to the officers training camp at the Presidio. He previously was on the Mexican border. While at the Presidio he became second lieutenant and was sent to Camp Lewis, where he had charge of coastwise routing of troop trains. At the conclusion of the war he became assistant to Attorney General Brown, and continued to serve in this capacity for three years, when he accepted the position of deputy United States attorney with headquarters in Portland.

In May, 1928, McGilchrist was appointed special assistant to the attorney general of the United States and was assigned to the work of enforcing the income tax law. He has tried and won a large number of important legal cases during the past few years. Mr. McGilchrist was married to Gertrude Buell of Eugene, who survives him. He also leaves his father, William McGilchrist, Sr., Salem, and the following brothers and sisters: William McGilchrist, Jr., James and Gordon McGilchrist, all of Salem; Mrs. W. P. Douglas, Berkeley, Calif.; Miss Ethel McGilchrist, Fresno, Calif.; Miss Jean McGilchrist, Portland; and Dr. N. M. McGilchrist, Spokane, Wash.

The death of Millar McGilchrist is the third to occur in the McGilchrist family in the last seven weeks. His mother died October 28 and his brother, George, on September 30. While attending Willamette university McGilchrist was employed part time in a local furrier store. He also taught some classes at the university.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW IS GORGEOUS SHOW

All forms of entertainment blended into one great revue, hardly does "The Hollywood Review" justice. It is packed full of twinkling toes, catchy melodies, glittering girls, gorgeous settings, sparkling dialogue, and clever comedy. A galaxy of famous stars give you their best, a medley of mirth and melody. It is vivid with life. There is something new in it for all. The orange blossom scene in technicolor with the Alberta Rasch ballet cannot be fully described. It must be seen to realize the magnitude and the beauty. "The Hollywood Review" will be at the Fox Elsinore today, Thursday and Friday beginning each day with a 2 o'clock matinee and running through every performance until 11 o'clock at night.

WESTMINSTER BODY TO MEET TONIGHT

The Salem Westminster foundation will hold a dinner at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Presbyterian church dining rooms, when work of the foundation will be told. C. P. Bishop will preside at the dinner. R. C. Davis, chairman of the local committee, is preparing the program, with Dr. Norman K. Tully, pastor, C. A. Kells and Mr. Bishop assisting. houses at Eugene and Corvallis will be given at the dinner. L. E. Carter, J. J. Ross and A. S. Pattullo, Portland members of the state campaign executive committee, have been invited as special guests for the occasion. The campus houses maintained by the foundation are established to give homelike, social and religious centers that can be of service to the 1400 young Presbyterians attending the state college and the University of Oregon. Many of the most prominent Presbyterians of the state of Oregon are actively working for the furtherance of the undertaking, according to the statement of Dr. Tully.

ESPEE SEEKING TO ABANDON ITS LINES

The Southern Pacific company has filed with the interstate commerce commission in Washington application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, authorizing the abandonment of parts of its West Side and Newberg branches in Washington, Yamhill and Multnomah counties. Parts of the West Side branch which it is sought to abandon include trackage extending from Fourth and Gilliam streets in Portland to near Bertha Station, 4.10 miles; from Fourth and Jefferson streets to Jefferson and Front streets in City of Portland, 4 miles; from East Junction to Third street in Forest Grove, 1.57 miles, and from East Junction to Range street in Hillsboro, 1.07 miles.

The part of the Newberg branch which would be abandoned under the application extends from East Junction to West Junction, at Newberg, a distance of 1.07 miles. Southern Pacific officials allege that the lines which are sought to be abandoned were operated at a loss. A copy of the application was received by the public service commission here.

one sent to him. He indicated he thought the matter had been disposed of satisfactorily. He expects to come to Washington soon. Denison's Address Found on Containers The prohibition agents' report said shipping tags on the bag and trunk were addressed to John Layne at Denison's office. When they first called at the office, they said Denison told them he did not have a key to the trunk, but when they called again, they said, he had decided the trunk was not his and gave his permission for them to force it open. It was found, they reported, to contain whiskey and gin.

John Layne, who is in the general counsel's office at the Internal Revenue bureau, said today he did not accompany Denison to Panama, had never been there and that he was not out of Washington during January. He was emphatic in declaring that he was not connected in any way with the case and that the indictment was the result of "mistaken identity."

