

HEALTH IMPORTANT

Series of articles on health service here, ending in today's Statesman, show importance of continuing this valuable work.

FOUNDED 1851

WEATHER

Fair today, fog in valleys; moderate temperature; moderate east winds. Max. temperature Tuesday 46. Min. 33; river -2.7; no rain.

SEVENTY-NINTH YEAR

Salem, Oregon, Wednesday Morning, November 13, 1923

168

ROOVER'S PLAN FOR IMMUNITY OF SHIPS LIKED

Praise of Humanitarian Idea General Here; Doubts Seen in Europe

Use of Food Products for Munitions Manufacture Feared by Some

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Popular reaction to President Hoover's advocacy of granting food bearing ship immunity in war time today eclipsed that which has attended any of his previous expressions on international relations, but notes of caution were sounded in unofficial expressions today.

Messenger after messenger arrived at the executive offices with congratulatory telegrams, which were matched by favorable comments on Capitol Hill. In some places abroad, however, unofficial commentators saw difficulties because of the use to which foods might be put in the manufacture of munitions.

Plan Is Described As Excellent One Describing the president's suggestion as an excellent one, Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, said it remained to be seen whether it could be worked out in practicality.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the foreign relations and naval committees, said the proposition "is worthy of serious consideration and if accepted by all nations would be promotive of peace and would reduce the hardships and brutalities of war."

"If in time of war the starvation of women and children and those not responsible for war would be eliminated, I think it would be a glorious consummation," said Senator Johnson, of California, ranking republican on the foreign relations committee.

Humanitarian Aim Praised by Norris Senator Norris, republican independent of Nebraska, said he thought it would be a fine idea and a humanitarian effort to eliminate food ships from war if it is possible.

While declining to comment on its feasibility, Speaker Longworth praised the humanitarianism behind the president's suggestion and said Mr. Hoover had advanced the thought in a "statesmanlike manner."

Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, declined to comment, but he has

(Concluded on Page 2, Column 6.)

DISBARMENT CASE REFEREE IS READY

Judge Fred W. Wilson of the Wasco county circuit court has notified Chief Justice Coshow of the state supreme court that he will report at any time to hear the testimony in the disbarment proceedings involving George W. Joseph and Thomas Mannix, Portland attorneys.

Judge Wilson is one of the three referees selected to hear the testimony and report their findings to the supreme court.

Joseph and Mannix each filed disbarment proceedings against the other. Referees in the proceeding other than Judge Wilson are Judges H. D. Norton of Jackson county and G. E. Skipworth of Lane county. Judge Skipworth will preside.

The hearing will be held in Salem, and probably will require four or five days. Most of the witnesses are residents of Portland.

Observance of National Education Week to Open Today; Programs Varied

This afternoon and evening will mark the opening events in the Salem schools in observance of national education week. In progress this entire week, pupils and teachers have worked overtime the past week getting things in shape to offer an enjoyable time to parents, friends and patrons, everyone of whom is urged to visit one or more of the school affairs.

Washington school will lead the programs, with its open house this afternoon during school hours, when classroom work and lesson demonstrations will be followed by a tea in the assembly hall.

Most pretentious of the programs and one unique here, is the educational fair planned by the Parhigh junior high school. The school gymnasium has been converted into a regular fairgrounds, with its 17 booths, and decorations have been placed to lend to the festivity.

Teachers and students started moving exhibits to the booths yesterday and when the fair gates swing open tonight every department will have made some special

Dispute Over Price Of Hauling Car From Mudhole Costs Life

MANAGUA, Nic., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A dispute over a fair price for extracting an automobile from a mudhole cost the life of Major Charles S. Reynolds, United States Marine corps.

An investigation today showed that he had gone for an automobile ride with Nicaraguan friends last Sunday. The car became stuck as they entered the town of Diriamba.

The local judge was called upon to settle the argument about payment to bystanders who helped to extricate the automobile.

The heated discussion grew into a free for all fight during which the major was stabbed by an unidentified assailant. He died of his wound and the body was brought here yesterday.

SPEEDING UP MAIL SERVICE APPROVED

Postal Official Will Recommend Additional Pouch To Points West

Completion of a program of rounding out the mail service to and from Salem is in prospect as a result of the visit of Albert S. Rand to Salem Tuesday. Mr. Rand is chief clerk in the railway mail service and came to Salem to confer with the postmaster here and with interested citizens to see how the department could take care of the city's needs.

The net gain from his visit and his conference with local people in the chamber of commerce rooms was his assurance that he would recommend additional mail service with west side points in the valley. Mail will go from Salem to Dallas and to points north from Derry in a pouch leaving here on the stage at 1:05 p. m. daily.

