Beautiful Wedding Solemnized at St. Paul's

ONE of the loveliest weddings to be solemnized in Salem was that which united in marriage Miss Edith Bragg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bragg, and Wallace Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carson, Saturday at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal church. Rev. George Swift read the simple, single ring ceremony in the presence of over 200 guests.

The altar was all in white flowers with banks of greenery about the chancel; over this simplicity the tall ivory white service tapers threw a soft shadowy light.

Just at 8 o'clock, Miss Iva Claire Love, accompanied by Mrs. Marguerite Blumenberg Dalton at the organ, played as a violin solo. "At Dawning," and Mrs. Dalton followed this with Lohengrin's wedding march as a professional.

The ushers, Frank Deckebach, Jr., Dr. Milton Steiner, George Weller and Hugh McCammon of Portland, led the way to the altar followed by three-year-old John Carson Baruch, dressed in white satin suit and carrying the ring on a white-satin pillow, and Barbara Lee Miller in ruffled pink taffeta and carrying a basket of roses, then came the bridesmaids, Miss Leah Ross, in yellow, Mrs. James King, in orchid, Mrs. Frank Deckebach, Jr., in pink and following them little Miss Sally McCallan in ruffled pink taffeta carrying a basket of roses.

Mrs. Dan McLellan, matron of honor, in green, followed her small daughter and preceded Miss Bragg who entered on the arm of her father, E. E. Bragg.

The bride was beautiful in a gown of white satin made in fitted princess style, with long sleeves and a long train. She wore the veil Mrs. John Carson, Sr., and her cap was a lovely piece of point lace. The only ornament worn with her bride ensemble was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. The bride's bouquet was orchids, lilies of the valley, and butterfly roses.

The bridesmaids' dresses of chiffon carried the same lines of the bride's dress, with ankle-length uneven hemline. They each wore close-fitting hats of lace, carried arm bouquets in pastel shades of single, shabby chrysanthemums. The slippers of each maid matched her gown and on the instep glistened a tiny brilliant buckle, the gift of the bride.

Mrs. E. E. Bragg was gowned in a georgette gown of rose with cut steel beads and she wore roses and violets. Mrs. John Carson, Sr., wore black lace and her flowers were also roses and violets.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as a recessional. The guests went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bragg where a reception was held.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bragg and Mrs. John Carson, Sr., received at the door—Assisting about the living room were Mrs. Arden Parker, of Monmouth, Mrs. Walter Barsch, of Oakland, California, Mrs. John Carson, Jr., Mrs. Donald Young and Mrs. Maud McPherson, of Monmouth.

Assisting in the dining room was Mrs. M. H. Hall and Mrs. T. W. Creech. The girls serving were Miss Margaret Anderson, Miss Josephine Noyes, Miss Josephine Noyes, Miss Milton, Mrs. George Weller, Mrs. Tom Wood, Mrs. Foster Cone, Miss Dorothy White, Mrs. Margaret Breitenstein, Miss Prudence Patterson, Miss Eva Roberts, Miss Ruth Griffith, Miss Gwendolyn Hall of Portland, Miss Elma Doris Haveman of Woodburn, and Miss Marion Baker of Portland.

Miss Jessica Todd of Monmouth, and Mrs. Julia Holmes, of La Grande, Oregon, presided. The tea table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake, which the bride cut, and with yellow and white chrysanthemums and tapers.

Out-of-town guests for this event were Mrs. Maude Stevens, state president from Portland; Mrs. Alice Brandon, department secretary, Portland; Mrs. Rue Ella Schaffer, Portland; Miss Ethel Plank, department senior vice president, Eugene; Mrs. May Girton, department chaplain, Eugene; Mrs. Rebecca Chapman and Mrs. Pearl Elliott, Eugene; and T. G. Harris, oldest comrade in Marion county, 22 years old. There was also an excellent attendance of membership.

Immediately following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Carson left for an extended motor trip through the north and into Canada. On their return to Salem, where Mr. Carson is a member of the law firm of Carson and Carson, they will make their home at 370 Leslie street.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hunter, Mrs. Fed Holmes, Miss Nell Gimmelt, Mrs. Anna Oliver, Miss Margaret Anson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller, all of La Grande; Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nimough, L. J. Phebus, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCammon, all of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. James King, Lieut. and Mrs. Jack McCammon, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Dan McLellan and Mrs. Fred Llewellyn, of Bend.

Inspection Event Is Splendid Success

DAUGHTERS of Union Veterans, Barbara Freitliche tent No. 2, was officially inspected Friday night at a state inspection meeting held at the Salem Woman's club house, beginning at 8 o'clock. The inspection was in charge of the state department president, Mrs. Maude Stevens, of Portland, who acted in place of the department inspector, Mrs. Ethel Andrews, of Astoria, destined because of serious illness. The local president, Mrs. C. N. Needham, presided with the state president.

The long room of the Woman's clubhouse was attractively decorated with baskets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Here in this room the work of the order was put on with great success which won commendation from the inspecting officers. Reports given showed that an unusual amount of "good cheer" work had been done for the comrades of this tent. It is this work in which the order specializes.

Three candidates were taken in for this special meeting, Mrs. L. A. Grote, Mrs. J. J. Tallman, and Mrs. Laura Scott.

Following the work of the tent a supper was served under the direction of the social committee, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. Jennie Miller, and Mrs. O. H. Horning assisted by Mrs. C. N. Needham. Service tables were centered with bronze and yellow button chrysanthemums and yellow tapers.

Out-of-town guests for this event were Mrs. Maude Stevens, state president from Portland; Mrs. Alice Brandon, department secretary, Portland; Mrs. Rue Ella Schaffer, Portland; Miss Ethel Plank, department senior vice president, Eugene; Mrs. May Girton, department chaplain, Eugene; Mrs. Rebecca Chapman and Mrs. Pearl Elliott, Eugene; and T. G. Harris, oldest comrade in Marion county, 22 years old. There was also an excellent attendance of membership.

Charming Mrs. Albert Smith Bigelow

chose the silver for her new home in Gorham Sterling

ARISTOCRATIC—piquant—fastidious is Mrs. Albert Smith Bigelow, the former Miss Josephine Noyes Rotch of Boston. Her wedding in the historical little church at Old Lyme was charming in every detail. Naturally, the appointments of this dainty young bride's new home, too, will reflect her exquisite taste. And for her table she has chosen Gorham flatware of Sterling Silver in a design of smart simplicity.

We now have on display flatware of Gorham Sterling in a number of designs selected by prominent brides and distinguished hostesses. It will give us great pleasure to have you examine these in our store . . . to note for yourself the imperial artistry of every piece that bears the famous Gorham name. In many patterns you may choose hollow ware to match . . . all at a moderate cost.
