

JAPS CONCLUDE SESSIONS SOON

Oriental to Resume Jaunt To London for Peace Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Their visit to the United States climaxed by state dinner in their honor at the White House, members of the Japanese delegation to the London naval parley were prepared tonight to conclude their conversations with American officials and continued their trip to the British capital.

The second and final conference between the delegates and American officials will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the state department. Those participating will be former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief delegate, Admiral Takashi Takarabe, delegate, Hiroshi Saito, secretary of the delegation and interpreter of the conversation in Washington; Secretary Stimson, William R. Castle, Jr., ambassador to Japan, and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Senator David A. Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, American delegates to the London conference.

Japs Pleased With Results They State

Indications came today from the Japanese delegation that they were pleased with the progress made at the first conference with the same group of American officials at Secretary Stimson's home yesterday. On account of a severe cold, the secretary remained at his home today and no conference was held.

The entire day was devoted by the eastern visitors to resting, social and official calls and the honors customarily paid by such groups at the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon and the unknown soldier at Arlington national cemetery. The visits were made in a drizzling rain. Each of the Japanese entered the tomb at Mount Vernon, stood silently for a moment and bowed deeply.

Wreath Is Laid For Unknown Soldier

At Arlington, a wreath was laid upon the tomb of the unknown soldier and each member of the party paid tribute. Ambassador Debuchi of Japan later entertained at a luncheon for the delegates and Japanese journalists accompanying the party.

A tea given by Mrs. Stimson and a reception by Ambassador Debuchi at the Mayflower hotel, headquarters of the delegation, preceded the dinner at the executive mansion.

Aside from the formal call at the White House to pay their respects to the president upon their arrival Monday and the dinner tonight, the delegates did not see the president. The conversations with the delegates have been conducted by Secretary Stimson as head of the American delegation to the London conference.

EDGE NAMED AMBASSADOR

President of France Greets U. S. Representative Cordially

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Walter E. Edge, who succeeded the late Myron T. Herrick, at the American embassy in Paris, presented his credentials to President Doumergue in a simple but impressive ceremony today and became a full fledged ambassador. Mr. Edge dispensed with the French cavalry escort usually provided for such occasions and went to the Elysee palace in one of the president's automobiles. He was accompanied by M. De Fouquieres, master of ceremonies at the palace.

President Doumergue greeted him with more than ordinary cordiality and replied to his remarks with real enthusiasm. Cordial Feeling Toward U. S. Expressed "Common struggles for glory in the past and the love of liberty and justice have united us forever," he told Mr. Edge after assuring him that the French people were animated by the same cordial sympathy toward America as the ambassador had expressed for France.

"If France was able in other days to give precious aid to the United States, we take good care not to forget the efficacious and glorious part that American arms took in the victory that terminated our last war. Nor have we forgotten the multiple proofs of solidarity and generosity given on that occasion by the whole American people."

"In the course of your mission, which I hope will be long and fruitful, the collaboration between France and America for the realization of the ideal of peace common to both governments will continue to strengthen the pact of Paris. The path of Paris, moreover, traced the path for the development of policies that respond fully to the aspirations of the entire world."

"I am persuaded in advance that you will work to that end as a worthy emulor of the great ambassador whose place you occupy today."

President Doumergue concluded with a word of personal thanks to President Hoover for the good wishes brought for him by Ambassador Edge. He asked Mr. Edge to transmit to Mr. Hoover "the wishes I entertain for his personal happiness as well as that of the entire American people."

Today — "Eternal Love" with John Barrymore.

The Manhattan Players are sending "North of 53" at the Hollywood today, that stirring old epic of the north country which won Rex Beach no little of his favor. This offers possibilities for the Manhattan folk if they swing into the spirit of it as they did with "Aunt Judy" last week. The picture which accompanies it is "Companionate Marriage" and in itself offers much of genuine interest and entertainment.

Speaking of stock companies, don't forget that the Fraziers are to be at the Grand in "Stella, Be Careful." That is good advice to us all.

John Barrymore does a more powerful role than usual in "Eternal Love" which is at the Capitol beginning today. It will be an interesting picture to watch from several angles.

I want to say for the benefit of any of the doubtful—Rio Rita is one picture hailed as "the most advanced and spectacular piece of moving picture and sound work ever seen or heard" which is not all talk. It is the truth that the machines in the theatre and so advertised are not half what they claim—but Rio Rita is quite superior.

The sound effects show much advance; one scene shows a group of rangers riding into the barns — they are singing and their voices are in the distance but as the men approach their voices grow plainer in exact ratio of the approach. That is done with the talking of the picture and not with the machines in the theatre and it is remarkable. So are the last five or six reels of technical-color which concludes the picture. If you are not pleased with the show let's hear your criticism.

The whole story has the humor-ousness of any musical comedy and the fact that it is a "tale" makes it the more fun. The comedy is worth hearing.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE IS BUSY PLACE NOW

With practically only three mailing days left until Christmas, the local postoffice is a beehive of activity, and a steady line of patrons have been at the windows the last two days. The peak of the Christmas mail rush is expected Saturday, the last day on which letters and packages that are designed for any distance should be mailed.

An extra city delivery car was placed on the route yesterday, and two more will be added this morning in helping to dispose of the enormous Christmas mail as fast as possible. Another clerk was added yesterday and additional carriers are being added from time to time. Rains interfered to some extent with mailing yesterday, but the outgoing mail is still much heavier than the incoming.

There will be no delivery on Christmas day, the officials point out, so if packages are to be delivered before that day, they should be in the mail in plenty of time for distribution prior to next Wednesday.

Film Company Makes Extended Search for Sets

After a search which extended east from Hollywood to Salt Lake City, then north into Idaho and west through the LaGrande country into central Oregon, the Fox Film company has selected Benham Falls near Bend for the exterior sequences of a film now being produced at Hollywood.

The company will build its own set near the falls and the actors and sound film workers will stay in Bend during the time the picture is being made.

WHEAT PRICES DROP
CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Wheat prices underwent a late setback today, influenced by correct surmises that the government crop report showed almost 15,000,000 bushels more wheat was harvested this season than had previously been forecast from Washington.