To get mail in this pouch patrons should deposit their letters in downtown boxes by noon or in the postoffice by 12:30 p. m. The stage reaches Dallas at 1:45 and mail will be distributed there immediately. At Derry connection will be made with northbound train No. 352 which carries mail to Amity and McMinville and Newberg, also makes connections to Willamina and Sheridan.

Return mail service from Dallas will be augmented by pouch delivery, leaving there at 2:10 and picking up mail from Monmouth and Independence. This will reach the Salem postoffice about 3 p. m. This new service will give Salem three mails daily to and from Dallas, morning, early afternoon and evening. Fairly good connections are made for points north and south from Derry also.

This will be a marked improvement over past service as hitherto there has been considerable complaint regarding service to and from points on the west side of the valley.

Previously pouch mail service to Portland had been started leaving here at 12:30 and making connections with east bound air mail. So the Portland dispatch is now regarded as well taken care of.

Silverton mail service meets with no complaint, there being three mails daily from Silverton and two to Silverton. Mill City gets two mails each day daily.

The conference with Mr. Rand Tuesday, which was held in the chamber of commerce rooms, was attended by Postmaster Farrar, Assistant Postmaster Hubbard, Secretary C. E. Wilson, and representatives of the Statesman and Capital Journal.

COLD AT MEDFORD MEDFORD, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The mercury dropped to 19 degrees above zero last night.

EX-CONVICT IS IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER BANDIT

Express Office Robbery and Murder Are Traced to George Miller

Man Arrested in Helena but Released; Pistol Purchase is Clue

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 12.—(AP)—H. H. Maxwell, chief special agent of the Railway Express agency, said tonight that he had "definitely" identified George Miller, a former convict, with the robber of the express office and murder of John M. Ivester, cashier here Oct. 30.

Maxwell said it had been established that Miller, whose whereabouts is unknown, purchased a .45 calibre automatic pistol, the type which fired the ball that killed Ivester, from a Spokane dealer shortly before the robbery. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Served Jail Term At Portland Miller, Maxwell asserted, served a year in the county jail at Portland, Ore., for robbery, and served also in the King county jail at Seattle.

A "wanted circular" prepared today stated that Miller, 35 years old, "probably will be engaged in liquor traffic." He was described as being five feet nine inches in height, weighing 175 pounds, medium build, light brown hair, blue eyes. He wears horn rimmed glasses and is near sighted.

The circular said he had a mole on the right cheek and a scar on the ball of the left index finger. Maxwell said Miller left Spokane on the night of the robbery and staying in an automobile stolen from Violet Toussaint, and was picked up in Helena, Mont., on suspicion of attempting to pass bad currency. When the money was found to be good, he was released and has not been seen since.

W. J. Johnson, clerk who was in the agency office during the holdup, Maxwell said, has identified Miller by photographs.

Had not Cuyler Van Patten, owner of the building where the restaurant was located, heard the workmen moving the kitchen ware tables, and fixtures from the place, it is doubted that O'Leary's sudden retreat would have been discovered until Tuesday. Van Patten attempted to dissuade O'Leary from his action but the restaurant man had paid his rent in advance and Van Patten's attempt was fruitless.

It is estimated that bills, including a chattel mortgage, to the extent of $3,500 were left in Salem by O'Leary. Accounts with several local caterers, among them being the Cherry City Baking company, the Capitol Dairies, and Fitts Market, are listed as O'Leary's liabilities. Unpaid rent on an apartment occupied by O'Leary in the Royal Court apartments may be a charge that will be brought against the man, when it was pointed out that an attempt to defraud an innkeeper might be claimed.

Just two years ago on Armistice day the restaurant had been opened by O'Leary.

While Salem police have not been authorized to take a hand in the matter of determining where O'Leary is now located, information has been received by the officers that the restaurant equipment and fixtures are being housed in a storage building, Vancouver, Wash. O'Leary, according to a report to police last night, is in Santa Ana, California. Whether either of these reports are authentic is not known, but the information is said to have come from reliable sources.

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Vandals invaded this campus last night and smeared yellow and green paint over the rear entrance of the new Memorial Union and Forestry buildings, leaving the words "To — with O. S. C." and the letters "U-O" plastered on the edifices.

War was reported to have been declared last week despite peace treaties between the University of Oregon and Oregon State college when part of the huge concrete "O" on Skinner's Butte, Eugene, was blasted away.

It was reported here tonight that armed guards might be put on the local campus for the remainder of the week.

KIDNAPED FURRIER FINALLY RELEASED

TIENSIN, China, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Wednesday—Aaron Brenner, New York furrier, who had been kidnaped and held for high ransom for nearly a week, was released this morning.

Brenner is a member of Brenner Brothers of New York, and has been in China several years. He was kidnaped Thursday afternoon by a band said by police to be Russian refugees from Harbin.

