Rev. Wier Passes—Word has been received in Salem that the Reverend C. W. Wier of Duluth, Minnesota died suddenly yesterday. The Rev. Wier was a cousin of Mrs. H. S. Gille of Salem, and leaves many friends here. He was the pastor of the Presbyterian church in Tacoma, Washington for some years, and aided in building the large church there. Rev. Wier left Tacoma last September and went to Duluth, Minnesota, as pastor of the First Presbyterian church there. His work has been outstanding, and has brought him recognition in ministerial circles throughout the United States. He leaves a family of 11 children.

INDUSTRIAL MAGNATES MEET PRESIDENT

Nothing can stop the onward march of the United States. Business is good and bids fair to continue. This has been manifest by the magnates of the business world who called at the White House to confer with President Hoover and their fellow magnates to advance the nation's prosperity. Above is pictured a representative group of men, leaders in the business affairs of our country. (Left to right)—Will Hays, Czar of the American Picture Industry; Assistant Secretary of Commerce Robert F. Lamont; Julius H. Barnes, Chairman of the Board of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Louis F. Swift, President of Swift & Co.; President Herbert Hoover. (Below)—Charles J. Webb, of Philadelphia, representing large textile interests; W. W. Atterbury, railroad magnate, and W. A. Edgerton, of Wilson, N. C., representing the Portland Cement Company.

Many Lose Money Upon City Street

"Don't go out hunting for jobs; hunt for lost money." That is the advice Captain Earl M. Williams of the Salvation Army is thinking of handing out to persons visiting the Army headquarters, as a result of his experiences Thursday.

That morning a story appeared in The Statesman mentioning that a Salvation Army worker had found some money. Shortly after the newspaper appeared, calls began coming in to the Army headquarters from persons who had lost money in varying amounts and in various places.

"Was it checks or cash?" one inquirer wanted to know. "Which did you lose?" was the captain's response.

All sorts of amounts, ranging from less than a dollar to more than $200, were mentioned as having been lost, and Captain Williams thinks the streets must be paved with silver and greenbacks.

Finally the owner of the lost money was identified without any possibility of doubt. It was J. H. Thoma of Stayton. He described both the amount and the denominations, and on being informed that it was his money, announced that he would be in soon to get it.

BIG CROWD HEARS YULETIDE CONCERT

The Willamette university Christmas concert, given last night in the university chapel was favorably received by the large audience. The concert, sponsored by the Shakespeare club, was given by the university orchestra and the university glee clubs.

The concert was opened by selections from "Rosamunde" and "L'Arlésienne" played by the orchestra directed by professor William W. Graham. This was the first public appearance of the group and students and townspeople gave enthusiastic applause.

Following the orchestral prelude, the men's and women's glee clubs marched into the chapel singing "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" as a professional. The combined chorus presented three groups of carols, and the women's chorus gave one group. Vocal solos were sung by Josephine Albert and Helen Cochran. Iva Claire Love gave a violin solo which received enthusiastic applause.

Ralph Morrison and Wesley Roeder, players in the university band gave a trumpet duet arrangement of "Adeste Fideles." Following this number the choruses and audience joined singing "Silent Night."

Stubborn motors that say "No" when they're cold

.. start quickly, purr smoothly on "DRY" gas

SOME cold morning—when you are in a hurry—you'll discover what's the matter. "Grind, whine, growl," goes the laboring starter. "Gurgle, sigh, wheeze," goes the flooded carburetor.

Suddenly you'll realize that "wet" gasoline, full of heavy kerosene-like fractions, is causing your starting troubles. Not enough can vaporize to catch from the spark in a cold motor!

Some refiners add "wild" light fractions to make "winter gasoline." That doesn't correct the trouble. Your motor will sputter and miss for blocks after it starts. Such gasoline is still "wet."

Worst of all is the oil dilution which "wet" gasolines cause. The gasoline that can't burn pours down cylinder walls, washing away the oil film, ruining the crankcase oil.

Shell 400, the "dry" gas, has the heavy "wet" parts removed in refining. All of it can vaporize. Half choke is enough to make it start quickly on the coldest morning. It runs smoothly without any choke almost as soon as the motor starts. And because it burns cleanly, you avoid oil thinning.

Fill with Shell 400 the next time your tank is almost empty. Give this really quick starting "dry" gas a chance to cure your stubborn motor.

BLOW YOUR BREATH ON A COLD MIRROR

... that's what happens to "wet" gasoline in a cold motor—it condenses in droplets on the cylinder walls. "Dry" gas, on the other hand, stays vaporized better and therefore burns more cleanly
