazards to motorists. Also it was reported several times that telephone poles had been placed across the street near S. Commercial. A search of each of the several schools in the city revealed nothing but shortly before midnight the cow was found roaming about the north end.

Death Rate Drops Despite Population Boost
A study of the death rates, which is based on 1,000 population in the county—shows a 5 reduction in the eight years from 1920 to 1928, which may not in itself look like much of a decrease until one stops to think that in that period population has increased some 4,000 persons.
