Concluding A Busy Season

It is logical to assume that a busy season of selling would reveal many odds and ends of fine merchandise. We have spent most of the past two days rearranging our stocks, selecting odds, hurts and broken sizes. It is our custom to place these on sale just prior to our annual inventory. This year we'll clear these at ridiculously low prices... almost a give-away. If you need the merchandise... If you have a knack for saving... then come early this morning.