HAL HOSS NAMED ON NATIONAL BODY

Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, has been appointed by R. P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, on the national committee on uniform traffic regulation. The committee will investigate and discuss experiences in uniform vehicle codes throughout the United States, with consideration of model municipal traffic ordinances and standardization of traffic signals, signs and markings. William E. Metzger, of Detroit, Mich., is chairman of the group. Meetings will be held soon so that reports may be drafted by next spring. Hoss, by virtue of being secretary of state, has supervision of traffic in Oregon.

CHINA GOVERNMENT PRAISED IN SPEECH

In spite of all its troubles from within and without, the new China promises to succeed because the Nationalist government is founded on right principles and because it recognizes the value of trained leadership, declared J. C. Oliver, Y. M. C. A. worker at Hangchow for the last 13 years, in an address at the Salem Kiwanis club luncheon Tuesday. It is significant, said Mr. Oliver, that in checking up on the government officials of China, an educator from the United States discovered more men with the Ph. D. degree among them, than in any other government excepting that of Poland. The spirit of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, idealized by his people, is a stronger influence now than was his personality while he was alive, the speaker declared. His gradual program looking toward democratic government is being carried out, the present stage, planned to continue until 1935, being one of "political tutelage." The Nationalist government has overcome three revolutions and appears to be winning against a fourth, said Mr. Oliver. Other evidence of progress are numerous, but the changes are creating difficult problems.

MADELENE GIESY COLLECTS POLICY

Madeline Giesy, employe of the state traffic department, and daughter of the late John Giesy, former mayor, found her accident policy received from The Statesman, worth while after an auto accident of last Sunday night in which she sustained a fractured wrist and bruises which will incapacitate her for work for some weeks. She was riding with her mother when their car was struck by a car driven by O. McLain of Gates, Ore. The collision occurred at the intersection of Center and Liberty streets. Miss Giesy makes her home with her mother, Mrs. John Giesy at 55 1/2 South 23rd street. Both recently renewed their North American accident policies through The Statesman.

Epworth Herald Editor Slated To Speak Here

Rev. W. E. J. Gratz, D. D., editor of the Epworth Herald, is a guest in Salem on Chicago. Rev. Gratz will address the Willamette university young folk at the fellowship hour at the First Methodist church tonight at 7 o'clock. He will speak at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium to the public and to members of the city Epworth leagues in particular. His visit here is sponsored by the university chapter of the First Methodist church Epworth league, of which Paul Geddes is president.

MAIL SERVICE NOT BEING USED MUCH

Postoffice patrons are not availing themselves to the extent expected of the additional mail service to Portland for connection with eastern air mail, according to report yesterday from the local postal officials. The added service was announced several weeks ago following arrangement with the Oregon Electric to carry a pouch of mail on the train which leaves at 11:30 o'clock for Portland and means a virtual gain of 24 hours in delivery of mail in New York, Washington, D. C., and far eastern points. Air mail and special delivery letters intended for this pouch should be in the postoffice before or at 11:30 o'clock for certain connection with the Portland plans, it is stated. Although a few are using the service, many other persons evidently believe they are doing so, as much air mail is dropped into the mail boxes just after the mail is made up, the officials say.

Labor May Be Added to Jail Sentences Here

"Ten days in jail with labor." Sentences like that haven't been the rule in Salem's police court, but they may be soon. Alderman S. E. Purvins has suggested that city prisoners might be put to work successfully at the incinerator, covering debris, digging trenches for burying the ashes, and cutting cordwood. Chief of Police Minto has informally given his approval, and it is now up to the police committee of the city council. Attempts at putting prisoners to work on the streets have proven impracticable in the past. "I'll bet the city hotel won't be so popular," Alderman Purvins declared Tuesday.

why smokers graduate to

CAMELS—

The phrase "I've Graduated to Camels" originated with a Camel smoker. It expresses the experience of millions who through Camels have learned to know real smoking pleasure.

As taste in smoking develops, it naturally leads toward better quality. New smokers may not be critical but when they once experience the true mildness and surpassing fragrance of the Camel blend, they realize that here is a real superiority. It is for smokers of such discernment that Camels are made . . . for them the choicest tobaccos are selected . . . and this quality is maintained for the millions who know genuine smoking pleasure.

when they learn the difference they flock to Camels
