The Token o' Love

This is one of the famous "Rings of Romance" which have taken the fashionable world by storm. Advertised in the Saturday Evening Post—they, like Byron, "awoke to find themselves famous." What is of paramount importance, however, is the fact that this ring at a Hundred and Ten Dollars—is regarded by expert diamond appraisers as—

The standard of value in the United States

There are seven diamonds—six of which are used to pave the "steps" and the whole crowned by one gem of rare loveliness and intrinsic worth.

The Burnett Stores offer the "Token o' Love" at the nationally advertised cash price. There is no interest to pay and no extra of any sort. The readers of this newspaper may take one for a dollar bill and arrange to pay the balance after Christmas—Two dollars a week will be ample
