IRRIGATION SECTION TO BE REORGANIZED

Reorganization of the Grants Pass irrigation district was a step nearer last night, when a telegram was received by Rhea Luper, state engineer, that the settlers on the project had decided by a vote of 446 to 2, to accept the refunding bond issue which is a part of the reorganization program.

Luper said the bond holders' committee had entered into an agreement with the minority bond holders, which should prevent any further opposition to the reorganization plan. Reorganization of the district already has been approved by the state reclamation commission. Luper said he was not ready to divulge the details of the reorganization program.

The state engineer left last night for Prineville where, on Thursday, he will present to the board of directors of the Ochoco irrigation district an offer of the bondholders committee in connection with the plan to reorganize the project. Luper said he would not make the offer public until it is presented to the directors of the district.

W. U. SPEAKERS PLANNING TRIP

Convention at Tucson, Arizona to be Attended By Locals

An extensive barnstorming tour through Southern California, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming, and Nevada, is being arranged for the Willamette university debate and oratorical teams by Professor H. E. Rahe, debating coach, and Ray Lafke, forensic manager.

Debate will be a sideline for the team which will leave March 19 as delegates to the Pacific Coast Forensic league meeting to be held in Tucson, Arizona. Two members of the public speaking squad and Professor Rahe will make the trip. They will debate University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Occidental college, and probably Pomona in Los Angeles on their trip south. From there they will go to Tuscon to attend the meeting of the Forensic league. At the meeting one of the local delegates will enter an oratorical contest, while the other will enter one for extemporaneous speakers.

The team will take a northern trip home, coming through Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming, and probably Nevada. At Laramie, Wyoming, the team is slated for a match with the University of Wyoming; and at Ogden, Utah, a tentative debate has been arranged with Weber college. A tentative match is also listed with the University of Utah, at Salt Lake City.

The group expects to return to Salem about April 5.

The student body, as well as several interested townspeople, will finance the trip.

Liquor Roundup To Continue in Idaho Is Belief

Kellog and Wallace, Idaho, are as wide open as was Mullan a fortnight ago, said George W. Reynolds, accountant, former Salem business man now with the auditing division of the General Motor scompany. Reynolds is home from a trip through eastern Washington and western Idaho.

"In some of the hotels I noticed statements to patrons that it was not safe to frequent the streets after dark," said Reynolds. "Wide open bars are frequent." Reynolds said it was the general opinion in Idaho that federal enforcement officers would go into other towns now that the Mullan clean-up had been accomplished.

CONTINUATION SCHOOL FUND

Enrollment Now at 34 Mark In Part Time Classes At High School

Enrollment in the part time continuation chool, which is conducted in the basement of the senior high school building, under direction of Miss Lilah Holloway, now stands at 34 pupils, 16 boys and 18 girls.

This school, now three years old, has been meeting the educational need of the young employed boy and girl in the city and has a three-fold aim: to continue the education of young folk who have withdrawn temporarily or permanently from full time school; to provide the community a contact with the juvenile worker, to help the boy or girl secure employment, keep proper relationship with his employer and adjust himself at school, at work and at home; third, to give vocational training and guidance.

The school has three distinct divisions, the placement, coordination and the classroom itself. At the present time Miss Holloway finds it hard to secure employment for her students, but has been splendidly assisted in this detail by the service clubs of the city.

Two classes organized early this year and which have added much to the interest in the part time school are typing and auto mechanics courses, the former under Miss Elizabeth Hogg of the regular high school staff and the latter under Tom Wolgamott, head of the mechanics shop. Other courses offered are business English, business arithmetic, spelling, penmanship, vocational civics, and to some of the more advanced students, shorthand.

Jim Linn and His Wife on Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. James M. "Jim" Smith left this weekend for San Francisco and Los Angeles. From these sourthern cities they will go to Kansas City to visit Mr. Smith's brother, Giles.

After a visit in Kansas, the Smiths will go to Chicago and then east, viewing different businesses and making calls on friends. They expect to return to Salem within little more than a month after which Mr. Smith will choose some line of business to enter here. Recently with "Bill" Watkins, he sold his service station business on North Liberty street to the Firestone interests.

LARGE STAGE BUILT FOR STUDENTS' USE

A large stage for practice use, as well as for practical use, has been built in the public speaking room in Waller hall during the Christmas holidays, by students under the direction of Professor Herbert E. Rahe. The local chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national forensic society, was instrumental in the construction of the platform.

The public speaking room will be used for occasions when small audiences are expected. One-act plays, debates, and other speaking contests will be held from the platform instead of from the chapel pulpit, as has formerly been the practice. The chapel will only be used for formal debates.

There is seating space for about 100 people in the new "little theatre," it is estimated.

17 TAXPAYERS VOTE ROAD MAINTENANCE

By a unanimous vote, 17 taxpayers of the Detroit road district favored last week the acceptance of the proposal of the forest service asking that the Breitenbush road be turned over to the county to be maintained as a county road. The meeting of the taxpayers of the district was called following the proposal made by the government forest service that if $3,000 be put by the county and $1,000 by F. J. Buckman, owner of the Breitenbush springs, that the government would give $2000 and $450 maintenance money.

It is now held likely that the county court will favor the proposition although the court will ask the Breitenbush Hot Springs company to contribute annually for maintenance costs. Costs of graveling and yearly maintenance are to be paid for with money from county funds.

The Breitenbush road cost $50,000 for its construction, $40,000 of this being federal money while the remainder, $10,000, was raised by the Breitenbush Hot Springs company. Several thousand travellers passed through Detroit to visit the springs last year and it is admitted that the construction of the road has helped business there greatly.

EXTRADITION FROM ROSEBURG ORDERED

Governor Norblad Monday authorized the extradition of George Pankey, 20, who is under arrest at Roseburg, charged with the murder of Billie Dean, negro, near Corcoran, California, on November 21, 1929.

Pankey demanded an extradition hearing which was held in the executive department.

Governor Norblad also authorized the extradition of R. A. Wilson, who is being held at Medford charged with grand theft and stealing his own daughter in Los Angeles. It was alleged that Wilson stole the child from its mother in California, and brought her into Oregon. Theft of an automobile also was charged against Wilson.

"Contract awarded to the lowest bidder--"

When a corporation wishes to build a factory . . . when a city constructs a new subway . . . whenever a large undertaking of that nature is planned, the first step is almost invariably a request for bids on the work. This practice of competitive bidding has saved millions of dollars. It assures the city or corporation of getting the best value for every dollar spent.

The same system can be applied to your own buying. And you can save a proportionate amount of money. How? Simply by consulting the advertising pages of this paper!

When you find yourself in need of a vacuum cleaner, a refrigerator, a pair of shoes, a new suit—anything—don't rush out and buy the first one offered you. Exercise the power of selection that the advertisements give you. Read about each one—what it will do, who makes it, what it costs. Then, when you find the one that best suits your needs and pocketbook, buy it! In this way you'll be spending your money wisely. You'll know what you're getting and how much it costs—before you buy it.

Every advertisement is the bid of some merchant for your trade; consider them carefully before buying
