A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

1920 Ten years ago! Even then Chevrolet was popular. And many 1920 Chevrolets are still running. More would be if this new low-carbon Shell Motor Oil had been available then.

1925 A still better car—still more popular. Hundreds of thousands are giving good service after five years.

1930 More than a million and a half Chevrolets since they have been sold before January 1, 1930. And lubricated with an oil that forms no hard carbon you'll find nearly all of them "running strong" five and ten years from now.

No CHEVROLET OWNER

should overlook this fact:

Your car will run better, last longer with oil that forms no hard carbon

THEY'RE good cars—these Chevrolets that you and millions of other owners have chosen to buy. Give them a little reasonable care and they'll more than repay you in long-time service.

Keep them greased. Change oil regularly. And be sure that you understand this point about motor oil: All oils form some carbon when they burn. But there is one oil that forms only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as even the highest priced oils you can buy.

And strangely enough, these costly oils leave hard carbon. A kind that "cakes" like cement inside your motor. Shell Motor Oil forms only a little soft soot that blows away through the exhaust, harmlessly.

You can't expect your Chevrolet to go on lasting and running smoothly if the very oil you use to protect it is forming gritty coke-carbon. Such carbon chips off, holds valves open, causes knocking, grinds through bearings!

Avoid it. Insist that Shell Motor Oil be put in whenever you change oil or buy an extra quart. Give your Chevrolet a chance to do its best. Keep it free from hard carbon.

Three to five times as much carbon and the kind that causes trouble—hard, flinty carbon. Yet it comes from an expensive oil that is otherwise a good lubricant!

A little bit of soft, fluffy soot, formed by burned Shell Motor Oil. Not enough to hurt the highest compression engine—even if it didn't blow away.