They communicated frequently by telephone with the authorities, demanding $250,000 (gold) for release of their captive.

Brenner was permitted to send letters to his brother, Joseph, who also is in Tiensin, and in these he said that his captors had threatened him with death if the ransom was not forthcoming or if information of his plight was given to police or newspapers.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The Knight rank in Knights of Pythias was conferred on Governor I. L. Patterson tonight by Ivanhoe Lodge No. 1, at the Pythian Temple here in behalf of Central Lodge No. 18, at Salem, of which Governor Patterson is a member. The session was attended by more than 300, including delegations from Salem, McMinville, Dallas, Grants Pass, St. Helens, Vernonia, Hillsboro and Vancouver, Wash.

Enoch Arden Wins And Loses; Search Kept Up 23 Years

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Refusing to believe that his wife, two little girls and his baby son from whom he was separated after the San Francisco earthquake were dead, a Vancouver, B. C. man has just ended his 23 year search here in victory and in despair.

The weird tale was unfolded here when the modern Enoch Arden found through the Seattle missing persons bureau that his wife had remarried after searching for him ten years and was living here with two of the children, both married.

The man believed his wife would be happier if he did not make himself known to her and the police are keeping his identity secret.

O'LEARY DEPARTS OWING MANY BILLS

No Formal Charges Filed Tuesday, But Creditors Expected to Meet

No formal charges have yet been filed against R. J. "Dick" O'Leary, proprietor of O'Leary's restaurant, who left the city about 1 a. m. Tuesday morning.

A meeting of O'Leary's creditors will probably be held today and it is expected that a charge of some kind will be brought against the man in order to bring about a settlement of his obligations here.

The unusual thing regarding the man's departure was the fact that he left the city with all of his restaurant equipment, cash receipts of three heavy days, all of his personal belongings, an unpaid payroll, and the departure was made in the stillness of night.

All was serene when three big trucks belonging to a Portland transfer company rolled out of Salem with O'Leary's equipment aboard.

Had not Cuyler Van Patten, owner of the building where the restaurant was located, heard the workmen moving the kitchen ware tables, and fixtures from the place, it is doubted that O'Leary's sudden retreat would have been discovered until Tuesday. Van Patten attempted to dissuade O'Leary from his action but the restaurant man had paid his rent in advance and Van Patten's attempt was fruitless.

It is estimated that bills, including a chattel mortgage, to the extent of $3,500 were left in Salem by O'Leary. Accounts with several local caterers, among them being the Cherry City Baking company, the Capitol Dairies, and Fitts Market, are listed as O'Leary's liabilities. Unpaid rent on an apartment occupied by O'Leary in the Royal Court apartments may be a charge that will be brought against the man, when it was pointed out that an attempt to defraud an innkeeper might be claimed.

Just two years ago on Armistice day the restaurant had been opened by O'Leary.

While Salem police have not been authorized to take a hand in the matter of determining where O'Leary is now located, information has been received by the officers that the restaurant equipment and fixtures are being housed in a storage building, Vancouver, Wash. O'Leary, according to a report to police last night, is in Santa Ana, California. Whether either of these reports are authentic is not known, but the information is said to have come from reliable sources.

POSSIBLE AIRPORT SITES INSPECTED

DALLAS, Nov. 12.—(Special)—A. H. Wait, airport specialist for the department of commerce, and a former member of the board of directors of the United States Army Air Corps, met with a local committee to assist in selecting a site for a possible landing fields.

Several possible sites were inspected by Mr. Wait, J. R. Allgood, L. S. Finseth, W. M. Dalton and Mrs. C. N. Blinn. A report will be received later from Mr. Wait on his findings.

Mr. Wait said he had inspected proposed sites for landing fields in 60 California cities, and has about six to visit in Oregon and a like number in Washington and Montana, mentioning this as an indication of the interest many communities are taking in the development of air transportation.

Governor Takes Pythian Degree

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The Knight rank in Knights of Pythias was conferred on Governor I. L. Patterson tonight by Ivanhoe Lodge No. 1, at the Pythian Temple here in behalf of Central Lodge No. 18, at Salem, of which Governor Patterson is a member. The session was attended by more than 300, including delegations from Salem, McMinville, Dallas, Grants Pass, St. Helens, Vernonia, Hillsboro and Vancouver, Wash.

SIX OFFICIALS ARE ARRESTED BY DRY FORCE

Gigantic Rum Conspiracy Claimed; 40 Secret Indictments Out

Coeur d'Alene District "Law Unto Self" Says District Attorney

MOSCOW, Ida., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Federal authorities in north Idaho today started smashing what they called "the greatest rum ring conspiracy in the northwest since the Olmstead cases."

United States District Attorney H. E. Rau said more than 40 secret indictments had been returned by the federal grand jury against public officials and prominent citizens in North Idaho. By nightfall eight had been arrested.

