Armistice Called in War on Tariff Schedule; More Battles Foreseen

New York Republicans Take Final Fling

In the 50 minute concluding session of the house, the senate tariff situation came up for discussion again. Representative Crowther, republican, New York, said the people would blame the democrats and "so called republicans" in the senate for not getting the tariff enacted during the special session. Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, replied with an attack upon the bill, insisting it could not help the farmers.

After several quorum calls were necessary in the senate to get the three members to work on the bill, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, remarked that "everybody seems to be loafing on the job." Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, packed up his tariff books and walked out. Thereupon the senate recessed until just before the adjournment hour.

Preparatory to the regular session program, the senate today adopted a resolution by Senator Sackett, republican, Kentucky, calling for a report on the radio situation from the radio commission. The question extending the life of the radio commission comes up next session.

HEARING TO BEGIN EARLY IN DECEMBER

protest that at the time the grievance committee of the Multnomah county bar association took testimony last month in Joseph's original disbarment proceeding against Mannix evidence was produced that "involved the misconduct of Thomas Mannix in connection with Thomas A. McBride, one of the justices of the supreme court."

During the hearing, Joseph alleged that Thompson notified John F. Reilly, chairman of the grievance committee, that he represented McBride in the hearing and requested permission to appear. Reilly answered, according to Joseph, that Thompson could make application to appear for McBride, but that under the rules governing the grievance committee, he doubted whether a third party would be entitled to be present either in person or by representation by an attorney. Joseph urged the supreme court to ask Reilly for a written statement relative to its conversation with Thompson.

Joseph made it plain in his petition that although Thompson had for 15 years his bitter political enemy, he has no objection to Thompson appearing as a prosecutor in the disbarment action of Mannix against Joseph, but that he does not deem it for the best interests of the state for Thompson to appear in Joseph's proceeding against Mannix.

Joseph set out in his petition that evidence would be produced to show misconduct on the part of Mannix and McBride, and that "inasmuch as Thompson represents McBride he could not fairly or impartially produce evidence against Mannix which would involve misconduct on the part of McBride."

Ray Henry, a pilot acquaintance said, "Dite" was changeable, likely to change his mind and "turn back in a storm."

HOOVER CITES DUTY IN CENSUS COUNT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—As the chief citizen of the nation, President Hoover reminded all other citizens and persons in a proclamation today of their duty to answer questions put by census enumerators beginning next April.

"No person can be harmed in any way by furnishing the information required," he said, emphasizing that the census had nothing to do with taxation, military or jury service, compulsory school attendance or similar matters. Any person refusing to answer is subject to penalty.

The president's proclamation called upon everybody in the United States to cooperate with the army of census workers who will be going from door to door next spring and after. He noted the law required the decennial count to determine representation of the states in the house.

RAIL EXECUTIVES HOLD CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The railway industry started today to fulfill the promise its leaders gave President Hoover three days ago—that everything possible would be done to keep the nation's business on a normal level.

One hundred ninety executives, representing most of the large railroads in the country, conferred for several hours, discussed the condition of the industry as a whole, compared budgets and drew up a lengthy report that was telegraphed to the president.

The rail heads declined to divulge the contents of their report to President Hoover, saying any such statement must come from the White House. They reiterated, however, their indorsement of the president's views.

Statements by individual executives indicated the industry would be able to carry out the billion dollar expansion program outlined to President Hoover.

INDEPENDENCE FOR INDIA IS TALKED

Few other peoples have accomplished it, but the people of India have strong hopes of achieving independence without bloodshed, declared Swami Dutta, native of that country and an Oxford graduate, who is one of many who have been sent out to study the industrial and scientific progress elsewhere in the world.

Swami Dutta said self government in India is necessary both for the welfare and contentment of its citizens and for the good of the British empire, whose interests would be best served by keeping the good will of this vast population, even though it threatens no insurrection.

There are two parties in India desiring independence; one favoring a dominion government similar to that of Canada, and the other seeking complete self government.