They included R. E. Weniger, Wallace, sheriff of Shoshone county; Charles Bloom, Mullan, deputy sheriff; Mayor Arthur J. Harwood of Mullan; Chief of Police Army Welch of Mullan; Henry and Charles Bistay, city councilmen of Mullan; and George Huston and Elmer Olson, former city councilmen of Mullan.

Bond set at $2000 In Each Case Their bond was set at $2000 apiece, on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, and all the accused were reported making arrangements to furnish it.

The grand jury was dismissed last night, after many witnesses had testified. Those arrested will be tried in federal court at Coeur d'Alene.

Federal officers declined to divulge the names of other men indicted, or to discuss the ramifications and methods of the alleged conspiracy. Most of those indicted are believed to be residents of Shoshone county, in the heart of the Coeur d'Alene mining district.

United States prohibition men have long investigated against the alleged "wetness" of the Coeur d'Alenes, where some of the richest silver-lead mines of the world are worked. The little cities affected are pocketed away in the mountains. Officers have said they "made a law unto themselves."

A federal drive against liquor in the Coeur d'Alenes started in August, when a series of raids were made in Wallace and Kellogg. Twenty-nine arrests were made and more than 600 gallons of liquor taken.

LOBBYIST BLAMED FOR QUEER SCHEME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Promotion of a plan to put negro candidates in the race for congress in the north as democrats in order to hold the line" the southern states which went for Herbert Hoover in the last election was attributed to J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff association, today by the senate lobby committee.

Examined for his seventh day by the committee, Arnold acknowledged correspondence and documents which disclosed the program for "blackening the democratic party." The correspondence said Arnold had taken the proposal up with Vice President Curtis, who it added referred the scheme to President Hoover.

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

As for the "blackening of the democratic party," Arnold ascribed the scheme to Van Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

Denies Kisses Cost $5,000

Mrs. Mildred Morris, denied she priced her kisses at $5,000 each as she left Supreme Court, New York, with her attorney. After a hearing on her counter suit for separation, her husband, Dr. Myron Morris, said that he became a kissless husband when he refused to pay $5,000.

Klamath Hotel Owner Is Slain

Shotgun Charge Fatal to Charles Darling; J. G. Wright, His Tenant, Arrested; Had Just Been Released on Charge of Threat

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Charles Darling, owner of the Anchor hotel here, was shot and killed tonight in the dining room of the hotel. Police arrested J. G. Wright, prominent plumber of this city, and charged him with murder. Officers said the fatal shot was fired from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Police said Wright, after being taken to jail, refused to discuss the shooting.

Wright rented the hotel from Darling several months ago.

Wright was released from jail here Tuesday under $200 bond pending a hearing on charges of assault while armed with a dangerous weapon, police records revealed. Officers said he threatened to "shoot" Darling.

Darling had signed the complaint which resulted in Wright's arrest.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

SCHOOL BUDGET ITEMS WILL BE PARED CLOSELY

Little Margin Seen Above Total of Necessary Costs In First Draft

Citizen Members on Committees Named; Meeting Set for November

The Salem school district isn't going to have any money to sling around this year. It was evident when the preliminary figures on the 1923-24 budget were discussed at the school board meeting last night. In fact, it'll be a game of paring and pruning. Superintendent George W. Hug, who leads this little duty, as good as told the board members before he set forth his first figures, all subject to refitting and closer adjustment.

Citizens' budget committee was named last night as follows: David Eyre, W. H. Dancy, William Gahlsdorf, C. G. Shipley and Frank Hines. William Evans and William McGilchrist, Jr., were named alternates. The committee will meet Tuesday, November 19, to pass upon the budget, preliminary to presentation to the taxpayers at the annual budget meeting, which will probably occur early in December.

Tax Levy to Be Kept Down, Interest Last year the district school tax was 13.4 mills, and Hug hopes to keep the figure pretty near that this year. To keep within the six per cent limitation the board must limit expenditures to $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent and maintenance of the health center here, is the sum asked by the demonstration in its budget.

Salaries of teachers in the public school will be $75 less this year than last, but both junior high and senior high instruction will cost a bit more, with the total for teachers' pay reaching $227,793.

General control will cost the district about $9,330; instruction supervision will be about $173,232. The first rough estimate shows expenses, exclusive of debt service, running around $320,000, with receipts at about $147,000.

Payment of principal and interest on bonds is expected to run between $34,000 and $38,486, depending upon whether the district votes to pay off this year the $24,640 remaining on the old bonds or only $10,000. Bond money with other expenditures will bring the budget to in the neighborhood of $418,750.

Health Allowances To Be Requested The first budget draft included $6,100 for school health service, which with $1,000 allowed for rent