Federal Judge C. C. Cananah signed abatement orders for the establishments after agents testified that they had purchased liquor in each.

Announcement was made at the White house that the representatives of the electric light and power, street railway and gas associations of the country would meet at New York Tuesday to survey their industries and report to the president what expansions may be made.

Here will be no White House conferences tomorrow and the series will be concluded Monday with the visit here of the representatives of the farm organizations.

'ACCORDION' IDEA WILL START TODAY

The new Fanchon & Marco "Accordion" Idea arrives at the Fox Elsinore theatre, beginning today for three days.

It is in the form of a musical novelty, heavily augmented with a melody-girl background.

While half of the feminine cast prove themselves musical wizards on the accordion, the other half—the full Sunkist Beauty chorus—suddenly become huge living notes of melody on a gigantic musical staff filling the entire back stage.

The band works inside an enlarged "prop" accordion which runs from one side of the stage to the other—several of the girls wearing "accordions" bustles on their costumes—this gives some conception why this act has been titled the "Accordion" idea.

Burt and Lehman, Theodore and Katya, Mary Price and Arnold Hartman are featured in the long list of specialties enhancing this newest Fanchon & Marco presentation.

The "Viking" an all-technicolor photoplay with sound effects combines romance and adventure in the exploits of Leif Eriksson, Norse Viking and warrior, whose historical voyage to the land beyond the seas is one of the most thrilling and daring episodes in all history, will be on the screen at the Fox Elsinore Saturday and Sunday.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Chief of Police G. C. Pike of Springfield, was convicted of a charge of transporting liquor, by a jury in United States district court here late today, 24 hours after the body began its deliberations.

The jury could not agree on a second charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, standing 7 to 5 for conviction when dismissed.

While attorneys were arguing a motion for a new trial, Judge Reeves assessed a fine of $500 which United States Attorney Vandevanter declared was the maximum under the statute on which Pike was indicted.

Pike's conviction automatically suspends him from the police force.

TERRIFIC DAMAGE DONE BY BIG WAVE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Intimate stories of the havoc wrought by the tidal wave which swept the southeastern coast of the Burin peninsula after Monday's earthquake were told here tonight by arrivals from the scene of the disaster. Captain W. H. Hollett, of Burin said: "I had just finished my evening meal in company with the mate of the Daisy when the tidal wave hit Burin. My home is 40 feet above sea level and the water entered the first floor to a height of three feet. It receded within two minutes."

"I rushed out to see what was happening, when I saw the harbor filled with houses and wreckage. The whole thing came so suddenly that one hardly realized what happened. The store of the Honorable G. A. Bartlett, a member of the legislative council, which was 60 feet long by 40 feet, was lifted from its concrete foundation and carried inland for a distance of a quarter of a mile. The store was stocked with the winter's provisions and supplies, yet not a thing was damaged.

"My own store was destroyed and the stock scattered all over the harbor. Eight houses were lifted completely from their foundations and carried to sea with the speed of fast motor boats. They were very quickly lost to view."

MARCO GIRLS NOT INJURED IN WRECK

Members of the Fanchon and Marco "Accordion Idea" troupe found their ability as entertainers a distinct advantage while marooned near Vana, Cal., for six hours Friday morning, after the train bringing them from Sacramento to Salem was wrecked. No member of the troupe was injured, and it will appear at the Fox Elsinore theatre today on schedule.

Special dispatches from the theatrical folk report that the shaking up they received did not dull their appetites, and after counting noses to see that all were safe, Benny Burt, Julius Lehman and Nat Spector marched the company into the diner, which was still upright, and all partook of a hearty breakfast.

Two bonfires were built and the company whiled away the six hours before help arrived, by singing, dancing and telling funny stories to the train crew and other passengers, to say nothing of playing their accordions.

"The show must go on," states the telegram received by the Fox Elsinore management from Benny Burt.
